

Wheeling Twp. faces separation from Crane's district

by LYNN ASINOFF
U.S. Rep. Phillip M. Crane, R-12th, will no longer represent Wheeling Township in Washington, D.C. It plans for redistricting the sprawling 10th and 12th Illinois Congressional districts go forward. If the Illinois General Assembly passes a plan submitted Saturday, Crane's district will move east into Des Plaines and Wheeling Township will be in U.S. Rep. Robert McClory's district.

The reapportionment plan would create a new district composed of Wheeling, Northfield and New Trier townships, Morton Grove, Niles and sections of Lake County. This would put McClory, R-13th, in a district composed of parts of the 10th, 12th and 13th districts.

A spokesman for Crane Sunday said the Congressman had not had a chance to study the proposed redistricting map, but would be particularly upset with the loss of Wheeling Township, which he called "the heart" of the 12th District.

"I think any change in the district line is something that he would be very disappointed with, particularly Wheeling Township," the spokesman said, noting that Crane has represented Wheeling Township since first elected.

U.S. REP. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, Sunday charged the redistricting plan was a scheme by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to exert more control over the suburban Democratic Party.

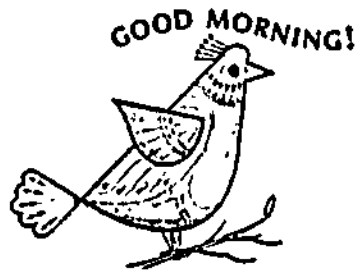

Mikva, who would be mapped into a district now represented by U.S. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-9th, charged that the independent areas were being linked to Chicago-dominated districts. He said marginal areas of the 10th District where Democrats could have been cultivated were being thrown back to the Republican strongholds.

Smiley, Helvie, Somogyi win in Dist. 59

ELK GROVE TOWNSHIP DIST 59

Palatine Junior High	29	12	17	17
Templeton Jr. High	70	51	30	34
Friendship Jr. High	12	35	21	22
Grove Junior High	122	59	74	51
Total	327	202	277	255

Lynne Helvie and Barbara Somogyi won three-year terms on the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education Saturday, unseating an incumbent, in extremely light voter turnout.

Only 752 persons voted in the election, which also saw incumbent Board Pres. Gerald Smiley win reelection to a one-year term. Smiley was unopposed.

In the race for the three-year term, Mrs. Helvie, 1150 Leicester Rd., Elk Grove Village, was the top vote getter with an unofficial total of 477. Mrs. Somogyi, 310 Dorchester Ln., Elk Grove Village, received 392 votes.

Failing to retain her seat was Jean Cashman, who received 277 votes. Mrs. Cashman, 956 Brantwood, Elk Grove Village, was named to the board in January to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Charles Knaup.

Also defeated was Curtis McKim, 159 W. Brantwood, who received 255 votes.

Mrs. Helvie, director of the Elk Grove Village Youth Employment Service, said she had no specific plans for her role as a board member. "I think things are pretty well planned out what we have to do," she said referring to the selection of a new superintendent and further investigation of a fall tax referendum.

"I'm ready to start learning," said Mrs. Somogyi, president of the Byrd School PTO. "There's a job to be done. I'm sure I'll have lots of homework to do to be a capable, active and helpful board member."

YOU COULDN'T tell by the expression on her face, but Lynne Helvie won a three-year term on the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education in Saturday's election. Mrs. Helvie led votegotters with 477 in a light turnout. Also elected were Barbara Somogyi and Gerald Smiley.

Officials undecided on arena

Elk Grove Village officials have not decided whether to drop plans for construction of a major multi-purpose arena or seek further studies in light of a preliminary report indicating the arena would not be a big money-maker.

Officials are expected to take action after reviewing a report expected in three weeks.

Village Mgr. Charles Willis said a preliminary report from Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., analyzing the marketing and economic potential of the 36-acre site at the northeast corner of Busse and Landmeier roads, "was not as positive as we expected."

The $51,400 study is expected to be in officials' hands in three weeks. "The village has not taken a formal position based on the preliminary report and will, when it is received, review the report in detail," Willis said.

WILLIS DID NOT discount the possibility that additional professional work might be approved by the village.

"After the review we will put the arena plans on the shelf or authorize additional professional work," he said.

Trustees Nanci Vanderweel and Ronald Chernick said they are reserving any

BY THE LIGHT of a kerosene lamp many things become clear, including the words of the Bible, the enduring strengths of Latin as a modern language and the 20th-Century art of power mechanics.

1984? No, 1874

Tom Heckenbach doesn't worry about 'Future Shock' — as long as he can live comfortably 'in the past'

by BOB GALLAS

The ring of the alarm goes unheard. Tom Heckenbach is long out of bed, roused at first light by his rooster crowing in back of his home in Palatine Township.

By the dim, dawn light, Heckenbach's thin, bespectacled figure looks older than his 31 years as he moves about checking a yard full of animals, setting a scene reminiscent of 100 years ago.

Clad in overalls, corn-cob pipe jutting from his fiery red beard, he is alone in a world tailor-made to suit himself.

Some call his lifestyle eccentric, but he calls it "comfortable."

AND TOM HECKENBACH is very comfortable — in his job as Elk Grove High School Latin teacher mornings, power mechanics instructor afternoons; in his car, a '53 Ford station wagon which runs on a mixture of gasoline and kerosene; on his tractor which saw its best year in 1943; or in hunting with his Civil War muzzle-loading rifle.

And he's comfortable in his home, which would set just about any antique dealer drooling.

"Some people jog in the morning. I chop wood," said Heckenbach, tuning in a pop radio station on his 1927 console radio set. Wood is needed to stoke the pot-bellied stove in the living room, which provides heat for the house.

HECKENBACH IS A SAVER and recycler, fixing up old things to use again, like the wood burning stove he cooked on. He recently replaced the relic with a newer model — a 1920 gas-burning stove.

"I guess it's just my sense of continuity," said Heckenbach. "I'm really proud of the fact that my family has lived around here for 200 years. I've inherited most of this stuff."

"This stuff" includes an 1860s Bible which he reads nightly, his turn-of-the-century bed in which he's slept since childhood, his antique coffee grinder which provides fresh coffee daily, the chest he bought at a garage sale and later learned dated back to the 1600s, the half dozen kerosene lamps which he uses for light. He has electricity — "for the sump pump."

BUT IT'S NOT WHAT is in his home or around it that sets Tom Heckenbach off from the rest of the parade. It's Tom Heckenbach, the man.

He stands at the front of his Latin classes in boots, beard and jeans. It makes students feel comfortable. And so does his method of teaching.

"I guess I do teach Latin a little differently," said Heckenbach. "I teach it like a modern language."

"The kids write Latin essays on their camping or skiing

Pesty brush fires
sure sign of spring

Brush fire! Although the ground is wet, brush fires in the forest preserves still occasionally erupt. This one happened Saturday on County Forest Preserve property west of Barrington Road and North of Ill Rte 58. Members of the Hoffman Estates Fire Dept. responded to the alarm and moved through the brush to stamp out the moving blaze.

Hoffman fireman quits post

A Hoffman Estates fireman resigned his job Saturday after 3 1/2 hours of hearings into charges that he neglected his duty in failing to give directions to a fire truck driver responding to an alarm. Fireman James Clark testified in response that he did give the truck's driver, Fireman Earl Hanson, proper directions and it was Hanson's incompetence which caused the truck to be late at the scene of the fire. Village officials contend a wrong turn taken by the truck added six minutes to its arrival at the fire. Charges against Clark were dropped by the department when he resigned.

Crane in new district?

If a preliminary redistricting plan goes through the Illinois General Assembly, U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, will lose "the heart of his district" and no longer represent Wheeling Township in Congress. The plan would move Crane's district into Des Plaines and Park Ridge and move Wheeling Township and its communities of Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights into the district of U.S. Rep. Robert McClory, R-13th. A spokesman for Crane said Sunday that the Congressman would be disturbed by the redistricting if it occurs.

...and maybe Mikva, too?

Reaction from U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, was more intense. Calling the move to reappoint his district a scheme by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to exert more control over the Democratic Party in the suburbs, Mikva predicted the Illinois General Assembly will throw the new plan out. Mikva's present district from Evanston to Des Plaines would, in effect, be dismembered and the new map would throw him into a fight with U.S. Rep. Sidney Yates, D-9th, for a seat in Congress.

Municipal elections Tuesday

Campaigning wound up during the weekend for municipal elections Tuesday in nine Northwest suburbs. Village presidents will be elected in Buffalo Grove and Schaumburg, and a mayor in Rolling Meadows. In addition, aldermen will be selected in Des Plaines and Rolling Meadows, and village board members will be picked in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates, Schaumburg, Palatine and Mount Prospect.

Offer immunization shots in Streamwood

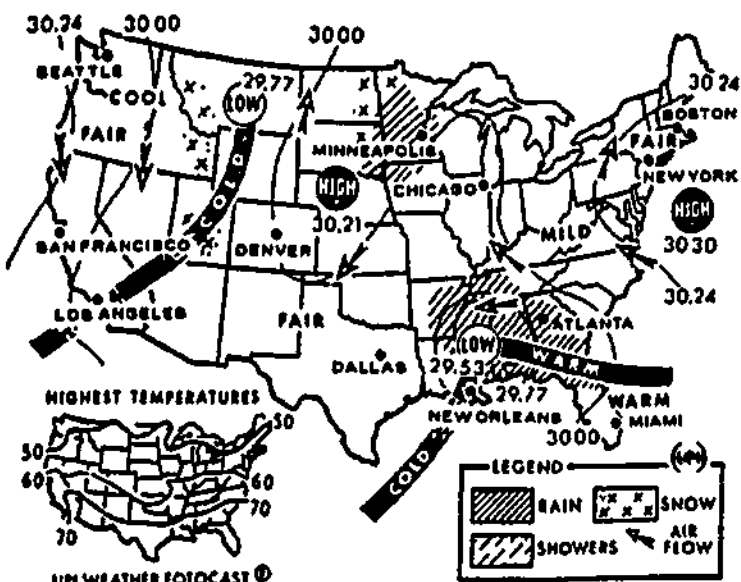

School children can get free immunization shots beginning April 23 at the County Dept. of Public Health's clinic in Streamwood.

The clinic, in the Streamwood Community Center, 777 Bartlett Rd., will be open every fourth Friday of the month through October from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Shots will be given for measles, rubella, polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

To get shots, a child must have no allergies and parents must bring a record of any other immunization shots the child already has had.

Anti-noise panel to ask takeoffs
'curfew' at O'Hare

by STEVE BROWN

A national organization that opposes aircraft noise pollution will ask a federal judge this week to order a night curfew at O'Hare Airport to ban all departing flights after 11 p.m.

The National Organization to Inure a Sound-controlled Environment (NOISE) will ask U.S. District Court Judge Abraham L. Marovitz to issue the order.

The move is part of the group's effort to intervene in lawsuit filed by Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott against the Federal Aviation Administration and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

SCOTT'S SUIT seeks to have the FAA and CAB set down strict restrictions on aircraft in an effort to reduce noise around airports.

Des Plaines Ald. Alan Abrams, 8th, said the motion will be filed Wednesday. Besides NOISE, Park Ridge and Des Plaines plan to intervene in the suit.

Abrams, a national director of NOISE, noted the request for the night curfew on aircraft operations is similar to one in effect at Washington, D.C., National Airport.

He noted that the ban would be asked only for departing flights.

"These are the operations which tend to cause most of the noise and tend to disturb most people," he said. The NOISE request asked that take-offs be barred from 11 p.m. until 7 a.m. Monday through Friday and 11 p.m. until 8 a.m. on weekends.

SCOTT FILED his suit in August. The federal agencies have moved that the case be dismissed. Marovitz is expected to rule on that motion Wednesday. He also will at that time decide if Des Plaines, Park Ridge and NOISE can join Scott's side in the court fight.

Abrams said he believes strongly that NOISE should be allowed to join the suit. "The court's decision will have far-reaching effect on airport operations across the country and since NOISE is a national organization, we should have a role here," he added.

SCOTT'S SUIT contends that the FAA and CAB failed to comply with the regulations of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

He said the agencies have failed to conduct noise impact studies. Scott also contends the government has failed to utilize existing technology to develop noise abatement standards for aircraft operations.

The FAA and CAB have denied Scott's charges. Spokesmen for the agencies which control regulations for all commercial aircraft operations have stated that the government has done everything possible to reduce noise from landing and departing aircraft.

Medak, Levin
in Oakton race

Incumbent Vivian Medak and newcomer Howard Levin ran away from a nine-member field Saturday in winning two three-year terms on the Oakton Community College Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Medak, Lincolnwood, who has served on the board since 1973, was high vote getter with 3,259 votes. Levin, Niles, finished second with 2,855.

The votes that made the difference for Mrs. Medak and Levin came from Niles Township, where voter turnout was much higher than in Maine Township.

Third-highest vote getter was Fred Swinnerton, who was running a combined campaign with Mrs. Medak. He received 1,719 votes. Other candidates' unofficial totals were Alvin Marks, 1,211; John Prochaska, 1,204; David Lasko, 1,170; Patton Feichter, 968; Celeste Smith, 860; and Leo Prince, 758.

DONALD RUMSFELD

Rumsfeld: Ford, Congress tension is 'normal'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld said Sunday there is "normal tension" between President Ford and Congress, but he sees no great confrontation in the offing.

Rumsfeld, who has served in Congress and both the Nixon and Ford White Houses, predicted that despite the built-in constitutional rivalry and current partisan differences between the President and Congress, "you will find this same Congress eventually moving toward solutions proposed by the President."

"What you are seeing are the normal manifestations, the normal tension that exists," Rumsfeld said in an interview (Washington Window — UPI Audio). He added that there is a "natural desire of the people to read about conflict and drama" and "a natural tendency" of the media to report it.

Conflict "is more newsworthy, so it should be reported," Rumsfeld said, "but it is a fact of the matter that there are a great many areas of agreement. I don't see any great confrontation between the President and the Congress and there certainly is not anything approximating 'war.'"

As for possible conflict within the Ford administration, Rumsfeld emphatically denied that the President was "pulling away" from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

"That's nonsense," Rumsfeld said. "The President is very comfortable with his relationship with the Secretary of State. There is a great deal of mutual respect. They work closely every day and the President is thoroughly satisfied with the Secretary of State's performance and his capability."

Rumsfeld, who has the title "Assistant to the President," but performs most of the same functions as H. R. Haldeman did in the Nixon White House, pictured Ford as a man "who takes suggestions very well."

Asked how Ford and his staff are trying to guard against isolating themselves from dissenting opinion, Rumsfeld said "We've taken a number of steps, but that really isn't the critical element."

"The critical element is that a man (Ford) after 20 years in Congress is used to working with people, used to listening to differing views, used to looking at more than one dimensional ideas on a piece of paper but also in a three dimensional sense with people actually confronting. And he's comfortable with it. He doesn't run from it."

Comparing Ford now to the man he knew as a colleague in the House, Rumsfeld said "He's very much himself. He has not taken on any particular traits of any note... I think he's moved into the office of the Presidency with amazing ease."

Xuan Loc surrounded, but South Viet troops in control

Xuan Loc, South Vietnam (UPI)—Government forces Sunday claimed control of this destroyed province capital. But it is clear the five-day battle for Xuan Loc, which some strategists see as the decisive one of the 30-year Indochina war, is not finished.

Xuan Loc, 38 miles northeast of Saigon, is surrounded by Communist troops with artillery and rockets. They probed the government defenses with tanks Sunday.

Shellfire still pounded the center of town, where virtually all buildings had been leveled and fires still raged. The stench of rotting corpses mixed with the acrid odor of gunsmoke.

The only way to get in or out now is by helicopter, a 13-minute flight from Bien Hoa, the huge U.S.-built airbase 14 miles from the nation's capital.

A victory here, according to the strategists, could give the North Vietnamese and their Viet Cong allies a straight shot at the vital base and Saigon itself.

While Saigon waited and hoped for more military aid from the United States, meanwhile, an ammunition dump filled with new American-supplied arms to re-equip a South Vietnamese division exploded Sunday near Saigon. Military sources said careless troops cooking a meal nearby may have been responsible.

Other field reporters said the South Vietnamese Sunday moved at least 100 tanks into an area 27 miles northeast of Saigon, or 11 miles west of Xuan Loc. Government planes flew heavy air strikes in the region despite thick groundfire from the Communists.

In Cambodia, Communist-led Khmer Rouge rebels battled their way to within sight of downtown Phnom Penh Sunday — Cambodia's New Year's Eve — 24 hours after the United States abandoned its five-year effort to stop the insurgents.

A new "supreme committee" under Gen. Sak Suthsakhan took over the running of the country and the war. But the rebels again drove back government defenders and, in the wake of Saturday's whirlwind evacuation of most remaining Americans, the fall of Phnom Penh appeared imminent.

In Washington, Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said President Ford would not need congressional permission to use a small number of troops in South Vietnam to evacuate nearly 6,000 American citizens. But Javits, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee and author of the so-called War Powers Act, said a congressional resolution would be required before troops could evacuate an estimated 200,000 South Vietnamese the administration fears would be punished by the Viet Cong for cooperating with the United States.

SOUTH VIETNAMESE government soldiers stand atop heavy fighting in the past week. Meanwhile, heavy Communist-made T54 tank that was destroyed during fighting continued in the area around Xuan Loc.

Claim some Viet orphans are children of officials

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Some of the Vietnamese "orphans" airlifted to the United States actually are sons and daughters of political and military officials, a U.S. adoption agency official said Sunday.

How they got aboard U.S. transports flying orphans from war-torn Vietnam was not clear, but bribes may have been involved, Maria Eitz, an official of Friends for All Children which has sponsored most of the orphan flights, said.

More than 800 children have been brought from Saigon to the temporary center at the Presidio of San Francisco Army base as war orphans adopted by U.S. families.

Mrs. Eitz said she had seen several children whose identification papers indicated they had parents and relatives in Vietnam. She said their families may have paid bribes to get them aboard.

"There may have been cases where a Vietnamese official said if you take these four children, then you can take these 60 orphans," she said, orphans "may have been replaced on the planes by children from families that had money."

It was not known how many non-orphans were placed aboard the refugee flights, she said.

Jane Barion, a spokeswoman for the American Friends Services Committee who opposes the orphans flights, said she talked to the three children of a South Vietnamese colonel who flew here with their young cousin.

"There are unquestionably children in the airlift who are true orphans," she said. "But I talked to a number of children who said they are not orphans."

Mrs. Tran Tuong Nhu of the International Children's Fund in Berkeley which also has attacked the flights, said: "We picked 10 children at random at the Presidio on Wednesday. Not one of them said they were orphans."

Palestinians fight Lebanese group

BEIRUT (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas and armed members of the right-wing Phalangist Party fought each other Sunday in the bloodiest clash in two years involving Palestinians in Lebanon.

The Palestine Liberation Organization said 26 Palestinians were killed and 19 wounded when two of its vehicles were attacked by the Phalangists in the Beirut suburb of Ein Rummaneh.

A Phalangist spokesman said the Palestinians opened fire first, killing three civilians, including one Phalangist Party member, and wounding several others.

A PLO spokesman called the clash a "premeditated conspiracy aimed at making Palestinians and Lebanese fight each other to advance the interests of the Zionist enemy" — Israel.

Lebanese security forces took to the streets in armed patrols and the PLO called an alert in Palestinian refugee camps.

The Phalangist party, which has a militia force of several thousand, is strongly opposed to the Palestinian guerrilla presence in Lebanon.

Its leader, Pierre Gemayel, a Phalangist member of parliament, has complained against "trespasses" committed by the guerrillas, and called for revision of the 1969 Cairo accord that regulates relations between the Beirut government and the Palestinians.

Witnesses said Sunday's incident occurred while Phalangist youths were diverting traffic away from a church where Gemayel was attending services.

Elsewhere in the Middle East meanwhile, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said he was prepared to consider any "useful" proposals for a second stage disengagement with Israel in a renewed initiative by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

But he said he would do so only on condition there will be no bargaining of the kind that kept Kissinger shuttling between Egypt and Israel for 15 days last month and ended in a deadlock.

Sadat was asked by Yugoslav newsmen visiting Cairo what his position would be if Kissinger made another Middle East shuttle in quest of agreement on another Israeli troop withdrawal in Sinai.

"Our basic position is resumption of the Geneva conference," Sadat said.

Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon said earlier the United States has been pressuring Israel to make concessions in order to reach an interim peace agreement with Egypt but that there was no "crisis" in U.S.-Israeli relations.

"I think there is some misunderstanding between us and the United States," he told newsmen at the airport before leaving for Britain, the United States and a meeting with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

There were unconfirmed reports he may also meet with Soviet ambassador, to Washington, Anatoly Dobrynin.

ABA opposing the nomination of Meskill

• For the first time in a decade, the American Bar Association is opposing a judicial nomination sent to the Senate floor by the Judiciary Committee. The ABA target is former Connecticut Gov. Thomas J. Meskill — nominated for the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals as one of Richard M. Nixon's last acts as President. The ABA is calling his action "extraordinary" but necessary because Meskill is "manifestly unqualified" to serve in the $42,000-a-year lifetime post. The Senate may take up the nomination this week.

• Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, praising Chiang Kai-shek as "an old friend and a great leader," Sunday took off from New York for Nationalist Chinese leader's funeral in Taiwan. Rockefeller told newsmen his trip to Taiwan, "represents the deep sympathy and concern of President Ford and the American people in the passing of one of the great wartime leaders of World War II."

• Jerry Dean Michael, a man police claim bliked hundreds of Dallas investors while posing as a woman automotive entrepreneur, admits to being transsexual but insists his super-economy car would "have made me the next Henry Ford." Michael, authorities said posed as a president of a company that claimed to have developed a "wonder car" that gets 70 miles to the gallon and sold hundreds of cars and car dealerships to investors who believed him.

• President Ford attended church services Sunday and heard a brief, special prayer for all of the victims of war in Southeast Asia. The President then took the afternoon off for a round of golf in suburban Maryland. The President is looking ahead to a busy week, including a series of public appearances.

• The world's first man to live with two hearts has died — four months and nine days after heart transplant pioneer Prof. Christian Barnard put a second organ into his chest cavity, radio South Africa said Sunday. No reason was given for the death of Ivan Taylor.

Rebellious troops overthrow Chad president

Rebellious troops and police Sunday overthrew and killed President Francois Ngarba Tombalbaye of the north African republic of Chad. French radio reports said. The reports, quoting Radio Chad, said Tombalbaye, 56, was mortally wounded in a dawn machine gun and cannon attack on his official residence. He died later in the day. The reports said several other persons also were killed or wounded in the coup.

The new rulers, not immediately identified, quickly restored calm after a brief struggle with Tombalbaye loyalists. Tombalbaye had been the country's leader since it gained independence from France in 1960, first as prime minister and for the past 13 years as president.

Virtual accord on world energy conference

Oil exporting and importing nations have reached virtual agreement on the agenda for a world energy conference that could be convened as early as July, diplomatic sources said Sunday. The delegations are seven oilproducing and underdeveloped countries — Algeria, Saudi Arabia, Iran, Venezuela, Brazil, India and Zaire — and three industrialized countries' delegations — the United States, Japan and the European Common Market. The industrial powers want the energy conference to deal chiefly with energy and only in a secondary way with raw materials.

Lexington to begin bicentennial

Lexington, Mass. is bracing for a hoard of visitors this week as America officially begins celebrating her bicentennial. Officials in this town of 32,000 say up to 100,000 could converge here by Saturday to witness the reenactment of the "Shot Heard 'Round the World," and watch or participate in numerous other weekend activities.

Because of an anticipated visit by President Ford, an even larger gathering is expected in nearby Concord, population 17,500, where Minutemen fired the first fatal shots on King George III's redcoats.

Jackson: Nixon promised Viet bombings

Sen. Henry M. Jackson said Sunday he believes President Richard M. Nixon promised South Vietnam in 1973 that the United States would renew "large-scale bombing" in the event of renewed Communist aggression. Jackson, D-Wash., a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the White House has documents to prove his charges and he demanded they be delivered to a Senate committee by Tuesday at 2 p.m. EDT. Jackson made the charge in a televised interview, ABC's Issues and Answers.

AMA drafts health insurance bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Medical Association has decided to support enactment of compulsory medical insurance programs for employees, the poor and the unemployed.

The AMA, once a leading force in the fight against any government role in health care, has drafted legislation requiring employers to subsidize health insurance for employees and the government to do the same for poor persons and the jobless.

The AMA draft bill, obtained by UPI, says "such coverage for all persons is a desirable national objective... and it is in the public interest to assure such coverage."

The bill, titled "The Comprehensive Health Care Insurance Act of 1975," is expected to be introduced soon in both the House and Senate as organized medicine's updated plan for national health insurance.

The organization says its new proposal recognizes the fact that the "resources of many individuals are inadequate to meet the expenses of illness."

It replaces the AMA's "Medi-credit" proposal, which aimed at easing the financial burdens of poor patients through voluntary tax credits and which gained more sponsors than any health insurance proposal in the last Congress.

The new bill provides far more benefits to a much broader range of beneficiaries.

Its main provisions include: • A requirement that employers offer medical insurance to workers and their families and pay at least 65 per cent of each premium.

• A requirement that the government provide partially subsidized health insurance for the poor and the unemployed, financed from general revenues.

• Medical insurance benefits covering 365 days of hospital care during any one year, including care in mental hospitals; 100 days of nursing home care; and home health, mental and dental services for children aged two and up.

• Authority to file suit and assess civil penalties against employers who fail to offer medical insurance plans as required by the law.

In addition to sharing premium costs all but the poorest beneficiaries would have to pay co-insurance of 20 per cent for the services provided.

But no individual would have to pay more than $1,500 a year and no family more than $2,000 a year for health care.

The proposed insurance coverage would be provided by the existing private health insurance industry.

TOM HECKENBACH, overall-clad Elk Grove Latin and power mechanics instructor, reflects on a self-reliant lifestyle that lets him make his own soap and hunt with a Civil War muzzle-loading rifle.

Back-to-basics life comfortable for him

trips. We just don't sit around talking about Caesar all the time."

HIS CASUAL CLOTHES are more at home in the afternoons when he moves to another wing of the school to teach a mechanics course. "I have a suit — for weddings, wakes and TPC (Teacher-Parent Council) meetings."

Schooled to teach four languages — English, German, Greek and Latin — Heckenbach's 15 years of experience in building trades and mechanics earned him state certification to teach in those areas, something he does with relish. "Besides, I get to bring home the sawdust to burn in the stove."

A graduate of Quigley Seminary in Chicago—he almost became a monk at one time — Heckenbach financed his college education by working at almost every job imaginable. He was a sewer worker, blacksmith, bricklayer, truckdriver, crane operator, carpenter, mechanic, surveyor, farmhand, welder. What he didn't know, he faked.

"With the crane, they just thought I was a little rusty. With the surveying, well, you'd be surprised what you can pick up out of books," Heckenbach said with a laugh.

His students are often after-school guests at such events as a woodcutting party to stockpile wood for the winter for that always hungry pot-bellied stove or woodburning cookstove.

A BARGAIN HUNTER, he spends a lot of his free time picking up "deals" for his major leisure project — remodeling his house.

The yard is stacked full of his "finds" ranging from the bricks a contractor gave away rather than plow under to the bags of cement headed for a similar fate. "I'm just lucky, I guess," said Heckenbach. "The kids say St. Christopher sits on the roof of my truck — with a spy-glass."

HOME FROM SCHOOL, he'll gather the duck and chicken eggs from the backyard coops, or perhaps bake some two-pound loaves of bread. He also makes his own soap, a yearly supply made from lye or ashes from the stoves.

He'll occasionally take advantage of sales, buying a large quantity of inexpensive meat, then salting it down to store it in basement crocks. Vegetables he raises during the summer also go into the basement crocks, providing year-round fresh vegetables.

WHY DOES HE shun the easy way of doing things?

"I guess it's for the sense of satisfaction. Sure it's a pain sometimes, like cleaning the soot off the walls that come from the stoves. But it's not a case of just switching a switch and light comes from somewhere. You have to go out and pump the kerosene and clean the lamps."

Heckenbach says the way he lives just didn't come about overnight, but "sort of evolved."

"I think I'll live this way even more so as I get older," said Heckenbach. "Now, any other way of living seems too sterile."

HIS SPARTAN EXISTENCE usually calls for 20-hour days. "During college I got used to only four hours of sleep a night and it hasn't changed."

But then he is used to keeping busy by doing things the hard way. In 1973, he was nearly dismissed from his teaching job at Arlington High School for not having proper certification from the state to teach.

He needed 26 credits to receive the certification, a healthy load for any full-time college student in one year. But Heckenbach kept right on teaching full time while making up the needed credits in less than a year, attending several colleges at once to do it.

AS FOR THE women in his life, there is no one special — yet. Heckenbach isn't sure there are many females who share his affinity for "the good life." "One thing sure, it would have to be true love," Heckenbach said.

The house is silent now, save the noise coming from an 1870 clock ticking away in the corner. Coupled with the soft light from the kerosene lamps, the silence carries visitors back to another time, another world.

A reflective Heckenbach is asked if there is anything his self-reliant life can't provide. Is there anything he couldn't go without? He ponders only an instant.

"There's probably not a helluva lot."

HECKENBACH helps fill his 20 hour days with chores and lugging his water from the only electricity-dependent contraption he owns — a sump pump.

KEROSENE LAMPS illuminate Heckenbach's antique-filled home. His possessions include an 1870s Bible and an old coffee grinder, both of which the teacher and jack-of-all-trades uses regularly.

Reynolds ousts Czajkowski in School Dist. 54

by JUDY JOBBITT

Edward Bedard

Incumbent Arlene Czajkowski, who has been active in Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 for 11 years, was upset in her bid for reelection to the school board by 35 votes.

Sherry Reynolds

Newcomer Sherry Reynolds was the resounding victor in Saturday's contest for two three-year positions, receiving 1,020 votes according to unofficial tallies.

Dr. Edgar Feldman

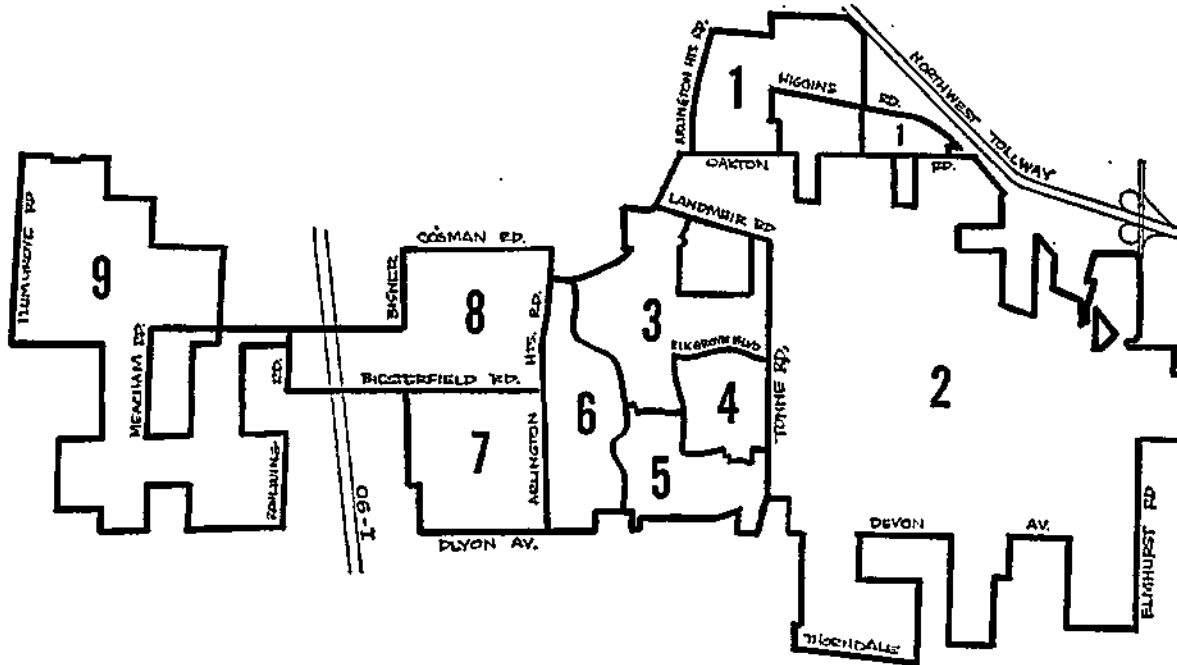

Incumbent Dr. Edgar Feldman won the second seat with 689 votes to Mrs. Czajkowski's 654. Feldman was appointed to the board in October. Mrs. Czajkowski was elected to the board in 1972 and was a board watcher for eight years preceding her election.

Gordon Thoren

Also running for the three-year term was newcomer Michael Madden, 1405 Churchhill Rd., Schaumburg, who received 584 votes.

Incumbents Gordon Thoren and Edward Bedard were elected to the two one-year terms defeating newcomer Carol Buckwalter. Bedard, 350 Pierce Rd., Hoffman Estates, received 945 votes and Thoren, 577 Edgefield Ln., Hoffman Estates, received 856. Mrs. Buckwalter, 483 Campbell Ln., Hoffman Estates, got 637 votes.

Dist. 211 jobs to Albrecht, Countryman, Stenstrom

by KATHERINE BOYCE

Two incumbents and one candidate backed by the teachers' union were elected to the High School Dist. 211 Board of Education Saturday in one of the most heated races in the district's history.

JoAnn Albrecht, 4450 Dawngate Ln., Rolling Meadows, endorsed by Dist. 211 teachers, led the balloting with 1,765 votes. Incumbent Anna Countryman, 233 E. Norman Dr., Palatine, won with 1,620 votes and incumbent William Stenstrom, 129 Maple Ct., Palatine, came in third with 1,468 votes. Each has won a three-year term.

A total of 8,844 votes were cast for seven Dist. 211 candidates Saturday compared with 2,177 cast last year for two candidates in an uncontested race. The voter turnout was one of the highest in Dist. 211 in recent years.

Incumbent GLENN Hargrave, 471 Creekwood Dr., Palatine, came in fourth Saturday with 1,344 votes and teacher-backed candidate Dwayne Barnes, 41 S. Elm St., Palatine, was in fifth with 1,202. Richard Gillette, 311 W. Daniels Rd., Palatine received 971 and Lewis Davidson, 79 King George Ct., Palatine Township, got 474.

Poll watchers for candidates backed by teachers in both Dist. 211 and Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 were challenged by election judges in four precincts in Schaumburg Township. When the judges refused to admit the watchers, David Tomcheck, local representative for the Illinois Education Assn., phoned officials of the State's Attorney's office and asked them to intervene.

The judges refused to admit poll watchers who were not residents of the district on the advice of attorneys for Dist. 211 and Dist. 54. The attorneys said the Illinois School Code says a poll watcher must be a legal voter where the election takes place.

Assistant State's Atty. Richard Means visited polling places and ruled that the poll watchers must be admitted. He referred to the code of the Illinois Election Code which says a poll watcher need only be a resident of the county.

DIST. 211 Business Mgr. James Slater said the situation was resolved when the candidates replaced challenged poll watchers with poll watchers who live in the district. But Slater said attorneys probably will continue to battle over the legal dispute to avoid a confrontation next year.

Means said his goal Saturday was to see that "all sides are represented in the polling places." The attorneys can

"dance on the heads of legal pins later," he said. This is the first year poll watchers have been used by the teachers' union, Tomcheck said.

Incumbents win in High School Dist. 214

Incumbents Gene Artemenko and Arthur Aronson breezed to victory in the High School Dist. 214 Board of Education race, overcoming a challenge by Elk Grove Village resident Virginia Titsworth.

Artemenko led all vote getters with 2,474 votes in the low key race that had few issues. Aronson received 2,358 votes compared to Mrs. Titsworth's 1,624.

"I'm pleased and looking forward to another term on the board," said Artemenko, who has served on the board for four years.

"We'll have to pay close attention to the citizens' committee," he said. "The issue won't go away; we'll have to face it."

Artemenko has been on the board since 1962.

Mrs. Titsworth won none of the district's 22 precincts, but topped Aronson in the Grove Junior High School area of Elk Grove Village and narrowly beat him in her home district of Lovely Junior High School, Elk Grove Village, where she trailed Artemenko of Des Plaines, by 49 votes.

Mrs. Titsworth topped Artemenko in only one precinct, the Jack London Junior High School area in Wheeling.

decision on the report until it is reviewed in detail.

"We asked the experts to assure us one way or the other that an arena would generate revenue, not just enough to pay for its operating expenses, but to make $2 million to $3 million a year for this village. On the surface it looks like the arena would just pay for itself under ideal conditions Mrs. Vanderweel said.

"Without a real review of the facts I cannot totally discount the idea of a multi-purpose arena for the present," she said.

Willis said the board met in executive session with the study firm because there was a potential that further land acquisition would be required to accommodate the complex.

THE VILLAGE BOUGHT the site last year for $1.74 million. Officials said it also can be used as a pumping station, a water reservoir or as a site for a public works garage.

"If the plan could have drawn commitments from a professional team like the Bears, not the new franchisees, we would have had a better feeling about it," Mrs. Vanderweel said.

The village was negotiating with the officials of the Chicago Cougars about using the arena for the team's hockey games.

Mrs. Vanderweel said the preliminary report said the arena would need events about 280 days a year to realize a profit. Cost estimates for the 15,000-seat arena were between $25 million and $40 million.

Two brothers, woman nabbed for robberies

Two brothers and a woman companion wanted for two armed robberies in Franklin Park were picked up Saturday night by Elk Grove Village police.

John Quattrochi, 21, and Anthony Quattrochi, 22, both of 1304 32nd St. Melrose Park, and Danette Haas, 19, of 10131 Chestnut St. Franklin Park, were arrested by Franklin Park police for the armed robberies after being stopped in the village for a traffic violation, Elk Grove Village police said.

Another passenger in the car, Alan Dusan, 19, of 817 Wellington Ave., was questioned and released.

John Quattrochi and Miss Haas also were charged by Elk Grove Village police with unlawful use of a .38-caliber pistol and a Colt .25 automatic pistol after the weapons were found in Miss Haas' purse by Patrolman Martin Waltzman.

Miss Haas was released on $1,000 bond on the unlawful use of weapons charge, and she and Anthony Quattrochi were taken into custody by Franklin Park police. John Quattrochi was being held on $1,000 bond by Elk Grove Village Police Sunday on his unlawful use of weapons charge. He also is expected to be turned over to Franklin Park police.

'Patterns in Spring' fashion show slated

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15

The second annual Lake Louise PTA "Patterns in Spring" home-sown fashion show will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the school, 500 N. Jonathan, Palatine.

A variety of outfits from pajamas to pantsuits, sportswear to evening gowns will be shown and children and mothers will model the handmade garments. The fifth- and sixth-grade chorus will present music and there will be a door prize and refreshments. This will be the final association meeting this school year.

A rematch volleyball game between parents and teachers at Jane Addams School, 1020 Sayles Dr., Palatine, will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. The game is sponsored by the PTA. Refreshments will be served.

The PTA is also sponsoring a family night April 29 at 7:30 p.m. The program will include a judo demonstration and parent and student exercise program.

Arlington Heights Dist. 25

What is the school district doing for your child? That will be the topic of a panel discussion at the dad's early bird coffee, presented by the PTA of Kensington School, 201 S. Evanston, Arlington Heights, at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

"Help-Don't Push the Panic Button," a program that will deal with first aid and survival emergencies will be presented by the PTA of Ivy Hill School Tuesday. Speakers will be Lt. Bob Bonty from Glenview Naval Air Station and Lenny Jackson from Mount Prospect Fire Dept.

The school is at 2211 N. Burke Dr., Arlington Heights.

Eleven Dist. 25 schools have been honored by the Chicago Motor Club for their record of no accidents during the last school year at intersections patrolled by members of the school safety patrol.

The schools honored and the number of successive years without an accident are: Berkeley, 4; Dryden, 23; Ivy Hill, 7; Kensington, 13; North, 29; Olive, 7; Park 24; Poe, 4; Ridge, 21; Wilson, 25; Windsor, 16.

River Trails Dist. 26

Harry Volkman will present a meteorological talk to third, fourth, fifth and sixth graders at Parkview School, 803 Burning Bush Ln., Mount Prospect, at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Student projects will be on display at a social studies fair at Michael Collins School, 407 S. Summit Dr., Schaumburg. The fair is being held in conjunction with the PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the multi-purpose room of the school.

Mount Prospect Dist. 57

Artist Cheryl Quick, of Lisle, will demonstrate mono-printing and other types of printing from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at Fairview School, 300 N. Fairview Ave., Mount Prospect.

A fashion show and luncheon also will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the school. Tickets are $2.50 and can be purchased by calling Noreen Sebastian at 255-0283.

A night for fathers to meet with Principal Cyril Kozel also is Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school library.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Parents and students are invited to attend an open meeting at Holmes Junior High School, 1900 W. Lomquist Blvd., Elk Grove Village, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

"Vandalism, the Cost, Seriousness and Consequences" will be the topic of the program with guest panelist Richard Jenness, principal of Holmes Junior High School; Jack Martin, principal of Forest View High School; Adolph Danta, director of buildings and grounds for School Dist. 59, and Ken Zesch, Mount Prospect Police Dept.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 96

Students may order school sweatshirts this week at Twin Groves and Willow Grove schools. The sweatshirts are navy blue and will be imprinted with the school name in gold. Children's sizes are $2.50 and adult sizes are $4. Order forms and money must be returned to the schools by Friday. For further information call, 541-1271.

The working woman

Her career comes first

by BILLIE BACHUBER
Shirleen Arnett puts her career first in her life.

Now vice president and cashier at Suburban Bank of Hoffman Estates, Miss Arnett recommends banking as a good career for women. "But making it in the banking profession takes patience," she cautions.

Promotions may not come as quickly as in some professions, but the opportunities are there. Starting salaries are higher now, and there is more room for women than for men in every area but lending departments, she said.

Beginning her own banking career while a high school senior, Shirleen now has 20 years of experience, education and advancement behind her. She worked part-time as a secretary at a Pekin, Ill., bank, intending to earn enough money for college. She was wholly career-minded even then.

"I began changing diapers almost from the time I could manage a safety pin," she said, recalling how, as eldest of nine, she helped to rear her brothers and sisters.

Eventually Shirleen chose a banking career and after nine years of working in the lending department, as a teller, in the trust department and in auditing, she was promoted to bank auditor.

Learning much on the job, Miss Arnett also took a bank auditing course at the University of Colorado and pursued formal study with the American Institute of Banking (AIB), the educational division of American Bankers Association.

And she continued studying at AIB and attended Blackhawk College in Moline after leaving Pekin for a new job in East Moline. She moved into installment lending at the State Bank of East Moline.

While in East Moline, the budding banker volunteered some spare time at East Moline State Hospital where she was "big sister" to a 16-year-old emotionally disturbed youngster. After four years of close and supportive friendship — time when she read to and took walks around the hospital grounds with her friend — Shirleen broke off the relationship.

"I BECAME too close, too involved with her, and I lost my relationship as just a volunteer," she explained. "But I miss her, and look back on it as very rewarding," she added.

Shirleen first became interested in the health field when her own baby sister contracted spinal meningitis and was left with epilepsy, she said.

Miss Arnett left East Moline in 1969 to become cashier at her present place of employment. She was promoted to vice president and cashier in 1971, and elected to board of directors three years later.

She finished her studies with AIB earning a certificate for completing all available courses. "I plan to continue studying as new courses become available," she said. She also has attended Harper College and three summer sessions at Stonier Graduate School of Banking, working on correspondence courses while not attending classes in that division of Rutgers University in New Jersey.

AWAY FROM her career, Shirleen had "had it" with apartment living about the time she moved into the northwest suburbs. Five years ago she and a woman friend, also in banking, bought a house in Hoffman Estates. They at first experienced difficulty obtaining a mortgage. Since, however, they have sold their initial purchase, and another in Schaumburg, and now live in Palatine.

"We used the equity in each house to upgrade the next purchase," Shirleen explained the investments.

The women, friends for 20 years, share home chores, expenses and mutual taste in furnishings and entertainment. They entertain their friends together and alone. Primarily a business-woman, Miss Arnett is away from home a great deal, and homemaking plays second fiddle to her other activities, she said.

ONCE A Girl Scout, Shirleen has served on the board of directors for Northwest Cook Council of Girl Scouts the past three years, and recently was elected chairman of the Illinois Group, National Association of Bank Women. She belongs to Chicago chapter of AIB and has served on its board of directors. And she's a charter member of Schaumburg area Business and Professional Women's Club.

Shirleen dates some, preferring to go out to dinner. She enjoys theater and admits to being an avid Cubs fan. "I attend as many games as possible, and watch the rest on TV," she said.

A long-haired white cat, Toby, and a Maltese terrier, Marty, share Shirleen's life, accompanying her on motor trips.

She frequently drives to visit the families of her brothers and sisters, now all married. But Shirleen's mind is mostly on banking.

She anticipates the day a woman becomes bank president. "And I wouldn't mind at all if that woman is me!" she said with a broad smile.

EVERY DAY THE POSTMAN brings more donations to Barbara Miller and Nancy Seiter for the Cabaret and Celebrity Auction sponsored by women of St. Thomas of Villanova Church, Palatine. This box is from Perry Como. The affair will be held Friday, April 18, in the school hall with Palatine "celebrities" Lizza Minelli, Louey Prame and the Andru Sisters as entertainers. TV personality Jerry Peterson will be auctioneer. Ticket donation is $1.50 by calling 991-0189, and the public is invited. Fun starts at 8 p.m.

SHIRLEEN ARNETT is a shining example that opportunity exists in banking for women. Twenty years in the business, she's now a vice president and cashier of Suburban Bank of Hoffman Estates.

Seminar studies religious roots of lib

"The Institute of Women Today," only church-related women's coalition organized to search for the religious roots of women's liberation, will conduct an all-day seminar Thursday, April 24, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Sheraton-Walden Inn, Schaumburg.

Sponsored by the Harper College Women's Program, the workshop, "Woman: The Quality of Her Life," will explore in depth women's relationship to psychology, theology and the law.

The institute, made up of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish women who have designed a nationwide program to serve the universal sisterhood of women in new models of service and ministry, is sponsored by Church Women United, the American Jewish Committee on Women and the National Coalition of American Nuns.

PANEL MEMBERS, who will conduct the workshop, which will involve all participants, are attorney Ralia Klepak of Chicago, realtor and insurance broker; Nancy Hardesty, a theologian and journalist, who this year completes her doctorate in divinity at the University of Chicago; Sister Margaret Ellen Traxler, director of the Institute of Women Today, a foremost proponent of the Equal Rights Amendment and the founder of the National Coalition of American Nuns; and Sister Margaret Burke, president of Barat College, who holds a doctorate in psychology and is recognized as a global thinker.

To register readers may send name, address, phone and Social Security number with a check for tuition to the Admissions Office, Harper College, Algonquin and Roselle Roads, Palatine, Ill. 60067. Fee for the workshop is $12.50, including lunch. Reservations can be made by phoning 397-3000 Ext. 230.

Child care, available for a fee, may be arranged by calling Ext. 248 for reservations prior to the workshop.

Program on owning own business

Ruth Schockett, owner of local businesses and former MONACEP teacher, will discuss "The Pleasures and Perils of Owning Your Own Business" at an evening program of the Women's Outreach Resource Center at the Skokie Library, 8215 Oakton, Thursday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Schockett will describe what one can do, even from one's own home, how to go about it, and what the advantages and disadvantages are of owning your own business.

The rotating Women's Resource Center will be at the Skokie Library April 21-25.

Pat Handzel, coordinator, points out that the center is operated as a "drop-in" facility where women may obtain information about testing, careers, job change, educational opportunities, and personal growth.

It is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily except Thursday when hours are from 7-9 p.m. only. All services are free. The center is open Thursday afternoons at OCC, 7900 N. Nagle, Morton Grove, from noon to 4 p.m. in Room 228, Building 2. A free film program is offered every Thursday at 1 p.m. in Room 223. On April 24, the film, "Taking Our Bodies Back," will be shown.

Information, 966-3830.

Alpha Gam alums host reunion day

More than 100 alumnae of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority have been invited to an International Reunion Day this Saturday at Old Orchard Country Club, Mount Prospect. Festivities begin at noon, with luncheon at 1 p.m.

Members of Chicago Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club, who act as hostesses this year, will present a program featuring Audrey Cline with a talk and slide presentation on her travels in Africa. Mrs. Ellis Lepp of Des Plaines is general chairman of the reunion.

Among those planning to attend who have been active internationally is Mrs. H. H. Barker, Mount Prospect, undergraduate editor of The Quarterly, the Alpha Gamma Delta magazine.

Everything's coming up radishes

Almost everyone I know is going to be digging in this spring. Digging in back yards, vacant lots, especially designated fields and parks — to make a vegetable garden.

Everyone, that is, except my best friend and next door neighbor, Alice Flaxton.

The other day when the whole neighborhood was turned out to do some turning under, Alice sat and watched us from her patio while she caught a little sun and leisurely did her nails.

"Why aren't you putting in a garden this year?" I called accusingly over the fence.

She reluctantly pulled herself up from the lounge chair and came over to where I was laboriously digging. Then she whipped out a reflector which she held under her chin while she watched me.

"I SUPPOSE YOU think we'll all over-plant and then give you all the vegetables we can't use," I muttered, chopping violently at a chunk of clay into which yesterday's sand had miraculously congealed.

"You will. But that's not why I'm not planting anything. It's because of the radish growers," said Alice.

"The radish growers?" I rested on the handle of the shovel.

"Right. Just look at this neighborhood. Tens of families are digging gardens and multiples of tens of children want to help, so their parents will give them radish seeds to plant. After all anyone can grow a radish —"

"And you're saying that everyone will?"

"Exactly. And what can you do with an abundance of radishes? You can't can them, make jam out of them or freeze them, so you give them away and glut the market."

I had to admit to Alice I hadn't thought of that.

"BUT THAT ISN'T all," Alice said. "The plot thickens. By this time next year the country's radish growers will be marching on Washington and demanding price supports and a radish row program."

Twilight dinner, fashions

Spring fashions for both men and women will be featured when Soroptimist International of Des Plaines sponsors a "Golden Twilight" dinner and fashion show Tuesday, April 29.

The show, featuring women's fashions from Jeanine's of Mount Prospect and men's fashions from Allen's Store for Men, Des Plaines, will be held at the Camelot, Des Plaines.

Proceeds will benefit service projects of Soroptimists, a service organization for executive business and professional

"Radish row program?"

"Sure," Alice explained, "one where a grower gets paid by the government for not planting radishes."

What Alice said made a lot of sense. Suddenly I could see that a backyard garden was indeed a very dangerous thing. And planting one could cost us more than we ever thought we saved.

Since then I have given up on the backyard garden. However, I am thinking of going into the radish growing in a commercial way in hopes of being put out of business and becoming a success. Alice doesn't know that, and I am wondering if that's the kind of thing one has to tell a friend.

The truth about tie stripes

Every now and then, peering up from my typing of a story, I see a cluster of men in the office, examining their ties.

Not just the pattern, whether it be stripes, flowers, Art Deco or other patterns, but the inside. For a while I thought they were comparing store names to see who bought their clothes at Fieks' . . . who bought at Sears . . . an indication of salary schedule, I supposed.

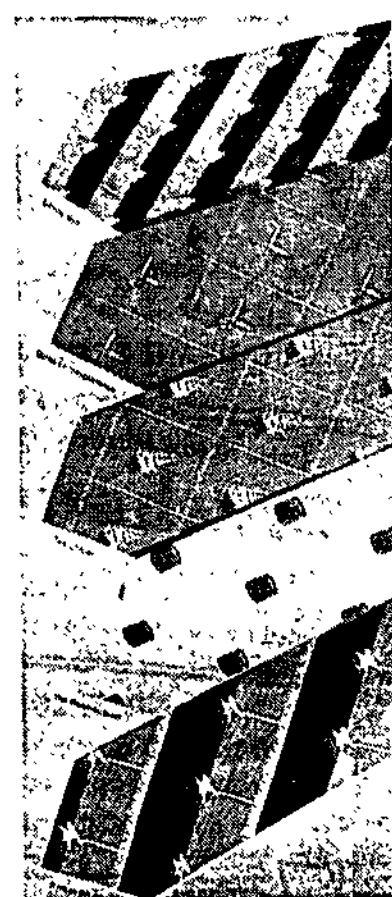

I have finally discovered that they were comparing the number of stripes in the necktie lining. And do I have news for them. The common belief is that the number of stripes woven into the lining is an indication of quality, with five stripes meaning top quality. That's not the whole truth.

FIVE STRIPES merely mean that the lining is heavier than a four or a three-stripe.

There are, however, other signs of a well-made tie. Slipstitching is one example. A quality necktie is not sewn together. The stitching would make the tie pucker and extremely thick in the middle. So, it is held together by a slipstitch that slips in and out of a tie from one end to the other and can be seen if you look at the back of the tie.

Don't touch it. If you pull it out, the whole tie will come apart.

According to D. Gordon Williams, president of Countess Mara, Inc., a neckwear manufacturer, linings are also an intricate part of the necktie. "If the manufacturer uses a sleazy fabric, he must use a heavy five-stripe lining to cover up

Fashion

by Karen

a multitude of sins," Williams said. Ties made of fine silks need only a two-stripe lining.

SPEAKING OF neckties, Briar Neckwear, Inc., has come out with a collection of Bicentennial ties and jewelry for men. Father's Day isn't too far off and these beautiful keepsakes would be perfect for the man in your life.

The designs for these special ties were created as a most appropriate expression of our country's heritage and achievement. Each tie has an individual comment that is significant of our country's history.

Patterns range from The Great American Eagle and the Torch of Freedom to The Quills of Independence and The Great Seal of the United States.

The official "Bicentennial Neckband," permanently affixed to each tie, distinguishes this valuable collector's item.

For further information regarding these historic neckties, readers should write, Briar Neckwear, Inc., 2828 So. Grand Ave., Los Angeles, Calif. 90007. The ties are priced at $9 each.

Program directory out

According to the news coming into the Herald's Suburban Living section, many area-wide clubs and organizations are already electing officers for the coming club year.

Next is the appointment of committee chairmen who will be getting a head start on 1975-76 plans before the summer respite.

The program chairman's job is to insure getting speakers, demonstrations, entertainment and even fund-raisers scheduled early on the club calendar. It's no easy task to find new and engrossing programs to please all the members' interests.

For these chairmen Paddock Publications prints a Program Directory each spring as a public service.

THE 1975 DIRECTORY is now ready for distribution and available free at all Herald offices in the northwest suburbs. Over 200 ideas are listed by topics, among them many new ideas reported since last year's edition.

The directories may be picked up at any of the following Herald offices: 217 W. Campbell and 114 W. Campbell, both in Arlington Heights; 117 S. Main, Mount Prospect; 1383 Prairie, Des Plaines; and 19 N. Bothwell, Palatine.

Anyone having a program suggestion to add to the directory for next spring is welcome to call Doris McClellan, 394-2300 ext. 251.

All cheese but cream can be frozen

Dear Dorothy: Can all cheeses be frozen and, if so, for how long? — Maurine S. Hardin

The only cheese not recommended for freezing is cream cheese. The data on uncreamed cottage cheese are confusing. Two freezer books say it will freeze well for one to two weeks, two others say three to four months. Most other cheeses, even Camembert and Liederkranz, will do nicely frozen for from six to nine months. Blocks of cheese should be frozen in packages of not more than one-half pound. Many will crumble when thawed, but this doesn't prevent their use in most cheese dishes. Frozen cheeses to be used for the table should be thawed and held in the refrigerator. This not only makes them easier to handle but improves the flavor.

Flower Extravaganza

Designers from three area flower shops, Bertholds in Elk Grove Village, Haberkamps, Mount Prospect, and Herberts, Wood Dale, will demonstrate flower arranging at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Elk Grove High School Theater. Fifty-five arrangements, including planters and terrariums, will be given away during the program.

The program is sponsored by the champion Silver Knights Drum and Twirling Corps. Donation, $2.50, at the door.

Dear Dorothy: Taking stock of odds and ends in my freezer, I noticed various kinds of left over from dinners — a couple of rye, one poppyseed and so forth. Put all of them on the counter to dry thoroughly, then pulverized them in the blender to the coarse rather than the powdered stage. Now I have a quart jar of tasty crumbs to put atop any casserole. It's stored in the refrigerator (with a hole in the cover) to keep them right. — Martha Iselbacher the right height. These chokers come in various thicknesses and lengths — and a small "S" hook can connect the chain to the planter. — Mrs. Charla Sheridan

Dear Dorothy: Those dieters who think water-packed tuna is dry and flat by itself should try mixing it with low-calorie Italian dressing. It adds very few calories and is delicious. — Mrs. L. J. Soncini

'Y' weight control classes

Two new classes in nutrition and weight control will begin next week at Northwest Suburban YMCA, Des Plaines. One is for individuals of normal weight or those 10 to 20 pounds overweight who are also fairly well disciplined in obtaining desired goals.

The second is for the medically obese, those 20 per cent or more overweight who are subject to erratic weight fluctuations, are compulsive eaters or bingers, secret eaters and those who seem to be powerless over correcting eating behavior.

The first class, "Introduction to Basic Nutrition," for the slightly overweight, will be held at 8 p.m. Monday and at 9:15 a.m. Wednesday. It will include exercise and lectures on meal planning, calculating caloric needs and the cholesterol-heart problem.

THE CLASS FOR the medically obese, "Eat and Trim," will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday and at 9 a.m. Wednesday. It will include mild exercise and uncovering excuses for overeating, behavior modification, understanding stimuli that set off eating, counteracting boredom, loneliness and depression.

Cost for the 7-week course is $15 for YMCA members; $20 for non-members. Registration may be made at the YMCA reception desk or by mailing a check and indicating the course to be taken, plus name, address and phone number.

Herald opinion

We dislike expense hike

In a classic demonstration of statesmanship as practiced in the Illinois General Assembly, the state House of Representatives last week approved — without looking up — a measure which would hike their allowances for maintaining home offices from $12,000 to $27,000 per year.

As evidence of the diligence with which the legislature deliberates the spending of the taxpayers' money, nearly a dozen legislators could not recall how they voted on the measure, or specify how much of an increase they approved.

Conveniently, the amendment to a bill proposing a more modest increase was approved by a voice vote, so there is no record of which legislators voted in favor of the measure (which would amount to a added state expenditures of $3,540,000 per year).

Apparently the only legislator who raised a voice against the $15,000 increase in office allowances was the sponsor of the original bill, Rep. Joseph Lundy, D-Evanston. Lundy had proposed boosting the allowance from $12,000 to $15,000 in order, he explained, to provide legislative employees in home districts with fringe benefits similar to those enjoyed by other state employees.

When Chicago Democrat Arthur Berman proposed his amendment to escalate the allowance to $27,000, Lundy said he attempted strenuously to persuade his colleagues to reject the amendment. Explaining the care with which our legislators reason out their fiscal decisions, Lundy declared, "Nobody was paying any attention."

Lundy and House Speaker William A. Redmond, D-Bensenville, as well as other legislators, have expressed confidence that the $27,000 office allowance will never be approved in final form.

Their reassurance is comforting.

It is indeed difficult to imagine these legislators who just months ago gave themselves raises of $2,500 per year, an earlier increase in office expenses of $2,000, and a $4 per day hike in expenses (from $32 to $36), could seriously consider approving this bonanza when they have to enter their names on the record.

Nevertheless, the measure remains alive as a potential added drain on your pocketbook. We wonder when a bill providing a break for the taxpayers will ever slip through the General Assembly while "nobody is paying any attention."

Gracious sakes, how did that get there?

Park district choices

In addition to tomorrow's municipal elections, there are several other taxing bodies holding elections. Here are our choices in various park district elections:

BUFFALO GROVE

We endorse incumbents William Kiddle and Eugene Muryn for commissioner. Both men have tried to make the district as productive as possible with the limited amount of money available.

Both men have the background, experience and attitude to warrant additional six-year terms as park commissioners. They say they want the chance to complete unfinished projects they've helped start; they deserve the opportunity.

WHEELING

is our choice for the six-year term on the board. He was appointed to the board in October, 1973.

PALATINE

We endorse Weldon O. Degner for the single seat open on the board. During his six years on the board, he has supported the interest of all park district residents — both in rural and village areas.

OTHER DISTRICTS

We are not endorsing in the River Trails and Elk Grove park districts, because of a lack of issues in each campaign.

PALATINE CLERK

Voters should vote tomorrow to make the clerk's position appointive. The tasks of a clerk are administrative, and the most qualified clerk, in all communities, should be selected by the village administration.

ELK GROVE LIBRARY BOARD

The Herald endorses Mary Wilber, Tina Paglia and Ronald Satzke in the library board race for three six-year terms, in the hope they will bring a new openness to the board that has long been closed to public scrutiny.

Wheeling: our choices

The four candidates who can best clean up government in the village of Wheeling are Otis L. Hedlund, Charles M. Kerr, John C. Cole and William A. Rogers; they deserve your votes tomorrow.

As The Herald has pointed out repeatedly, public officials in Wheeling have failed to clean up the mess which developed under political boss James Stavros, who was convicted last year of a variety of federal charges.

Now's your opportunity to start to end the Wheeling mess. Hedlund, Kerr and Cole of the Wheeling Improvement Party and Rogers of the Wheeling Community Party ticket are the men who can start the clean up.

You'll have no excuse tomorrow if you skip the election; the future well-being of Wheeling rests on your shoulders. Anything less than a vote for these four candidates is a rejection of full-scale — and long-overdue — village reform.

Official hits candidates

Dear Mr. Hendricks:

Again there seems to be some confusion as to your understanding of the library's status and position. The library is not a place that can help you if you persist in confusing the facts. All but one candidate in the trustees election either graciously sought, or responded to, my personal invitation to learn the facts about the library and its building program. That lone candidate was you, and you have been confused about the library's position from the beginning.

The library is a critical service to about a thousand people per day in Mount Prospect. The library puts into the hands of people over a thousand items per day. These people ask for knowledge and are the people who endeavor to get the facts or educate themselves. These are the people in my book that are going to make this world a better place to live in. And, anything I, or the library board of directors, can do to answer their quest for knowledge, I am 1,000 per cent for and will work to accomplish.

Now as to my pride — my pride is in Mount Prospect. My pride is in knowledge. My pride is in making this a better world. My pride is in accomplishing goals for the betterment of all the people. And you personally know that I, along with others who have gone before me, have had to swallow our pride, humble ourselves and bend down to having to answer your type of electioneering. Some day I hope that a letter from you will be directed at me or the library board, as I have yet to receive correspondence from you through the accepted channels of the U.S. Mail or hand delivery.

Now as to the library and its place in the community. The library is not, and never has been, a $4 million project. You voted against it so I hope you know what you voted against. You voted against a new village hall. You voted against the library being able to expand to meet the needs of the people. You voted against the ability of the village to buy the property (formerly public land) to build the library. You voted against the library building which when it is completed will open up space for the police department, fire department and the senior citizens of the community. You know for example that every day the policemen in our village change clothes in a framed garage that serves as a locker room. That is less than desirable and surely can't be conducive to furthering public service. You voted against saving the taxpayers' money because private construction costs are now down. You voted against the library construction which means jobs; construction jobs, the very jobs that every form of government management is trying to foster in the private sector.

Mr. Hendricks, I am not going to ask you what you voted for, but I know you used every guile and power at your command to not permit the library to be built. If that position is constructive progress. I want you and the whole world to know I am against it.

John W. A. Parsons
Mount Prospect

EDITOR'S NOTE: Parsons is president of the Mount Prospect library board.

Fence post letters to the editor

Hits 'back door attack'

As a friend and former colleague of Alderman John E. Seitz, I was surprised and dismayed to read in your Monday edition that someone was trying to mount a secretive write-in campaign to defeat him for reelection, hoping that since we all believed him unopposed, the voter turnout would be low.

First of all, I find the idea of "trying to sneak in the back door" reprehensible. Is the opponent afraid to debate Jack's record and the issues?

Secondly, the only criticism stated by his opponent is that "he doesn't do his homework." Nonsense! Jack is one of the most hard-working and conscientious members of the city council. He should be reelected.

Daniel W. Bonaguidi
Former Alderman, 7th Ward
Des Plaines

Blasts local party

The upcoming elections in Mount Prospect highlight a serious ambivalence within the United Citizens Party, one I'm sure they're not aware of, nor care about, if they were.

With full compliance of the village's mayor, the village council, controlled by the United Citizens Party, decided not to permit Mount Prospect taxpayers their rightful privilege to vote yes or no on a new library, estimated in 1974 to cost close to $5 million.

But this same party is passing out campaign literature advertising itself in one of its standards or planks as "serving the people."

It is possible, even probable, that the village needed a new library. But what a poor, shabby way to ram something through, considering the taxpayers are going to be paying the bill for many years to come. And as an added insult to all of us, the head of the library board went on record as saying by eliminating the referendum the taxpayers were saved a cost of something like $25,000. Admiration, isn't it?

And all this is done in the name of putting up a library which is supposed to have something to do with helping educate, inform and maybe even uplift the minds of people.

No wonder taxpayers are so scornful and cynical about local politics; no wonder so few bother to turn out for village board meetings. Any village or town council is supposed, by definition, to serve the people, and not to rule them. One of the chief functions of a council is to do as it's told by the taxpayers, and if that thought makes anyone in local politics uncomfortable, then he is in the wrong kind of part-time hobby.

R. H. Ranscen
Mount Prospect

The almanac

Today is Monday, April 14, the 104th day of 1975 with 261 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aries.

British Antarctic explorer Sir James Clark was born April 14, 1800. This is the 50th birthday of actor Rod Steiger.

On this day in history:

• In 1861, the flag of the Confederacy was raised over Ft. Sumter, S.C., as Union troops there surrendered.

• In 1865, John Wilkes Booth crept into the box of President Abraham Lincoln at Ford Theater in Washington and shot him. Lincoln died the next morning.

• In 1910, President William Howard Taft set a precedent by throwing out the first baseball to open the major league season.

• In 1965, Frank Mitchell, 15, became the first black page boy in the House of Representatives.

A thought for the day: British novelist Dinah Craik said, "Oh, my son's my son 'til he gets him a wife, but my daughter's my daughter all her life."

Candidate covers library issues

On April 15, voters in Elk Grove Village will select three library board directors to serve six-year terms and one director to complete an unexpired four-year term. Since there has been no coverage of the Elk Grove Village Library Board election, I would like to use this letter to discuss some of the matters pertinent to this election.

Although the most obvious areas with which the new board needs to be concerned are the physical problems of providing adequate parking space for the patrons and relieving the crowded conditions in the children's room, there are several other areas which require action.

Other areas of importance include correcting the deficiencies in the book collection and studying the various state and national library standards. Three years ago the Sannwald survey showed that the library held only a small percentage of the books it should hold: 26 per cent of the adult non-fiction and 35 per cent of the fiction. The consultant, Mr. Sannwald, felt that the minimum acceptable for a public library was 53 per cent, and that adequate library service should begin when the library had 75 per cent of those titles listed in the catalogs used for the study (Fiction Catalog, Standard Catalog, and Reference Books for Small Public Libraries). More specific planning on implementing the findings of this survey is a necessity.

I also recommend that the board appoint a committee to work with the administrative librarian to review the various standards set by the American Library Association and the Illinois Library Association to determine which standards are pertinent and desirable for our situation. Then a very specific plan could be formulated detailing goals and objectives for the library within a definite time structure.

I would also like to see more communication between the community and the library. The feedback a library receives from the community it exists to serve is essential in order for a library to function properly. Formation of a local chapter of Friends of the Library could help bring the library and its concerns into the community as well as provide the library management with this necessary feedback.

Unfortunately, there was little opportunity in this election for all candidates to exchange views on the issues. An informed electorate is essential unless more and more public bodies are to become private clubs where the public and the press are excluded.

Mary Wilber
Library board candidate
Elk Grove Village

Hendricks attacked

During the current campaign, three articles have appeared in your newspaper referring to Richard N. Hendricks as a "Mr. America" and comparing him to Abraham Lincoln. I personally know the two authors of these three articles and am quite shocked that they would put their gilt-edged pens to support Mr. Hendricks in the manner they have. They did not present the facts on Mr. Hendricks, and praised him as a friend being observed through rose-colored glasses.

Dick and I are both past presidents of the Fairview Gardens Civic Association. Thanks to Mr. Hendricks this association is, for all practical purposes, nonexistent. He managed, in one year, to take this once active, united group and demolish it.

His latest tactic for giving salary increases is a good indication of his qualifications and completely contradicts the statement in the latest article which said, "a representative of the people should be knowledgeable of the facts." He does not know the facts, and his past record as a trustee and president of our civic association proves that he always goes with sentiment because he cannot "stand the heat in the kitchen."

This letter is being written because I could no longer sit back and let the people of Mount Prospect be deceived about the alleged Mr. America or Abraham Lincoln alias Richard N. Hendricks.

John J. Martino
Past president,
Fairview Gardens
Civic Association
Mount Prospect

Backs trustees

The eve of an election invariably leads one to thoughts of the past when he has been involved in local government, as I have for some 14 years.

While those years have been both pleasant and difficult, they have allowed me the opportunity to work intimately with a number of trustees and independently appraise their abilities and contributions to Elk Grove Village.

It is my opinion that incumbent Trustees Ron Chernick, Ed Kenna and Mike Tosto have by their performance in office earned the distinction of being among that select list of elected officials in Elk Grove Village who have been most prominent by their significant contributions to the orderly growth and progress of our community.

Therefore, it is with much enthusiasm that I endorse each of them and urge the voters of Elk Grove Village to re-elect them to office as trustees on Tuesday, April 15.

Special-education teachers join IEA

by DOLORTHY OLIVER

Teachers and some teacher aides in the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization have affiliated with the Illinois Education Assn., a statewide teachers union.

Nearly 100 per cent of the teachers and some teaching aides have joined the Northwest Suburban Special Education Assn., said Tom Schwartz, president. The teachers and aides are employed at Dwyer (1) School, Dwyer Junior High School, Kirk Center and the Center for Children and Family Services, schools for emotionally, physically and mentally handicapped children from 10 Northwest Suburban school districts.

Schwartz said the NSSEO board and administration was aware of the affiliation "and the board members we have contacted so far have said, fine."

THE ASSOCIATION will present a contract proposal to the board that will include items on classroom conditions, personnel policies and salaries, Schwartz said.

The association has sent a survey to all teachers asking their priorities in contract negotiations. The final package will reflect the teachers' concerns, he said.

The teaching staff is paid on a merit system, and Schwartz said "the staff indicates they don't want to completely dissolve the merit system but they see a need for the stability of a step plan. There is a lot of instability in merit."

Schwartz said there are a lot of inequalities in salary between people with the same qualifications and experience because of the merit system, where a teacher is given increases based on his teaching ability.

Schwartz said the teachers decided to organize with the IEA because it offers professional services as well as help in negotiations. "We were one of the only groups of teachers in the whole area that had no affiliation. Basically we were all so inexperienced in this area (negotiations) we felt the IEA would help by giving us advice if not direct help."

'Too many programs too soon'

Consultant advises NEC to take year to reorganize

The Northwest Education Cooperative has been advised by a consultant firm to take a year to reorganize before tackling any major cooperative projects with the nine member Northwest suburban school districts.

Peter Warner Associates, which has spent two months researching NEC, has recommended the cooperative devote its energies to current special education programs during the year of reorganization.

"The difficulty in operating NEC (during the last few years) was underestimated. There were too many programs taken on too soon," said Peter Warner, who is working with Fred Genck on the report. "There should not be an overreaction to the difficulties that have come about in the last year. The charter of NEC should not be lost to the present situation."

DURING THE last year a computer cooperative run by NEC for the nine districts dissolved after one district after another pulled out of the program. A second crisis centered around John Whipple, clinical director of NEC's Dwyer School, Arlington Heights, who was charged by County Schools Supt. Richard Martwick with child abuse. Whipple was subsequently cleared of the charges.

Warner said NEC "needs a year of minimum operating activities and pressures, a year of reorganization and recovery from a difficult year."

The Warner report states "NEC is a natural area for cooperation among districts, and in spite of the difficulties there is a persistent interest in keeping the door open. To lose the possible future benefits of cooperation because of the obvious difficulties of the present situation would be unfortunate."

THE REPORT recommends:

NEC efforts should focus on strengthening the management of special education services during the next year.

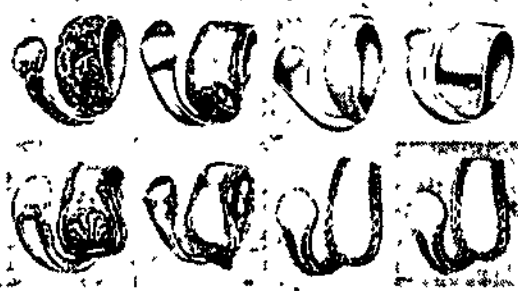

• NEC should continue to serve as a vehicle for cooperation between member districts on research and development programs.

Warner said NEC should continue such programs as bilingual, gifted, and teacher development. Any new NEC programs should be in the educational area and should be started in response to a definite need in member districts, the report said.

Robert Moats, Mrs. Weber win Harper seats

Robert Moats, father of outgoing Harper College board member Lawrence Moats, and Natalie Weber, a Harper student from Hoffman Estates, were elected to the Harper Board of Trustees Saturday.

Moats, 406 S. Wa-Pella Ave., Mount Prospect, was high vote getter with an unofficial total of 3,294 votes. Mrs. Weber won the second three-year term on the board with 3,028, about 400 more votes than her nearest competitor.

Moats and Mrs. Weber, 608 Bryce Tr., Roselle, led the field throughout the Harper district with Moats firmly in the lead from the time the first returns were reported.

James McKenna of Rolling Meadows ran a strong third in the race with 2,676 votes. Rance Buehler of Hoffman Estates received 2,209 and Warren Franczyk of Palatine polled 1,701.

Holy Family seeks state OK as paramedic substation

Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines, has applied to the state to become a certified substation in the Northwest suburban paramedic network.

The hospital applied for certification in the paramedic program in November but never received a response from the Illinois Dept. of Public Health, hospital officials said.

An application to participate in the program was resubmitted this month including support from officials in Wheeling and Des Plaines, which participate in the paramedic program.

The hospital has ordered telemetry equipment for installation in its emergency room and intensive care unit as part of remodeling work scheduled to be completed in these two facilities by early summer.

Hospital officials did not know the exact cost of the equipment, which will be used to monitor patients involved in accidents who are treated by paramedics. The work being done in the two sections is part of a $1 million expansion program started at the hospital in 1973.

JAMES McQUAID, a hospital spokesman, said the hospital hopes to get an answer from the state on its application before the emergency room and intensive care units are completed this summer.

McQuaid said officials in Wheeling and Des Plaines are anxious to have the hospital certified as a substation in the area because it will be closer for them than Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, which serves as the bay station for the paramedic network in the Northwest suburbs.

McQuaid said Holy Family never received an answer from the state after submitting its first application for certification in November. Hospital officials hope the installation of telemetry equipment in the emergency room will be an influencing factor in the state's consideration of the latest application.

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Bones dissolve with age

I'm 58 and female. About 40 years ago I had a slipped disc. Since then I have been in and out of traction numerous times.

Finally, that didn't help. Sometimes I couldn't walk, and the pain was unbearable. My doctor called in a bone specialist, and after X-rays and myelograms I was told I have advanced osteoporosis. The discs had degenerated and my ankles don't seem to want to hold me up. It seems as though everything is pulling every which way on me.

I'm so terribly tired and want to do so much, but just can't seem to push myself into doing anything. I can't find any comfortable way to sleep and get very little of that.

I was fitted for a brace, the corset-type. I am large busted, and it seemed to push everything up. It stopped the circulation, and it would make me very light-headed, so I had to stop wearing it. I wear nothing at all now, but I feel as if I need some kind of support.

I know nothing of this disease and had never heard of it before. This disease seems to be affecting every part of my body with the pain it causes and the falls I take. Am I supposed to force myself to walk? Is there any cure? Could all this trouble that I have be caused by the same thing?

Osteoporosis is simply progressive dissolving of your bones. The loss of calcium and bone structure causes them to break easily. Some of the vertebrae literally collapse in some cases. This may cause shortening of height and spinal deformities.

This is a common disease in our society, but it is usually not as advanced as the problems you describe. It commonly begins after the menopause in women and about 20 years later in men. That is getting close to the average life span of American men (age 67), so we don't see much of this in a severe form in men.

The dowager's hump in women is a sign of this problem. The bent and humped spine between the shoulders is a result of the degeneration of the spine.

All of the bones can be affected, but, of course, the weight-bearing parts, particularly the spine, suffer most. An early sign of the disease is loss of bone around the teeth that leads to loose teeth and pyorrhea. Although dental hygiene is very important, the basic problem here is not dental but the osteoporosis and its effects on all the bones in the body.

THE PAIN comes from pressure on nerves and muscle spasms caused by degeneration of the spine. It is important to be careful to avoid falls since the bones will break easily.

There are differences of opinion on what treatment is best, but the treatments available include giving hormones, calcium, vitamin D and fluoride. Different treatments use one or more of these agents, and some treatments are highly successful in arresting the disease.

You can help prevent this disease by eating a good diet with adequate calcium. That means the equivalent of one quart of fortified skim milk a day. Osteoporosis is five times as common in people on calcium-deficient diets.

Nicklaus the Master—again; Bulls, Hawks falter

Jack Nicklaus won a record fifth Masters golf championship Sunday by sinking a long birdie putt at the 18th hole, the same tough, little hole he birdied to win in Augusta for the first time a dozen years ago.

Tom Weiskopf, Nicklaus' long-time friend from Ohio, and Johnny Miller became frustrated co-runnersup when both missed makeable birdie putts on the final green. For Weiskopf, it was the fourth time in seven years he had finished second in Augusta.

It was one of the most dramatic finishes in history.

Nicklaus, adding the 15th major championship to his glittering collection of records, was in the clubhouse watching on television when Miller and Weiskopf struck their approach shots up the hill to the green on the 420-yard 18th hole.

Miller putted first, from about 15 feet and his putt slid just past the hole to the right.

Weiskopf, nine feet away, then missed — hitting it to the exact spot Miller had.

A stroke behind Weiskopf at the start of the day, Nicklaus produced a four-under-par 68 that gave him a winning total of 276, 12 under par.

Weiskopf had a 70 in the pressure of Sunday's final round, played in mild, sunny weather with a gentle breeze. Miller, who charged from 11 strokes behind with a 65 on Saturday, had a closing 68, the best two rounds in succession in the history of the Masters.

The biggest dramatics were saved for the homestretch holes. It was all decided at 16, a picturesque 190-yard hole over the water.

Weiskopf was standing on the 16th tee when Nicklaus sank a putt of about 35 feet for a birdie that tied him for the lead.

Jack, normally placid and unemotional, jumped into a victory jig and did a little dance around the green.

Weiskopf, made bogey on 16 and now Nicklaus had the lead by himself.

Jack made routine pars on the final two holes and when Weiskopf could do no better, the Masters was his — as it was in 1963, 1965, 1966 and 1972.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin became the fourth player in Masters history to shoot 64, the course record, and tied Bobby Nichols (a 69 shooter Sunday) for fourth place at 282.

JACK NICKLAUS winks at a fan as he signs autographs, wearing his fifth green Masters jacket.

Larry McNeill, hitting all 12 of his shots from the field, scored 28 points Sunday and led the Kansas City-Omaha Kings to a 102-85 nationally televised victory over the Chicago Bulls, evening their best-of-7 National Basketball Association playoff series at 1-1.

McNeill, who also made all six of his shots in the first game of the series in Chicago, canned two baskets in the first minute of the fourth period, turning an 83-73 lead into an 87-73 margin. Chicago was never able to close the gap to fewer than seven points.

The Kings led by four points at the end of the first and second quarters, then blew the game open with a 22-10 lull in the first 6:30 of the third period.

Nate Archibald, who tallied 24 points after being held to 12 in Chicago, scored 10 points in the third-quarter streak that moved a 55-51 halftime advantage to 77-61 with 5:30 remaining in the quarter.

Jimmy Walker, who scored 26 points, started that spurt with two buckets in the first 30 seconds of the last half.

The Kings' biggest lead was 99-81 with 7:04 left after McNeill's last bucket.

The Bulls, led by Bob Love's 23 points and Chet Walker's 20, finished with a flourish, but Scott Wedman's layup with 1:15 remaining closed out their hopes.

The series will resume in Chicago Wednesday night.

Black Hawks stumble in Buffalo

All three of Buffalo's forward lines scored during the first period and goalie Gerry Desjardins held the Chicago Black Hawks the rest of the way as the Sabres scored a 4-1 victory Sunday afternoon in the first game of their Stanley Cup quarterfinal series.

Danny Gare, the leading Sabre contender for rookie of the year honors, opened the scoring at 2:11 of the first when he beat Chicago goalie Tony Esposito from 20 feet on the short-right side in the Buffalo arena.

Gil Perreault of the "French Connection" line made it 2-0 at 14:35 and Fred Stanfield added the third Buffalo goal at 17:25.

After Ivan Boldirev picked up a breakaway goal at 14:22 of the second, the Sabre defense refused to yield.

Rick Martin added an insurance goal for the Sabres on a powerplay with 1:30 left in the game.

Esposito, who stopped all but four of 56 Boston Bruin shots Friday night to move the Black Hawks to the quarter-finals, was beaten cleanly on all four Buffalo goals.

Bonanza! Cubs win one, Sox two

Steve Stone, aided by three-run clusters in the third and fifth innings, gave up just four singles and walked only one Sunday in pitching the Chicago Cubs to a 7-0 win over Montreal and a sweep of the three-game series.

The Cubs scored three unearned runs in the third inning and added two in the fifth inning on a double by Bill Madlock, error and single by Jerry Morales. Morales' second single drove in the final run in the seventh.

The Chicago White Sox took a pair in California but had to struggle both times to return home with a 3-4 record.

Jorge Orta's one-out single drove in the winning run and Ken Henderson singled to drive in two more after California had committed three errors in the top of the 12th to hand the White Sox a 7-5 victory over the Angels in the first game of a doubleheader. The win went to Terry Forster, who relieved starter Jim Kaat in the seventh inning. Forster needed the help of Rich Gossage to get the final out in the 12th.

In the second game the White Sox jumped on Bill Singer early for five runs and then went silent on the attack. The Angels fought back but Gossage came on in the eighth in a tense windup to preserve a 5-4 victory.

Quade delivers in Knight win over Schaumburg

Mike Quade picked up right where he left off Saturday afternoon, keying a 7-6 Prospect victory over visiting Schaumburg to inaugurate the 1975 Mid-Suburban League baseball season.

The all-star basketball guard turned shortstop moved up onto the mound to snuff out a Saxon rally in the seventh after drilling a shot back to second in the sixth that brought home the decisive Knight runs.

Quade's bullet-hard grounder ricocheted into short right for a single to cap a three-run rally by the hosts. The scoring proved vital when Schaumburg put together their own uprising in the seventh triggered by Bob Connell's three-base blast.

Connell tripled to right with two away after Frank Lipko had led off the seventh with a single and pinch hitter Jeff Infusino later walked. Mike Cimura, Prospect's third pitcher of the game, then issued a couple more free passes and Quade came on with the bases loaded. He got the next batter to ground back to him and the game was quickly over.

The Saxons had erased one Knight lead earlier on another Connell hit. Prospect went up 2-0 in the third on a bases-loaded single to left by Paul Baranowski but Terry Zarbock walked to start off the fourth for the visitors and an error later Joe Cerrito singled him home.

Then Connell punched out the second of his three hits for the day and Cerrito zip-ped home to knot things at 2-2.

In the bottom of the fourth Jay Loos opened with a double and Laddie Janda followed him to the bases with a single. A passed ball brought Loos home and Janda tallied on Kirk Leblanc's sacrifice fly to center.

This 4-2 deficit was wiped out by Schaumburg too. In the sixth Scott Scholtz walked, Dave Groh singled and Connell walked to jam the sacks. After a force at the plate Bob Poplar also walked, forcing home one run, and the other scored on a passed ball.

That knotted the game at 4-4 and set the stage for Quade's hitting heroics. An error and three bases on balls produced one run and Quade knocked in the next two.

Tim Davies, who relieved Knight starter George Savage in the fourth and lasted into the seventh, was credited with the win. Connell, who came on to spell Saxon starter Ray Fairbanks in the sixth, sustained the loss.

Maine West in sweep; 2-hitter for Doroskin

Buddy Doroskin pitched a second game two-hitter after Rich Slapke and Al Mueller split hurling chores in the opener as Maine West swept a Saturday doubleheader from New Trier East, 4-2 and 5-2.

The Warriors remained unbeaten in three outings, having beaten Lane Tech earlier this spring.

Doroskin's two-hitter occurred during the 5-2 win. He yielded a single and double during the third inning as New Trier East moved to a 2-0 lead. That margin held up for New Trier until Maine struck back with three six inning runs and two more in the seventh.

Norm Hillner and Glen Watson started the first rally with singles. Hillner stole third and scored when Dan Henk's fly ball to left field was dropped.

Watson returned to the bench when he was caught stealing. But Steve Zaccarini and Slapke produced runs-batted-in as Maine commanded a 3-2 lead for Doroskin.

New Trier, the home club, couldn't score off Doroskin who began the vis-

ELK GROVE'S Karen Schneider in action during a first singles match at Wheeling. LeeAnn Paulsen won as Wheeling took the badminton meet, 6-1.

St. Viator takes pair in league tests at Marist

Southpaw Paul Kastner won with help from relief pitcher Mark Bonucchi, Tim Halas pitched a complete game victory and Pat Rooney launched a tremendous home run Saturday afternoon as St. Viator opened its much delayed baseball season with happy results.

The Lions, jumping right into their East Suburban Catholic Conference schedule, scored 4-2 and 9-3 victories at Marist. The home team helped Viator considerably with six errors in the final game.

Kastner sailed along in the opener with a 4-0 lead into Marist's fifth. Viator tallied twice in the third and fifth.

But then Kastner lost his magic. Marist scored once and had the bases loaded when Bonucchi finally relieved for coach Pat Mahoney's ballclub.

Another run scored, making it 4-2, when Bonucchi induced a ground ball. He then pitched consecutive strikeouts, ending the rally, and Marist did not threaten afterwards.

Extra base hits gave Kastner a 2-0 cushion after three. He began the surge with a one-out triple and scored on Jim Thompson's double. Then Rooney pre-viewed bigger things with an RBI triple. He was stranded due to strikeouts.

Mike Hermanson's single scored

Thompson to give Viator a 2-0 lead in the fifth. Consecutive walks to Jim Kane, Pat Bucaro and Bill Robin forced home Hermanson, Robin getting the RBI.

Kastner struck out six batters before giving way to Bonucchi who set down four men on strikes.

Halas, a hard throwing righthander, recorded merely one strikeout but was never in trouble during Viator's second game 9-3 romp.

The mighty Lions scored in all innings except the sixth.

It was the third inning when Rooney pounded a home run to right centerfield. The fence down the right field line reads 347 and it was only the third ball ever hit out of Marist's ballpark.

Rooney also had a first inning RBI when he sent Thompson across with Viator's first run.

Rooney (2), Mike Dooley (2), Kastner, Halas, Robin and Kevin Mulroy had second game runs-batted-in.

There were nine errors in the final game and one dozen for the doubleheader.

Arlington takes third in Maine South Invite

by CHARLIE DICKINSON
TENNIS EDITOR

Arlington got some stiff competition in the eight team Maine South Invitational Saturday as the Cardinals finished third behind New Trier East (11 points) and Deerfield (8 points) with seven points.

Arlington sent Paul Wei to bat in the No. 1 singles spot where he knocked off Maine South's Doug Bergeson in the first round 3-6, 6-5, 6-2.

Wei ran into Deerfield's Robby White in the second round, though, and fell 6-1, 5-6, 6-1. White went on to win the first singles title while New Trier East's Mark Schneider edged Wei 6-5 to win the consolation match.

Playing for Arlington at No. 2 was John Yeazel, who bumped Niles East's Tim Besser 6-3, 6-3 to advance. In the second round Yeazel was matched with Evanston's Larry Lubin, better known for his basketball expertise but quite a tennis player as he eliminated Yeazel (Continued on next Page)

Up-the-middle strength keys Meadows' bid

by JIM COOK

If high school baseball and building a skyscraper have anything in common, it might be that you must start at the bottom and make sure you're strong in the middle.

Rolling Meadows head coach Al Otto may be building both a high school baseball team and a skyscraper before the Mid-Suburban League baseball season is over.

"We're strong up the middle," Otto said of his club which is picked by the league's coaches and sportswriters to capture the South Division flag.

The foundation for Meadows' potential success lies in a veteran combination of speed, strength and depth in the vital positions of center field, shortstop, second base and catcher.

Slugging multi-sport star Steve Breitbell will handle the receiving duties after a sizzling campaign in 1974 that netted 16 hits, 11 runs scored, 13 runs batted in and a robust .372 batting average.

Tom Baugh, the Mustangs' slick-fielding second baseman last year, will shift to shortstop making room for Guy Tenuta to step into the keystone sack post. "From what I've seen so far, they appear to make a good combination defensively," Otto said.

Patrolling center field will be speedster Paul Marsilio who "can fly" according to his coach and boasts a strong and accurate arm from his quarterback position.

At third base, juniors Dave Bell and Joe Nunez are battling on equal terms for a spot in the opening lineup while lanky Scott Green will supply the Mustangs with a long-ball threat and play first base.

Exactly who will flank Marsilio in the outfield is still undetermined, but Otto has a talented crop to choose from in Dick Block, Bob Adameczyk (a transfer from Elk Grove), Mike Bramlett, Matt Klemp and Gary Haynes.

"We might be able to platoon out there against right and left-handed pitching," Otto said. "Whoever doesn't play will be valuable as a defensive replacement or in a pinch-hitting role."

Pitching may be the biggest question mark for Rolling Meadows. The team boasts a genuine ace in righthander Bob Schmidt who was unbeaten in five decisions as a junior. Schmidt, employed almost exclusively as a "stopper" in the bullpen, hurled a shade over 21 innings, yielding just four earned runs, fanning 26 and etching a team-leading 1.31 earned run average into the books.

"I don't know what our rotation will look like past Schmidt," Otto said of his fireballing righty. We may have to rely pretty heavily on juniors John Carbery and John Igrasek (both righties).

Otto described the South Division as being balanced from top to bottom and doesn't expect any team to step out appreciably.

But he also didn't discount the fact that Rolling Meadows may have a skyscraper at the end of the season.

In the Thursday Eve Openers league at Fair Lanes the bowlers went to the Hot Days with their 20th while the high team game was rolled by the Platyuses with 716. The weeks top bowlers were Angelo Pitcher 517-129, Father Soukup 509-201, Dee LaCaria 507-185, Darleen Davies 474, Julie Keegan 467, Dee Vaughn 466, Carol Ziwiak 465 and Dee Dwyer 463. Split conversions were made by Jean Brogan 5-7 and Lee Noranda 5-10.

Saxons' depth impressive in Lancer Relays victory

by ART MUGALIAN Track and Field Editor

"I couldn't have done it without my kids," said Schaumburg track coach Dennis Garber after his Saxons had won the Lancer Relays at Conant Saturday.

Though Garber was fishing for a laugh — and he got it — his disclaimer was most appropriate. The Saxon "kids" put it all together to capture 114 first-place points, edging out Lake Park (106) and defending champion Conant (85). Maine North was fourth (77), followed by Wheeling (67) and West Leyden (41).

Team depth is important in the Lancer Relays. Each event is treated as a relay, including the field events in which the performances of four athletes from each team are accumulated.

The Saxons won with depth, versatility, and the efforts of several trackmen who don't ordinarily do much scoring. While Garber sat and watched from the stands Saturday, his assistant coaches were directing a strong Schaumburg cast to victory.

Contributing to the triumph were runners like Roger Biver, Paul Rizzo, Carlos Sanchez, Bob Solik, Greg Nichols, and Bob Viviano. Guys like Mike Christy and Brad Crawford helped in the weight events. And Brian Felcho, a hurdler and triple jumper, managed a six-foot effort in the high jump.

It was performances like that, along with the achievements of pole vaulter Bruce Mahlig (14 feet), high jumper Scott Mielke (6-4), shotputter Dave Wodek (50-3/4), and runners Steve Pace, Mark Hoerich, Mike Palmer, Mike Hommowun, Steve Knudson and others, that won the meet.

Schaumburg won five of the events and finished second in five others. Mahlig's 14-0 vault was the margin of victory over Conant in the pole vault relay. Other Saxons wins came in the shot-put event, the four-mile relay, the 440-yard relay, and the low-hurdle shuttle.

Lake Park was a winner in five events, including the mile relay, and Conant took four firsts. Maine North captured two first places.

Coach Ron Gummerson's Conant Cougars won the discus relay behind a good effort from Rick Behringer, and they took firsts in the distance medley, the high jump, and the frosh-soph 880 relay.

ROLLING MEADOWS TOOK eight first places, including two each by Jim Evensen, Mike Scott, and Rick Sutton, as they beat Highland Park and Prospect in a triangular meet Saturday.

The Mustangs ran up 84 points to 55 for Highland Park and 38 for Prospect. Leading the point-getters were Scott, with wins in the 880 (2:05.3) and the mile (4:44), and Sutton, a sophomore, who was first in the 100 (10.7) and the 220 (23.8). Meadows' Dave Campbell won the two-mile (10:16) and Jeff Lund took the high jump (6-0).

It was Evensen, though, who set records at Rolling Meadows Saturday. The senior, who is competing in track for the first time this year, broke the school and track records for the discus with a toss of 153-9. He also won the shot put with a 47-4.

Prospect racked up three firsts, including a win in the 880-yard relay and victories for soph Brad Millar in the long jump (20-2 1/2) and Jim Wright in the 120-yard high hurdles (16.1). Millar was also second in the high jump and the triple jump.

Rolling Meadows piled up plenty of second-place points as Mike Mattels was runnerup in the high and the 100. Fred Koelan was second in the 440 (54.3), Jim Bluhm was second in the shot (46-9 1/4), as was Dave Thompson in the discus (137-7), and Campbell in the mile.

PLALATINE HOSTED a tough Maine

West squad Saturday and the duel went right down to the wire with the visiting Warriors eking out a close, 76-66 win.

Joe Paul and Scott Unger captured two victories apiece and the Warriors piled up 12 second places to offset 10 Palatine firsts. Paul flashed to victory in the mile (4:35.9) and the two-mile (9:11.4) and Unger took the 100 (10.7) and the 440 (52.7). Another fine performance was turned in by Maine's Randy Van Vleck who ripped off a 2:01.4 in the 880, just ahead of mate Jeff Brydges (2:01.5) and Pirate Jim Shaffer (2:02.5).

Palatine got a double win from Eugene Mollenkamp, who took the high hurdles (16.0) and the long jump (18-10). He was also second in the triple jump behind teammate Jim Popp, who won with a 39-1 effort.

Other Pirate winners were Kirk Morris in the 220 (24.3), Bill Pulak in the pole vault (12-0), Rich Falbo in the 330-low hurdles (41.4), Ken Reid in the high jump (6-0), and John Petko in the discus (112-2). Palatine also showed a good 3:33.8 in the mile relay, winning with Tom Bailey, Shaffer, Falbo, and Mark McCostlin.

HOFFMAN ESTATES GRABBED 12 first places at Buffalo Grove Saturday, downing the host Bison, 98-43. There were four double winners for the Hawks — Dave Paape in the high jump (5-8) and the pole vault (11-6), John Boreczak in the 440 (53.2) and the long jump (17-2 1/2), Bill DiPuma in the 100 (10.5) and the 220 (23.5), and Dave Lipko in the high hurdles (15.7) and the lows (42.0).

Other Hoffman firsts were taken by Sam Cox in the mile (4:42), Ed Elliott in the 880 (2:01.5), Mike Brewka in the triple jump (38-2), and the 44-relay team.

Larry Smolinsky of Buffalo Grove captured the shot put (41-7) and the discus (124-9), and the Bison also won the 880 relay. Buffalo Grove's Randy Lane provided his team's top effort by turning in his best two-mile time ever (9:27:00.4) in defeating Cox of Hoffman.

itor's seventh by reaching base on a pitcher's error. After Bill Makuch singled, Hillner rapped into an infield double play, erasing everyone except Doroskin.

Watson, ever the runner, singled home Doroskin, making it 4-2, then picked up a stolen base before Henk drove him across with the game's final score.

Slapko and Mueller went four innings apiece in the opener, Mueller earning the victory when his eighth inning single sent across Makuch with the eventual winning run.

It was a 2-2 deadlock through regulation seven innings. New Trier East scored single runs off starter Slapko in the first and fourth. Maine held a brief 1-0 lead when Watson's single sent across Mike Kelley who had also hit safely.

But West trailed, 2-1, into the seventh. Matt Serna singled and stole second, moved up on Mueller's sacrifice and tied the game when Bob Nelson singled him across.

Makuch began the eighth with a single and was standing on second when Zuccarini sacrificed. Mueller, up with two men on base after Serna walked, slapped a single to score Makuch for 3-2.

Nelson reached on an error, loading the bags, before Kelley's fielders choice scored Serna with the final run.

Kelley, Watson and Zuccarini had two hits apiece in the opener. Zuccarini and Watson included doubles among their total.

6-3, 5-0, 6-1. Yearzel lost the third-place match to Homewood-Flossmoor's Doug Cohen 6-0.

John Walker, Arlington's No. 3 singles player, stopped Steve Pales of Niles East 6-3, 6-4 and advanced to the finals with a 6-3, 6-4 win over Bruce Berman of Evanston.

In the finals, against Deerfield's Cort Lewis, he won handily 6-0, 6-4.

Arlington's No. 1 doubles team of Luke Weeg and Pete Burkhardt got through their first round match against the New Trier West entry 6-1, 6-3 but stumbled in the second round to Homewood-Flossmoor 6-3, 6-1.

The No. 2 pairing of Carey Howes and Todd Van Gorp got exactly as far, winning their first round match 6-4, 6-2 but losing to New Trier East in the second.

In Mid-Suburban League play the Fremd Vikings posted a pair of dual meet victories.

Elk Grove fell to the Vikes 4-1 as the Greens picked up their only point at No. 1 singles as Bill Siebold turned back Christ Harris 6-4, 6-3.

Fremd topped Buffalo Grove by an identical 4-1 score as the Bison No. 2 doubles team of George Bastable and Mike Ursin averted a shutout with a 7-6, 6-2 decision.

Palatine took a 4-0 lead on Schaumburg before the No. 3 singles match was postponed with the score locked at one set apiece. The meet will be finished at a later date.

Dave Morganroth and Tracy Madon hooked up in a ferocious No. 1 singles match which Palatine's Morganroth took 4-6, 7-6, 7-6.

Maine East's Norm Peterson remained unbeaten at No. 2 singles with a 6-4, 6-2 win over New Trier West's Mark Karmin. Jim Harkensee picked up another point for the Demons at No. 3 singles but New Trier grabbed both doubles matches and a 3-2 victory.

Stowe-Kunzweiler (P) over Kron-Puig 6-1, 6-1. Day-Kohl (P) over Lefebvre-Zeller

Ready for this? Names to remember

Blue Moon Odom... Catfish Hunter... Sudden Sam McDowell. We seldom think twice when going over the baseball rosters, but a number of today's players have extremely unusual nicknames. It's nothing new either. Remember Vinegar Bend Mizell, or Phil (The Vulture) Regan? Nearly all the past greats have picked up some sort of tag, earned or not. The Bambino, Joltin' Joe, Stan the Man, Goose Goslin, Ducky Medwick.

Since it's that time of the year again, I thought it might be interesting and fun to put together an all-star lineup of obscure nicknames. To my astonishment, after consulting the Baseball Encyclopedia, there is a virtual army's worth of players — major leaguers no less or the past century — who have acquired rather unusual labels.

How about Maurice (Flash) Archdeacon? He was a .333 hitter for the White Sox back in the '20s. Or Abraham Lincoln (Sweetbread) Bailey? He was a pitcher with the Cubs in the teens who just may have faced the renowned (?) Brooklyn twirler Hallege Leonidas (Redskin) Aitchison.

There were hundreds of "Lefties" and nearly as many "Reds and Banos." But only one each of the following: Joe (Wagon Tongue) Adkins, Henry Irvan (Bow Wow) Art, Herman (Buster) Armbruster, Eldon LeRoy (Big Six) Auker, Joe (The Immortal) Azuc, Noble Winfield (Old Pard) Ballou, Ed (Scrap Iron) Beecher, Carroll Wayne (Footsie) Bejarilli, Bill (Ding Dong) Bell, Emil (Bill Billy) Blidill, Max (Camera Eye) Bishop, Clarence Waldo (Climax) Blethan, Louis Rogers (The Gladiator) Browning.

Pearce Nugel (What's The Use) Chiles, Cuckoo (Seacup) Christiansen, Larry (Symphony) Claffone, Dain Elmer (Ding-a-Ling) Clay, Pat (Whoops) Creedon, Clement John (Steamboat) Dreisever, Erv (Four Sack) Dusk, Norman Arthur (The Tabasco Kid) Elberfeld, Uel (Poss) Eubanks, Robert V. (Death to Flying Things) Ferguson, Fred (Moonlight Ace) Fussell, Pud (The Little Steam Engine) Galvin, Theodore Lee (Snore) Goulait, Burleigh Arland (O' Stubblebeard) Grimes, Zerkiah Zequiel (Rip) Hagerman, Arvel Odell (Bad News) Hale.

William Homer (Blue Sleeve) Harper, Franklin Witman (Blimp) Hayes, Charlie (Eagle Eye) Hemphill, George (Three Star) Hennessey, Bill (Smoke) Herring, Walter Henry (Union Man) Holke, Joe

Recognize any of them? How about Calvin Coolidge Julius Caesar Tuska-homa (Buster) McElch? More fans believe he has the longest name on record but before Cal was Christian Frederick Albert John Henry David (Rhuno) Betzel? He was an infielder-outfielder with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1911-18.

Just the handle Brown produces a whole treasure of nicknames. There were Glass Arm Eddie Brown, Boardwalk Brown, Buster Brown, Stub Brown, Curly Brown, Drummond Brown, Gates Brown, Jophery Brown, Jumbo Brown, Mace Brown, Glimpy Brown, Downtown Brown, Red Brown, Blower Brown, Buckshot Brown, California Brown, Shook Brown and who could ever forget Mordecai Peter Centennial (Three Finger) Brown who was also known as Miner Brown. If you're still with me, here's a grand finale of name-calling. These are actual athletes who have traipsed across the finest diamonds in the country and brushed elbows with the all-time greats:

Badminton chase nears wire with Prospect in lead

Only three more dates remain on the Mid-Suburban Conference badminton schedule, but each one will help decide which girls' team will go into the league meet as the team to beat. The top three teams will be meeting each other in what works out to a round robin finish.

Prospect, presently leading Arlington 30-27 in the point standings, will take on third-place Rolling Meadows Tuesday afternoon, beginning at 4:30 on the Mustangs' courts. Other action will have Arlington at Forest View, Palatine at Buffalo Grove, Hersey at Schaumburg, Elk Grove at Fremd, Wheeling at Conant and Hoffman Estates with a bye.

In last Thursday's action, Prospect posted a 7-0 victory over Palatine while second-place Arlington was winning 5-2 over Wheeling. Meadows kept pace with the front-running Knights, taking a 7-0 decision over Fremd.

Two teams notched 6-1 victories — Forest View over Elk Grove and Hoffman Estates over Conant. Hersey stopped Buffalo Grove, 5-2, and Schaumburg defeated Sacred Heart, 5-2.

The standings look like this — Prospect 30, Arlington 27, Rolling Meadows 26, Hoffman Estates and Forest View 23, Hersey 19, Schaumburg 18, Wheeling and Buffalo Grove 12, Fremd 7, Palatine and Elk Grove 5 and Conant 4.

Hoffman Estates 6, Conant 1 Donding (H) over Nappone 11-2, 11-4 Wilkovec (H) over Vreha 11-2, 11-4 Leonard (H) over Graska 11-7, 11-3 Hill-Norton (H) over Dietz-Olsen 15-9, 9-15, 15-3 Hill-McGibbon (H) over Hillman-Pitchkin 15-7, 15-5 Barry-Busse (C) over Nappone-Winkels 9-15.

Harper netmen handle Triton

Harper dropped the No. 1 singles match of their meet with Triton then recovered to salvage a 4-3 victory.

Playing pro sets, with the first player to win 10 games winning the match, Triton's Stan Wawro stopped Tom Lefebvre 10-6 for the Trojans' first point.

Harper's next two singles matches, though, turned out differently with David Mack taking the No. 2 decision 10-4 and Curt Anderson the No. 3, 10-7.

Triton tied up the meet with a No. 4 singles victory, Harper's Roger Lockwood taking it on the chin to David Schawass 10-3.

Lefebvre and Mack hooked up to take the first doubles match but Triton fought back and beat Anderson and Mike Pasagilla 10-6 to send the meet into the final doubles match for a decision.

Lockwood and Todd Reese convincingly took the winning point with a 10-3 triumph over David Schawass and Steve Spector.

Harper girls open season with win

The Harper girls' tennis team opened their 1975 season with a 7-2 victory over Joliet Junior College Tuesday.

They will resume their season today against Kishwaukee.

Harper jumped on the Joliet team with victories in four of the first five singles matches, paced by No. 1 Sue Kelly, who handled her opponent 1-6, 6-0, 6-4.

The three Harper doubles teams also posted convincing victories, lead by Dianne DeWitt and Amy Redeen at No. 1, who triumphed 6-0, 6-1.

Kelly (H) won 1-6, 6-0, 6-4. Zyrkowski (H) won 6-2, 3-6, 6-2. Hussissian (H) lost 3-6, 3-6. Aldana (H) won 6-0, 6-4. Hay (H) won 6-1, 6-2. McCormick (H) lost 1-6, 4-6.

DeWitt-Redeen (H) won 6-0, 6-1. Gilmore-Hopkins (H) won 6-1, 6-2. Adamczyk-Potter (H) won 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

Unique play on first trick

Jim: "You are an actuary. How about some articles that show how to take out insurance against any and all bad breaks?"

Oswald: "Six clubs is a pretty good contract for North and South. Five clubs which makes easily is much better than three notrump, but somehow or other North made the decision to let South play in three notrump."

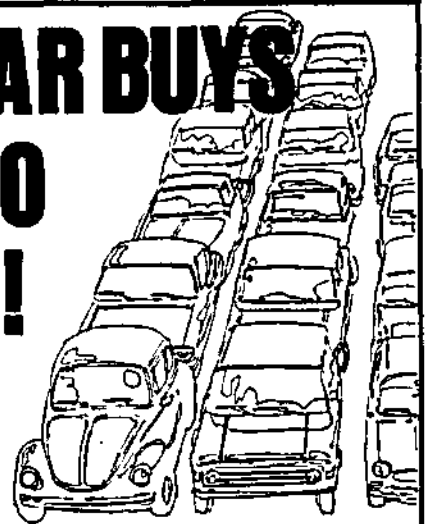

Jim: "West opened the queen of diamonds and South studied the hand for some time. Finally he came up with an insurance play to guarantee his contract with two overtricks. He carefully played dummy's king of diamonds on West's queen and then plunked his ace of diamonds on dummy's king."

Oswald: "He had seen the need for two entries to his own hand and his play insured them. He was now able to knock out East's ace of clubs and get back to his hand with a diamond to run the rest of the club suit."

Jim: "If you want to torture yourself, just try to bring home six clubs against the lead of a spade, a heart or the queen or jack of diamonds. It will be torture because you will fall one trick short."

Reapportionment plan before General Assembly

Mikva may lose part of 10th District

by LYNN ASINOF

Des Plaines residents will find themselves in a new Congressional district and no longer represented by U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, if the Illinois General Assembly approves a plan filed Saturday with the Illinois Senate.

The reapportionment plan would switch Des Plaines and Park Ridge from Mikva's 10th District to the 12th District now represented by Republican U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane.

Under the reapportionment plan, the 10th District would be divided into four pieces and Mikva would be mapped into a district now represented by U.S. Rep. Sidney H. Yates, D-9th.

MIKVA SUNDAY SAID the plan was a personal attack on him by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley for failing to endorse Daley in his bid for reelection.

"I find it incredible that so much effort would go into a petulant and piquish plan to get even," Mikva said. "I can think of no other reason why Democrats would be interested in removing a suburban Democratic voice from Congress. Settling up a map sponsored by Democrats which puts two sitting Democrats together in the same district can have no other purpose."

Mikva was once before mapped out of his district when the 1971 reapportionment erased the old 2nd District in Chicago's Hyde Park neighborhood, prompting Mikva to move to the North Shore.

"The Democrats are being so crass about trying to build a party out in the suburbs," Mikva said, charging that the redistricting is designed to bring independent areas under machine control. Evanston, Lincolnwood and Skokie are attached to Chicago districts under the proposed plan.

MIKVA CHARGED that the remapping would prevent the cultivation of a strong Democratic voice in the more marginal areas of the 10th District. He said these areas are being thrown to the Republican strongholds.

"I think the legislature, which has done so much of late to create its own independence from city hall domination, will understand what this map is all about," Mikva said. "I think they will bury it."

Mikva said he has started contacting members of the legislature to convince them to defeat the plan. "They have been very supportive," Mikva said.

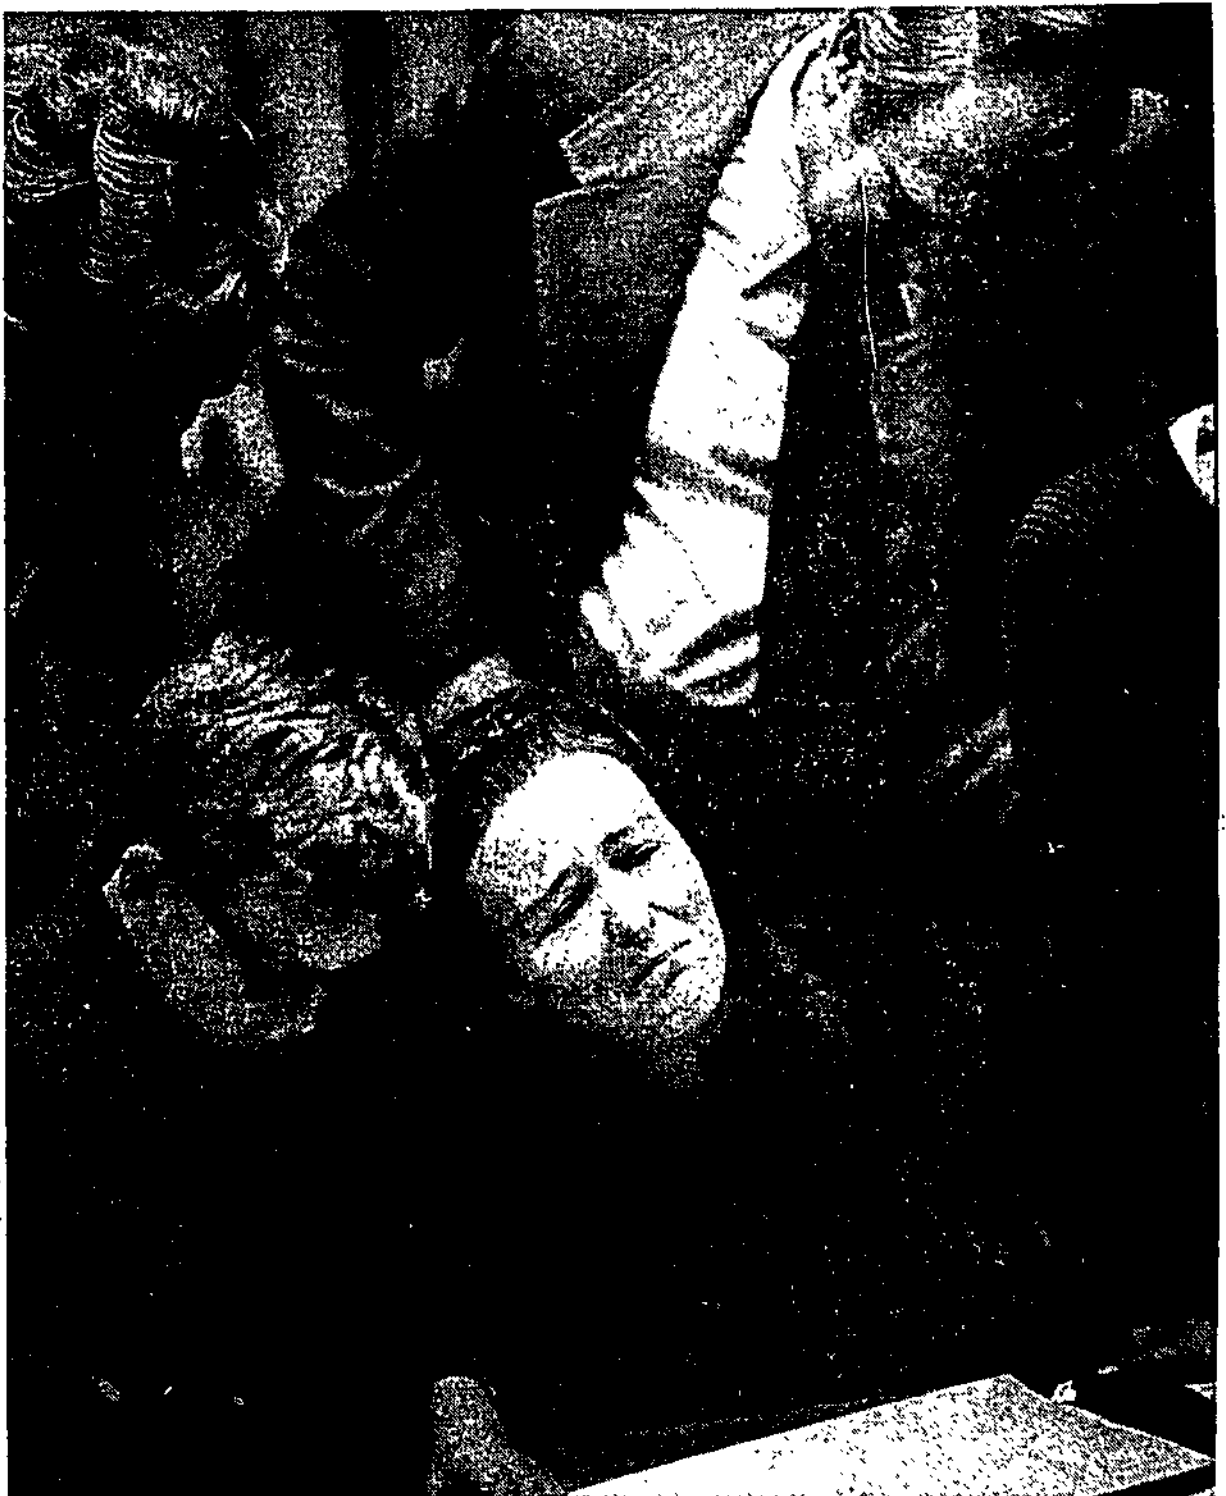

If the plan is not approved, Mikva said he is confident Gov. Daniel Walker will veto the reapportionment.

When asked if he would run against Yates if the plan were approved, Mikva declined to answer. "That's a bridge that I do not think is going to get built so I'm not going to cross it," he said.

THE PLAN WOULD replace the present reapportionment adopted by court order in 1971 after the legislature deadlocked on a proposed map drawn up by former House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest.

Mikva admitted there was a need for reapportionment, but said he wanted to go on serving the 10th District as it exists today.

"This one is a clincher," he said of the plan. "This was thought up in spleen and malice and really doesn't even achieve a partisan purpose."

YOU COULDN'T tell by the expression on her face, but Lynne Helvie won a three-year term on the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education in Saturday's election. Mrs. Helvie led votegetters with 477 in a light turnout. Also elected were Barbara Somogyi and Gerald Smiley. Story on Page 5.

Deckowitz, Lessin win

Dist. 63 schools seats

Opposition to the East Maine Dist. 63 administration center brought victory to newcomers Philip Deckowitz and Howard Lessin in the heated East Maine Board of Education election.

Incumbent Jerome Abern, who voted for the administration center, trailed the winners by more than 400 votes. Nearly 1,600 turned out for the election with Deckowitz receiving 946 votes; Lessin, 833; Ann Sostrin, 646; and Abern, 418.

Abern, a board member for 6½ years, said he is "not bitter" about the election and would have "some things to say" at the Wednesday night meeting of the board.

Deckowitz said he was "very happy with the outcome of the election" and that the issue of the administration center will probably be reopened. Lessin said the election "reflected voter opinion on the lack of a referendum" on the center.

Both criticized the board's decision to build the administration center during their campaigns. Deckowitz said the board never "justified the educational Deckowitz, 35, of 9000 Terrace Pl., Des Plaines, is manager of Computer Systems Group. He has a bachelor's degree in general engineering from the University of Illinois and a master's degree from Loyola University. He formerly was a member of the Rogers School Community Council.

Lessin, 36, of 2644 W. Harrison, Glenview, is a guidance counselor for the Chicago Board of Education. He has been a member of the Dist. 63 PTA since 1972 and served on the East Maine Township General Caucus since 1972.

Both were elected to three-year terms.

Tom Heckenbach doesn't worry about 'Future Shock' — as long as he can live comfortably 'in the past'

by BOB GALLAS

The ring of the alarm goes unheard. Tom Heckenbach is long out of bed, roused at first light by his rooster crowing in back of his home in Palatine Township.

By the dim, dawn light, Heckenbach's thin, bespectacled figure looks older than his 31 years as he moves about checking a yard full of animals, setting a scene reminiscent of 100 years ago.

Clad in overalls, corncob pipe jutting from his fiery red beard, he is alone in a world tailor-made to suit himself.

Some call his lifestyle eccentric, but he calls it "comfortable."

Rosen, Demel, Pugliese take Dist. 26

by LINDA PUNCH

Incumbents Leora Rosen and Lloyd Demel and newcomer Edward Pugliese were victorious in the hotly contested school board election in River Trails Dist. 26. Pugliese won the third seat by a two-vote margin.

School officials termed Saturday's turnout of 645 voters as high, noting that the 1974 election attracted only 210 voters. Mrs. Rosen received 468 votes; Demel, 437; Pugliese, 310; Peggy Golden, 308, and Richard Foster, 277.

Mrs. Rosen said she was "very gratified by the turnout. I think it's a tribute to all the candidates that so many people came out to vote. I'm happy to be able to continue to serve on the board."

"IT'S GOOD to feel people will endorse an attitude of cooperation within the district. With this kind of turnout, it's obvious the voters are interested in the needs of the district," Demel said.

Pugliese said he is "very happy and ready to do the job. I have a lot of homework to do before the next board meeting."

Mrs. Rosen, 1803 Apache Ln., Mount Prospect, is a former high school biology teacher and was a member of the Parkview Homeowners' Assn. She was elected to the board in April 1972.

Demel, 44, of 13 Leon Ln., Prospect Heights, was elected to the school board in April 1972. He served as board president from April 1973 to April 1974 and is the district's representative to the Northwest Educational Cooperative. He is a marketing development manager for Universal Oil Products.

PUGLIESE, 1832 Silka Ln., Mount Prospect, is a teacher of drivers' education and physical education at Niles East High School. He formerly taught at Maine East High School and schools in Berkeley and Northlake.

All three candidates were elected to three-year terms.

Mrs. Golden, who lost by only two votes, said "I feel bad but I have contributions to make in other ways. I will still be first vice president in my PTA and I plan to continue my board watching."

4 newcomers elected in Dists. 62, 207

Four newcomers were elected to boards of education in Des Plaines Dist. 62 and High School Dist. 207 in uncontested elections Saturday.

Elected to the Dist. 62 board were James B. Blue, 1771 Sherwood Rd., and Ann Schillmoeller, 209 Cornell Ave. New board members in Dist. 207 are William J. Schaeffe, 1982 Birch St., and Charlotte Storer, 1604 Wicke St.

Voter turnout was lower than last year with only 477 people going to the polls in Dist. 62. The hotly contested 1974 election attracted more than 2,170 voters.

Blue, 33, a United Airlines pilot, has lived in Des Plaines since December 1971. A graduate of Iowa State University in Ames, he has a degree in aeronautical engineering. He is a member of the Air Line Pilots' Assn., chairman of the North School PTA safety committee and vice president of the Hawthorne Lane Civic Assn.

Mrs. Schillmoeller, 41, a former teacher, has lived in Des Plaines since 1939. She graduated from Beloit College in 1935. She is a member of the PTA, the American Assn. of University Women, Girl Scouts and the Malmo West Music Boosters.

Schaeffe, 41, a lawyer, has been a resident of Des Plaines since 1960. He attended Northwestern University and Chicago Kent College of Law and has a bachelor's degree in political science. He is a member of the Illinois and American Bar associations.

Mrs. Storer, 45, is employed part-time. She has lived in Des Plaines since 1960. A graduate of the University of Illinois, she was a member of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She is a member of the League of Women Voters and the AAUW.

Smiley, Helvie, Somogyi winners in Dist. 59

Lynne Helvie and Barbara Somogyi won three-year terms on the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education Saturday, unseating an incumbent, in extremely light voter turnout.

Only 752 persons voted in the election, which also saw incumbent Board Pres. Gerald Smiley win reelection to a one-year term. Smiley was unopposed.

In the race for the three-year term, Mrs. Helvie, 1150 Leicester Rd., Elk Grove Village, was the top vote getter with an unofficial total of 477. Mrs. Somogyi, 310 Dorchester Ln., Elk Grove Village, received 392 votes.

Failing to retain her seat was Joan Cashman, who received 277 votes. Mrs. Cashman, 956 Brantwood, Elk Grove Village, was named to the board in January to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Charles Knaup.

Also defeated was Curtis McKim, 159 W. Brantwood, who received 258 votes.

Mrs. Helvie, director of the Elk Grove Village Youth Employment Service, said she had no specific plans for her role as a board member. "I think things are pretty well planned out what we have to do," she said referring to the selection of a new superintendent and further investigation of a fall tax referendum.

"I'm ready to start learning," said Mrs. Somogyi, president of the Byrd School PTO. "There's a job to be done. I'm sure I'll have lots of homework to do to be a capable, active and helpful board member."

Incumbents win in High School Dist. 214

Incumbents Gene Artemenko and Arthur Aronson breezed to victory in the High School Dist. 214 Board of Education race, overcoming a challenge by Elk Grove Village resident Virginia Titsworth.

Artemenko led all vote getters with 2,474 votes in the low key race that had few issues. Aronson received 2,358 votes compared to Mrs. Titsworth's 1,624.

"I'm pleased and looking forward to another term on the board," said Artemenko, who has served on the board for four years.

"We'll have to pay close attention to the citizens' committee," he said. "The issue won't go away; we'll have to face it."

ARTEMENKO WAS referring to a citizens' committee recommendation calling for about $24 million in improvements and additions to district schools. The board has not made a decision on the proposal which has drawn some heat from critics.

Aronson has been on the board since 1962.

Mrs. Titsworth won none of the district's 22 precincts, but topped Aronson in the Grove Junior High School area of Elk Grove Village and narrowly beat him in her home district of Lovely Junior High School, Elk Grove Village, where she trailed Artemenko of Des Plaines, by 48 votes.

Mrs. Titsworth topped Artemenko in only one precinct, the Jack London Junior High School area in Wheeling.

by LYNN ASINOFF
U.S. Rep. Phillip M. Crane, R-12th, will no longer represent Wheeling Township in Washington, D.C. if plans for redistricting the sprawling 10th and 12th Illinois Congressional districts go forward. If the Illinois General Assembly passes a plan submitted Saturday, Crane's district will move east into Des Plaines and Wheeling Township will be in U.S. Rep. Robert McClory's district.

The reapportionment plan would create a new district composed of Wheeling, Northfield and New Trier townships, Morton Grove, Niles and sections of Lake County. This would put McClory, R-13th, in a district composed of parts of the 10th, 12th and 13th districts.

A spokesman for Crane Sunday said the Congressman had not had a chance to study the proposed redistricting map, but would be particularly upset with the loss of Wheeling Township, which he called "the heart" of the 12th district.

"I think any change in the district line is something that he would be very disappointed with, particularly Wheeling Township," the spokesman said, noting that Crane has represented Wheeling Township since first elected.

U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, Sunday charged the redistricting plan was a scheme by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to exert more control over the suburban Democratic Party.

Mikva, who would be mapped into a district now represented by U.S. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-9th, charged that the independent areas were being linked to Chicago-dominated districts. He said marginal areas of the 10th District where Democrats could have been cultivated were being thrown back to the Republican strongholds.

The plan, filed Saturday by Senate Pres. Cecil A. Partee, attaches Des Plaines and Park Ridge to Crane's 12th District. They are now represented by Mikva. Evanston, Mikva's home, is joined with Yates' 9th District to the south in Chicago.

Mikva was once before mapped out of his district when the 1971 reapportionment erased the old 2nd District on the South Side of Chicago.

"THIS ONE IS A clunker," Mikva said of the proposed reapportionment plan. "This was thought up in spleen and malice and really doesn't even achieve a partisan purpose."

Mikva said the plan was "a petulant and piquish plan to get even" for the fact that he failed to endorse Daley in his bid for reelection.

"I think the legislature, which has done so much of late to create its own independence from city hall domination, will understand what this map is all about," Mikva said. "I think they will bury it."

2 incumbents keep Dist. 21 school seats

Incumbents Lillian Stiller and Susan Rose were elected Saturday to three-year terms on the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 Board of Education.

Mrs. Stiller and Mrs. Rose were challenged by James DeNoma and Allan Blattner.

According to unofficial tallies, Mrs. Stiller received 391 votes; Mrs. Rose, 370; DeNoma, 207; and Blattner, 135.

MRS. STILLER, 603 S. Wayne Pl., Wheeling, said the low voter turnout "is a vote of confidence for the whole district. Maybe a low turnout shows people are satisfied with the district." Mrs. Rose, 174 Timber Hill Rd., Buffalo Grove, also said the voter turnout showed people do not have complaints with the way the district is running.

About 1,100 votes were cast this year as compared with 1,521 last year when there also were four candidates running for two three-year posts.

Mrs. Stiller said she looks forward to her fourth term on the board and will be following the budget and curriculum plans in the district. She said she plans to use the district's more secure financial base to work on curriculum improvements. The district this year had a surplus for the first time.

MRS. ROSE, who was appointed to the board in August, said she is "very happy and was proud of the candidates we had. I feel we had very qualified candidates."

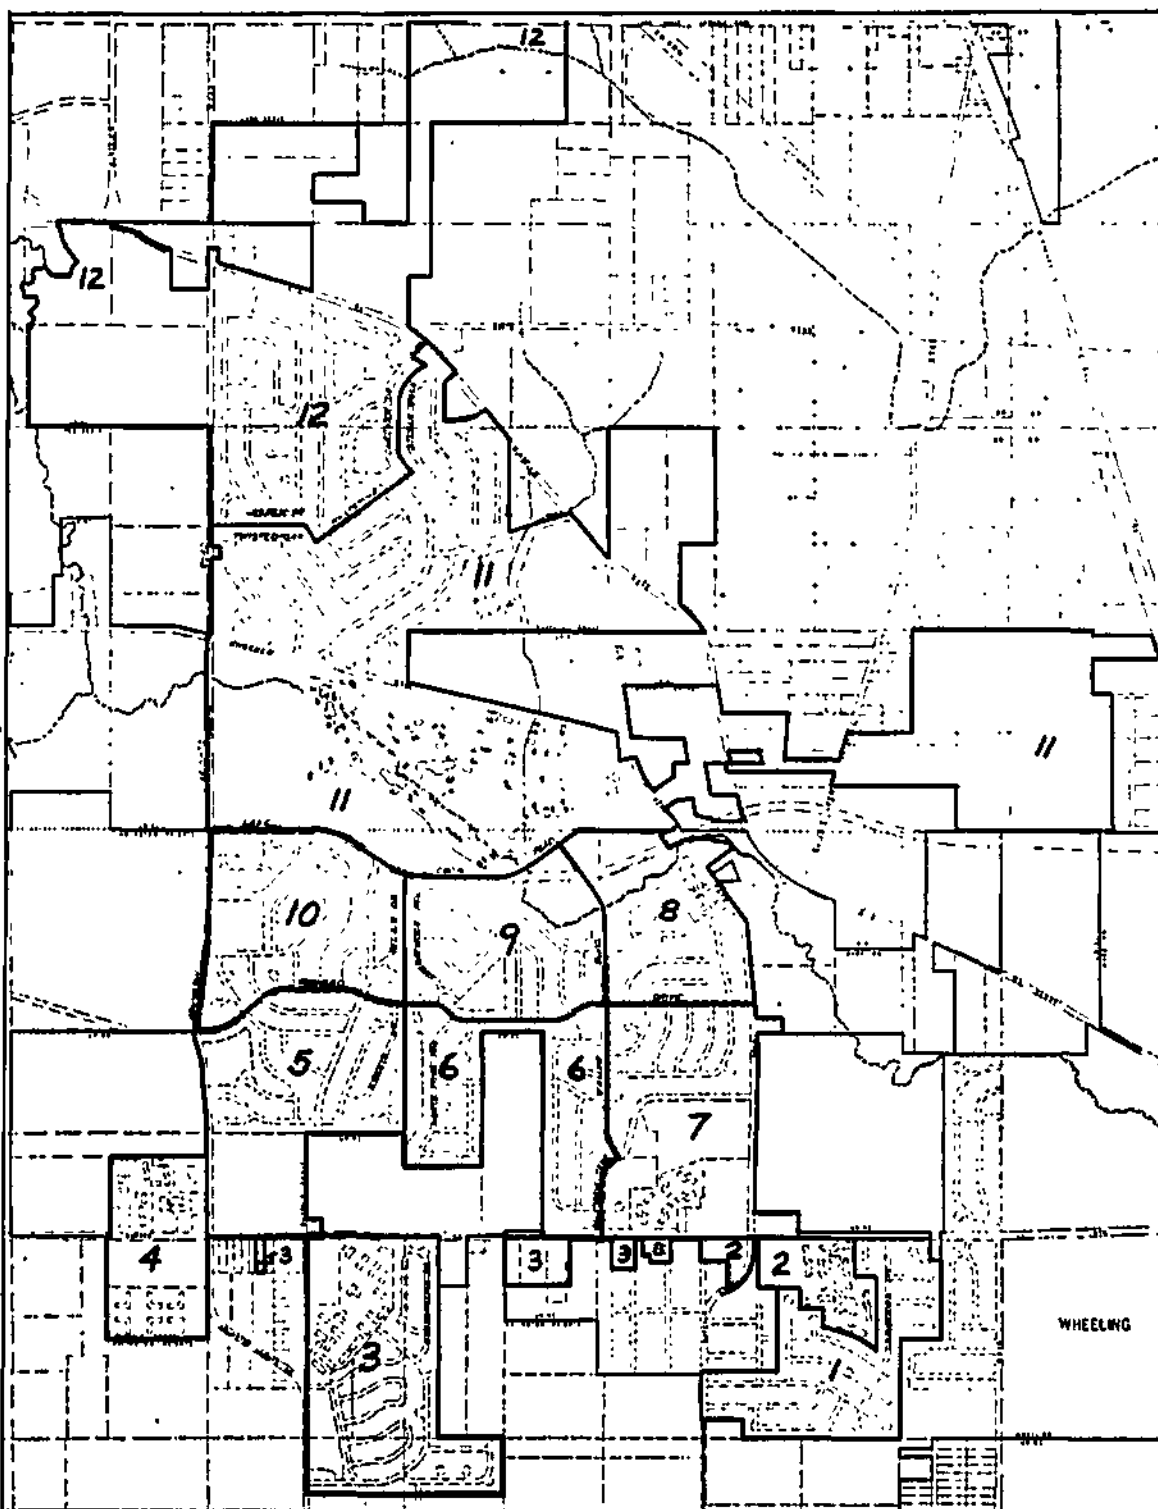

She said she is interested in looking at the reading and math programs in the district and through her campaign has found interest in a hot lunch program and foreign language in the elementary schools.

Mrs. Rose said she also wants to inform citizens about legislation that will affect the schools so that they can write supporting letters.

'Arsenic, Old Lace' at Buffalo Grove High

Two sweet old ladies with a penchant for poison provide the comedy in the classic "Arsenic and Old Lace," to be presented by Buffalo Grove High School students April 25 and 26 at the school, 1100 W. Dundee Rd.

Tickets for the performances will be $1.50 at the door. Both performances will start at 8 p.m.

Here's where to vote in Tuesday's Buffalo Grove election.

6,800 could cast ballots here Tuesday

Some 6,800 Buffalo Grove residents are registered to vote Tuesday when a village president, three trustees and a clerk will be elected.

An election headquarters will be set up in the board chambers of the village hall where voting returns will be posted. Persons also may call the village hall for the latest election results. The village hall telephone number is 537-8984.

Buffalo Grove will have 12 voting precincts this year:

- Prec. 1: Cambridge condominium sales office, 221 E. Dundee Rd.
- Prec. 2: Cambridge on the Lake pavilion, 125 Lake Blvd.
- Prec. 3: Washington Irving School lobby, 1250 Radcliffe Rd.
- Prec. 4: Villa Verde clubhouse, 7 Villa Verde Dr.
- Prec. 5: Longfellow School gym, 501 Arlington Heights Rd.
- Prec. 6 and 9: Alcott School gym, 530 Bernard Dr.
- Prec. 7: Joyce Kilmer School, 655 Golfview Terr.
- Prec. 8: Village hall, 50 Raupp Blvd.
- Prec. 10: Cooper Junior High School, 1050 W. Plum Grove Circle.
- Prec. 11: Willow Stream park, on Farrington Drive.
- Prec. 12: Willow Grove School, 777 Checker Dr. Precincts 11 and 12 are for Lake County voters.

Park district election ballots can be cast in the same polling places as for the village election but park district residents living in the unincorporated Buffalo Grove Highlands area should vote at Precinct 1.

Residents in the Dun-Lo Highlands area of the district can vote at Precinct 3, while in Lake County, residents south of Busch Road can vote in the Precinct 11 polling place. North of Busch Road, park district ballots can be cast in Precinct 12.

Tom Heckenbach doesn't worry about 'Future Shock'—as long as he can live comfortably 'in the past'

by BOB GALLAS

The ring of the alarm goes unheard. Tom Heckenbach is long out of bed, roused at first light by his rooster crowing in back of his home in Palatine Township.

By the dim, dawn light, Heckenbach's thin, bespectacled figure looks older than his 31 years as he moves about checking a yard full of animals, setting a scene reminiscent of 100 years ago.

Clad in overalls, corn-cob pipe jutting from his fiery red beard, he is alone in a world tailor-made to suit himself.

Some call his lifestyle eccentric, but he calls it "comfortable."

WHIP, WRP debate, vow to make changes

by JOE FRANZ

The Wheeling Representative Party (WRP) and the Wheeling Improvement Party (WHIP) pledged that if they are elected Tuesday they will change Wheeling for the better.

The candidates, in a debate Friday night, discussed planning, ethics, the structure of village government, the police department and even questioned how each others slates were formed. Although the WHIP and WRP candidates agreed on some issues, there were some differences of opinion.

The WHIP slate consists of Gilbert J. Monoson, Charles M. Kerr, John C. Cole and Otis L. Hedlund. WRP has slated Roger A. Powers, Neil H. Brant, Robert E. Clark and Kenneth R. Brady.

THE WHEELING Community Party (COM-PAR) did not participate in the debate. The COM-PAR slate consists of William A. Rogers and Trustees John W. Koeppe, Albert W. Lang and Edward A. Berger.

Cole started off the debate by asking about rumors that the WRP slate was "hand picked" by Trustee William Hein. Cole defended WHIP's procedure for choosing candidates, saying they were chosen by the entire membership after a nominating committee interviewed about 30 persons.

Brant said Hein has been close to the WRP campaign, but denied that the trustee selected the slate.

John C. Cole

"Mr. Hein has advised us as far as the campaign is concerned," Brant said. "None of us has ever run for public office before and he is basically our counselor. But he did not pick the candidates."

BRANT CHARGED that WHIP incorrectly has linked WRP candidates to convicted Wheeling political boss James Stavros, who is serving a four-year sentence in a federal prison for his part in a local builder shakedown scandal.

"The entire thrust of the whole WHIP campaign is to tie a Stavros can to the tail of its opposition," Brant said.

Powers said he thinks too much time has been spent in the campaign on corruption and not enough spent on a future course of action.

"To dwell on what has happened yesterday is not proper," Powers said. "It happened; we don't condone it, but it's history. Let's work on making the village better in the future."

Cole, however, countered, saying it is "foolish, idiotic and insane" to not take into account what has happened in Wheeling in the past.

"THE WHO IGNORES history is subject to the same thing again," Cole said. "We have to consider the past so we can put in safeguards to make sure it doesn't happen again."

Both parties said the village is in need of better planning to guide future development and that there has been too much apartment development in recent years.

Clark said rising land, labor and material costs are primarily responsible for the apartment explosion in recent years and that the village cannot put an end to it. He said, however, he favors approval of higher density developments only if they are desirable and if the village can provide adequate water, sewer and other services to its residents.

Monoson said he realizes apartment development has been on the increase everywhere, but thinks Wheeling has had "more than its share."

"I AM ASKING why developers adjacent to Wheeling found it economically feasible to build single-family homes and they didn't find it so in Wheeling, Monoson said. "I think single-family development is feasible if we can attract the right kind of developer."

Brady said Wheeling has "no plan" at present and has proposed a "planned growth map" to guide the village. He also has called for the establishment of an industrial commission to lure desirable industrial and commercial development to Wheeling.

WHIP and WRP candidates clashed on the operation of the police department.

Brady charged that WHIP has been talking about promoting public safety and at the same time has proposed that the police department put a halt to the practice of assisting village employees in and out of the village hall parking lot during rush hour.

"IS WHIP ALSO in favor of getting rid of school crossing guards and directing traffic at churches?" Brady said.

Cole said the statement was taken out of context and that WHIP has advocated that police services be equally applied to all segments of the community.

Cole further stated that he is concerned because he has seen as many as five police cars respond to one traffic accident.

"My question is when all five policemen who are on the street respond to one call, who's watching the rest of the village?" Cole said.

KERR SAID in light of the more than 50 per cent increase in crime in Wheeling in the last year he thinks police manpower should be used more efficiently.

"I only know what I see with my eyes," he said. "I think that with as difficult as it is to get police officers we should use them wisely."

Powers said he has participated in the police ride-along program and has been impressed with the operation of the police department.

"I think it is better to send three policemen when you need only one than to send one when you need two or three," Powers said. "I do not feel myself qualified to pass judgment on the performance of the police department."

WHIP candidates have said the present structure of village commissions and committees is outdated and pledged at the debate to update them to better serve the village.

Tahoe Village directors urging: back COM-PAR

The board of directors of Tahoe Village is circulating a memo to residents of Tahoe Village endorsing election of the Wheeling Community Party slate of candidates in Tuesday's Wheeling village election.

The statement from the Tahoe Homeowners' Assn. endorses Edward Berger, Albert Lang, William Rogers and John Koeppe and cites the slate's appearance before the Tahoe board of directors April 3 as reason for the endorsement.

"The four (candidates) cannot work miracles for Tahoe," the memo to residents reads. "Some of our problems will never be solved. However, after listening to 12 men and asking the same questions of all, we feel that the election of the COM-PAR Party is in the best interest of Tahoe Village."

Shopping center review slated

Village set to approve budget of $4.5 million

The Buffalo Grove Village Board is expected to approve its 1975-76 budget at a meeting tonight.

Formal adoption of the $4.5 million budget probably will come next Monday during the current board's final regular meeting before installation of a new village president and three new trustees, Trustee James Shirley said Friday.

Also on the village board agenda is review of plans for the proposed shopping center at the corner of Dundee and Buffalo Grove roads.

The center is slated to feature a Kohl supermarket along with a few smaller stores. The plan commission recommended formal approval of the project subject to annexation of a small strip of property on the site.

Developers also have reached agreement with the appearance control commission and the park district on landscaping and the engineering design.

Three other items will come before the board tonight. They include:

• Approval of an agreement with Cook County officials for hiring two new employees under a federally funded job assistance program.

• Review a request for approval of another phase of the Richard's Group Crossings development.

The village board meets at 8 p.m. in the village hall, 50 Raupp Blvd.

Buffalo Grove officials plan plea for water from lake

Representatives of Buffalo Grove are tentatively scheduled to appear before state officials in about two weeks on a village request for Lake Michigan water.

The hearing will be conducted before the Illinois Division of Waterways, which is considering requests from Buffalo Grove as well as many other Chicago-area communities and agencies also seeking to tap on the lake water supply.

Even if the hearing is held in two weeks, Village Mgr. Daniel Larson said Friday that no decision would be given for about 18 months because the state must decide on dozens of other requests before Buffalo Grove's application.

VILLAGE ENGINEER Arnold Seaberg said the state probably will not hear all the requests until near the end of the year.

When a decision is made, Larson said the village will be told how much water can be extracted from the lake for local use.

The state has set limits on the amount of water that can be drawn and will not permit more than 3,200 cubic feet per second to be pumped out.

Buffalo Grove is seeking to use Lake Michigan as a supplemental water source within the next few years, mostly to avoid costly improvements to the village's well system to allow for pumping from greater depths as water tables decrease.

Officials say that without a supplemental supply, Buffalo Grove's five wells would have to be revamped every five years to keep up with dropping water levels, costing $120,000 per well.

Seaberg said it probably will not be necessary for the state to turn down any allocation requests but said waterways officials may, at their own discretion adjust some of the requests.

LARSON, WHO SAID some Buffalo Grove residents could be drinking lake water by 1977 said the source will be used primarily to serve the Horatio Gardens, Winston Square development near Weiland Road north of Ill. Rte. 83.

The well system would continue as the major water supplier for the rest of the village, Larson said.

While the allocation is being studied, Larson said local officials will be moving toward a decision on which of four systems will be used to bring lake water to the village.

Of the four, Larson said the one most likely to be adopted will be through the Lake County Public Works Department, a plan calling for extending a water main from Highland Park. The system would also bring water to Riverwoods, Lincolnshire, Long Grove and unincorporated areas of Lake County.

Cahill, Kroll win 3-year terms in School Dist. 96

Michael Cahill and William Kroll were elected to three-year terms on the Dist. 96 Board of Education Saturday.

According to unofficial totals, Cahill received 382 votes, Kroll received 263 and the third candidate, Frances Moritz, 212.

Phyllis Rose, Middlessex and Monitor drives, Long Grove, withdrew from the race but received 41 votes.

Kroll, 950 Belmont Dr., Buffalo Grove, said Saturday he will work toward better communication, improving the grading system and discipline in the schools and work on the district's fiscal problems.

"I FEEL EXTREMELY good about the results," he said. "Cahill presented a conservative view and Mrs. Moritz presented more of a liberal view" toward the Individually Guided Education system being used in Dist. 96. Kroll said he thought he presented a moderate view between these two candidates.

He said the results "maybe show what everybody thinks is a minority, is not a minority."

Cahill, 1026 Parker Ln., Buffalo Grove, was unavailable for comment.

Mrs. Moritz, Cuba Rd., Long Grove, said she will remain active in the schools and follow the board. "I do congratulate Kroll and Cahill and I'm sure they'll do a

Boltz, Helke win in School Dist. 125

Carole Boltz and Gloria Helke were elected to three-year terms Saturday on the High School Dist. 125 Board of Education.

Mrs. Boltz, 7 Plymouth Ct., Lincolnshire, defeated two candidates to represent incorporated areas of the Lake County district. She received 850 votes to 407 for Dr. Derwood Janssen, E. Mardian Dr., Long Grove, and 466 to Mike McCartney, 20365 W. Main St., Kildeer.

Mrs. Helke, 294 Farmer Ct., near Deerfield, was contested in her bid for a three-year term.

In Kildeer School precinct Cahill received 161 votes; Kroll, 98, and Mrs. Moritz, 107.

The Willow Grove School precinct showed Cahill with 221 votes, Kroll 155, and Mrs. Moritz 105.

Issue won't go away; we'll have to face it."

ARTEMENKO WAS referring to a citizens' committee recommendation calling for about $24 million in improvements and additions to district schools. The board has not made a decision on the proposal which has drawn some heat from critics.

Aronson has been on the board since 1962.

Mrs. Tittsworth won none of the district's 22 precincts, but topped Aronson in the Grove Junior High School area of Elk Grove Village and narrowly beat him in her home district of Lively Junior High School, Elk Grove Village, where she trailed Artemenko of Des Plaines, by 48 votes.

Mrs. Tittsworth topped Artemenko in only one precinct, the Jack London Junior High School area in Wheeling.

by LYNN ASINOFF
U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, will no longer represent Wheeling Township in Washington, D.C. If plans for redistricting the sprawling 10th and 12th Illinois Congressional districts go forward, the Illinois General Assembly passes a plan submitted Saturday, Crane's district will move east into Des Plaines and Wheeling Township will be in U.S. Rep. Robert McClory's district.

The reapportionment plan would create a new district composed of Wheeling, Northfield and New Trier townships, Morton Grove, Niles and sections of Lake County. This would put McClory, R-13th, in a district composed of parts of the 10th, 12th and 13th districts.

A spokesman for Crane Sunday said the Congressman had not had a chance to study the proposed redistricting map, but would be particularly upset with the loss of Wheeling Township, which he called "the heart" of the 12th District.

"I think any change in the district line is something that he would be very disappointed with, particularly Wheeling Township," the spokesman said, noting that Crane has represented Wheeling Township since first elected.

U.S. REP. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, Sunday charged the redistricting plan was a scheme by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to exert more control over the suburban Democratic Party.

Mikva, who would be mapped into a district now represented by U.S. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-9th, charged that the independent areas were being linked to Chicago-dominated districts. He said marginal areas of the 10th District where Democrats could have been cultivated were being thrown back to the Republican strongholds.

The plan, filed Saturday by Senate Pres. Cecil A. Partee, attaches Des Plaines and Park Ridge to Crane's 12th

District. They are now represented by Mikva. Evanston, Mikva's home, is joined with Yates' 9th District to the south in Chicago.

Mikva was once before mapped out of his district when the 1971 reapportionment erased the old 2nd District on the South Side of Chicago.

"THIS ONE IS A klunker," Mikva said of the proposed reapportionment plan. "This was thought up in spleen and malice and really doesn't even achieve a partisan purpose."

Mikva said the plan was "a petulant and piquish plan to get even" for the fact that he failed to endorse Daley in his bid for reelection.

"I think the legislature, which has done so much of late to create its own independence from city hall domination, will understand what this map is all about," Mikva said. "I think they will bury it."

Stiller, Rose easy winners

Incumbents keep jobs in Dist. 21 election

Incumbents Lillian Stiller and Susan Rose were elected Saturday to three-year terms on the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 Board of Education.

Mrs. Stiller and Mrs. Rose were challenged by James DeNoma and Allan Blattner.

According to unofficial tallies, Mrs. Stiller received 391 votes; Mrs. Rose, 370; DeNoma, 207, and Blattner, 135.

MRS. STILLER, 605 S. Wayne Pl., Wheeling, said the low voter turnout "is a vote of confidence for the whole district. Maybe a low turnout shows people are satisfied with the district." Mrs. Rose, 174 Timber Hill Rd., Buffalo Grove, also said the voter turnout showed people do not have complaints with the way the district is running.

About 1,100 votes were cast this year as compared with 1,521 last year when there also were four candidates running for two three-year posts.

Mrs. Rose said she also wants to inform citizens about legislation that will affect the schools so that they can write supporting letters.

Consultant to meet with village

Wheeling village officials will meet tonight with the consulting firm that recently completed a comprehensive study of village operations.

The trustees will meet with a representative of the firm, Yarger and Associates of Falls Church, Va., at 7 p.m. in the Municipal Building, 255 W. Dundee Rd. Officials are expected to discuss the numerous recommendations made by the firm in its report to the village.

The report said the village generally is well managed, but outlined numerous problem areas.

The study was ordered by village officials last fall after the indictments of six present and former Wheeling and county officials in a builder-shakedown scandal. Four of the six have pleaded guilty and two are awaiting trial.

12 to seek 4 trustee seats Tuesday

Wheeling voters Tuesday will elect four candidates from a field of 12 to serve on the village board.

The candidates are running on three party slates, the Wheeling Community Party (COM-PAR), the Wheeling Improvement Party (WIIP) and the Wheeling Representative Party.

COM-PAR has slated William A. Rogers and trustees John W. Koepfen and Albert W. Lang for four-year terms and Trustee Edward A. Berger for a two-year term.

On the WHIP slate, John C. Cole, Charles M. Kerr and Gilbert J. Monoson are seeking four-year terms and Otis L. Hedlund is seeking a two-year term.

The WRP slate consists of Neil H. Brant, Kenneth R. Brady and Roger A. Powers, seeking four-year terms, and Robert E. Clark, who is seeking a two-year term.

Polling places in Wheeling will be open Tuesday from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the following locations:

- Polling Place 1 (County precincts 1 and 93), Chamber Park, 251 N. Wolf Rd.
- Polling Place 2 (Precincts 33 and 76), Whitman School, 133 S. Willie Ave.
- Polling Place 3 (Precinct 49), Heritage Park, 222 S. Wolf Rd.

- Polling Place 4 (Precincts 27 and 37), Twain School, 515 E. Merle Ln.
- Polling Place 5 (Precinct 50), the Summer residence garage, 290 Albert Terr.
- Polling Place 6 (Precincts 48 and 79), London Junior High School, 1001 W. Dundee Rd.
- Polling Place 7 (Precincts 55 and 4), Field School, 51 St. Armand Ln.
- Polling Place 8 (Precinct 108), Whippletree Village recreation hall, 525 McHenry Rd.
- Polling Place 9 (Precincts 30, 43 and 13), Wheeling High School, 900 S. Wolf Rd.

- Polling Place 10 (Precincts 107 and 70), Lakeside Villas clubhouse, Lakeside Circle Drive.

Tuesday's election will mark the first time voting machines will be used in a local election in Wheeling. Village Clerk Evelyn Diens said the machines will reduce the number of spoiled ballots and also has allowed the village to consolidate polling places and hire fewer election judges.

The clerk emphasized that only registered voters residing in Wheeling's corporate limits will be allowed to vote in Tuesday's election.

Tom Heckenbach doesn't worry about 'Future Shock' —as long as he can live comfortably 'in the past'

by BOB GALLAS
The ring of the alarm goes unheard. Tom Heckenbach is long out of bed, roused at first light by his rooster crowing in back of his home in Palatine Township.

By the dim, dawn light, Heckenbach's thin, bespectacled figure looks older than his 31 years as he moves about checking a yard full of animals, setting a scene reminiscent of 100 years ago.

Clad in overalls, corn-cob pipe jutting from his fiery red beard, he is alone in a world tailor-made to suit himself.

Some call his lifestyle eccentric, but he calls it "comfortable."

AND TOM HECKENBACH is very comfortable — in his job as Elk Grove High School Latin teacher mornings, power mechanics instructor afternoons; in his car, a '53 Ford station wagon which runs on a mixture of gasoline and kerosene; on his tractor which saw its best year in 1943; or in hunting with his Civil War muzzle-loading rifle.

And he's comfortable in his home, which would set just about any antique dealer to drooling.

"Some people jog in the morning, I chop wood," said Heckenbach, tuning in a pop radio station on his 1927 console radio set. Wood is needed to stoke the pot-bellied stove in the living room, which provides heat for the house.

HECKENBACH IS A SAVER and recycler, fixing up old things to use again, like the wood burning stove he cooked on. He recently replaced the relic with a newer model — a 1920 gas-burning stove.

"I guess it's just my sense of continuity," said Heckenbach. "I'm really proud of the fact that my family has lived around here for 200 years. I've inherited most of this stuff."

"This stuff" includes an 1860s Bible which he reads nightly, his turn-of-the-century bed in which he's slept since childhood, his antique coffee grinder which provides fresh coffee daily, the chest he bought at a garage sale and later learned dated back to the 1600s, the half dozen kerosene lamps which he uses for light. He has electricity — "for the sump pump."

BUT IT'S NOT WHAT is in his home or around it that sets Tom Heckenbach off from the rest of the parade. It's Tom Heckenbach, the man.

He stands at the front of his Latin classes in boots, beard and jeans. It makes students feel comfortable. And so does his method of teaching.

"I guess I do teach Latin a little differently," said Heckenbach. "I teach it like a modern language."

"The kids write Latin essays on their camping or skiing

WHIP, WRP debate, vow to make changes

by JOE FRANZ

The Wheeling Representative Party (WRP) and the Wheeling Improvement Party (WHIP) pledged that if they are elected Tuesday they will change Wheeling for the better.

The candidates, in a debate Friday night, discussed planning, ethics, the structure of village government, the police department and even questioned how each others slates were formed. Although the WHIP and WRP candidates agreed on some issues, there were some differences of opinion.

The WHIP slate consists of Gilbert J. Monoson, Charles M. Kerr, John C. Cole and Otis L. Hedlund. WRP has slated Roger A. Powers, Nell H. Brant, Robert E. Clark and Kenneth R. Brady.

THE WHEELING Community Party (COM-PAR) did not participate in the debate. The COM-PAR slate consists of William A. Rogers and Trustees John W. Koepfen, Albert W. Lang and Edward A. Berger.

Cole started off the debate by asking about rumors that the WRP slate was "hand picked" by Trustee William Hein. Cole defended WHIP's procedure for choosing candidates, saying they were chosen by the entire membership after a nominating committee interviewed about 30 persons.

Brant said Hein has been close to the WRP campaign, but denied that the trustee selected the slate.

John C. Cole

"Mr. Hein has advised us as far as the campaign is concerned," Brant said. "None of us has ever run for public office before and he is basically our counselor. But he did not pick the candidates."

BRANT CHARGED that WHIP incorrectly has linked WRP candidates to convicted Wheeling political boss James Stavros, who is serving a four-year sentence in a federal prison for his part in a local builder shakedown scandal.

"The entire thrust of the whole WHIP campaign is to tie a Stavros can to the tail of its opposition," Brant said.

Powers said he thinks too much time has been spent in the campaign on corruption and not enough spent on a future course of action.

"To dwell on what has happened yesterday is not proper," Powers said. "It happened; we don't condone it, but it's history. Let's work on making the village better in the future."

Cole, however, countered, saying it is "foolish, idiotic and insane" to not take into account what has happened in Wheeling in the past.

"THE WHO IGNORES history is subject to the same thing again," Cole said. "We have to consider the past so we can put in safeguards to make sure it doesn't happen again."

Both parties said the village is in need of better planning to guide future development and that there has been too much apartment development in recent years.

Clark said rising land, labor and material costs are primarily responsible for the apartment explosion in recent years and that the village cannot put an end to it. He said, however, he favors approval of higher density developments only if they are desirable and if the village can provide adequate water, sewer and other services to its residents.

Monoson said he realizes apartment development has been on the increase everywhere, but thinks Wheeling has had "more than its share."

"I AM ASKING why developers adjacent to the village found it economically feasible to build single-family homes and they didn't find it so in Wheeling," Monoson said. "I think single-family development is feasible if we can attract the right kind of developer."

Nell H. Brant

Brady said Wheeling has "no plan" at present and has proposed a "planned growth map" to guide the village. He also has called for the establishment of an industrial commission to lure desirable industrial and commercial development to Wheeling.

WHIP and WRP candidates clashed on the operation of the police department.

Brady charged that WHIP has been talking about promoting public safety and at the same time has proposed that the police department put a halt to the practice of assisting village employees in and out of the village hall parking lot during rush hour.

"IS WHIP ALSO in favor of getting rid of school crossing guards and directing traffic at churches?" Brady said.

Cole said the statement was taken out of context and all that WHIP has advocated is that police services be equally applied to all segments of the community.

Cole further stated that he is concerned because he has seen as many as five police cars respond to one traffic accident.

"My question is when all five policemen who are on the street respond to one call, who's watching the rest of the village?" Cole said.

KERR SAID in light of the more than 50 per cent increase in crime in Wheeling in the last year he thinks police manpower should be used more efficiently.

"I only know what I see with my eyes," he said. "I think that with as difficult as it is to get police officers we should use them wisely."

Powers said he has participated in the police ride-along program and has been impressed with the operation of the police department.

"I think it is better to send three policemen when you need only one than to send one when you need two or three," Powers said. "I do not feel myself qualified to pass judgment on the performance of the police department."

WHIP candidates have said the present structure of village commissions and committees is outdated and pledged at the debate to update them to better serve the village.

Tahoe Village directors urging: back COM-PAR

The board of directors of Tahoe Village is circulating a memo to residents of Tahoe Village endorsing election of the Wheeling Community Party slate of candidates in Tuesday's Wheeling village election.

The statement from the Tahoe Homeowners' Assn. endorses Edward Berger, Albert Lang, William Rogers and John Koepfen and cites the slate's appearance before the Tahoe board of directors April 3 as reason for the endorsement.

"The four (candidates) cannot work miracles for Tahoe," the memo to residents reads. "Some of our problems will never be solved. However, after listening to 12 men and asking the same questions of all, we feel that the election of the COM-PAR Party is in the best interest of Tahoe Village."

Incumbents win in High School Dist. 214

Incumbents Gene Artemenko and Arthur Aronson breezed to victory in the High School Dist. 214 Board of Education race, overcoming a challenge by Elk Grove Village resident Virginia Tisworth.

Artemenko led all vote getters with 2,474 votes in the low key race that had few issues. Aronson received 2,358 votes compared to Mrs. Tisworth's 1,624.

"I'm pleased and looking forward to another term on the board," said Artemenko, who has served on the board for four years.

"We'll have to pay close attention to the citizens' committee," he said. "The

3 unopposed incumbents keep seats

Only 53 trek to polls for Dist. 23 school vote

Only 53 voters turned out Saturday for the uncontested school board election in Prospect Heights Dist. 23.

Elected to the board were incumbents Deanna Wells, Carl Poch and Ronald Szwatke. All are from Prospect Heights.

Supt. Edward Grodzky said he was "very disappointed" in the turnout.

"I see a lot more of this happening unless we have a contested election," he said.

Grodzky estimates the district spent between $400 and $500 on the election, including $35 each for five election judges.

Poch, 38, of 206 N. Parkway, will begin his second term on the board. He is the Dist. 23 representative to the Northwest Educational Cooperative. The father of four children, Poch is president of CNP enterprises.

Mrs. Wells, 34, of 300 N. Elm St., was appointed to the board last fall. A resident of the district for six years, she has two children. She has served on the Eisenhower School PTA board and is secretary for the Dun-Lake Council of PTAs.

Szwatke, 44, of 201 E. Willow Rd., is a manufacturing manager for Rex-Nord Corp. In his first term on the board, he served as chairman of the finance committee. He is a five-year area resident and has three students in Dist. 23 schools.

Szwatke received 48 votes; Poch, 48 and Wells, 44. There were two write-in votes and three spoiled ballots.

Cahill, Kroll win 3-year terms in School Dist. 96

Michael Cahill and William Kroll were elected to three-year terms on the Dist. 96 Board of Education Saturday.

According to unofficial totals, Cahill received 382 votes, Kroll received 263 and the third candidate, Frances Moritz, 212.

Phyllis Rose, Middlessex and Monitor drives, Long Grove, withdrew from the race but received 41 votes.

Kroll, 950 Belmar Dr., Buffalo Grove, said Saturday he will work toward better communication, improving the grading system and discipline in the schools and work on the district's fiscal problems.

"I FEEL EXTREMELY good about the results," he said. "Cahill presented a conservative view and Mrs. Moritz presented more of a liberal view" toward the Individually Guided Education system being used in Dist. 96. Kroll said he thought he presented a moderate view between these two candidates.

He said the results "maybe show what everybody thinks is a minority, is not a minority."

Carole Boltz and Gloria Helke were elected to three-year terms Saturday on the High School Dist. 125 Board of Education.

Mrs. Boltz, 7 Plymouth Ct., Lincolnshire, defeated two candidates to represent incorporated areas of the Lake County district. She received 850 votes to 407 for Dr. Derwood Janssen, E. Mardian Dr., Long Grove, and 466 to Mike McCartney, 20365 W. Main St., Kildeer.

In Kildeer School precinct Cahill received 161 votes; Kroll, 98, and Mrs. Moritz, 107.

The Willow Grove School precinct showed Cahill with 221 votes, Kroll 155, and Mrs. Moritz 105.

Parley with state in 2 weeks

Buffalo Grove officials plan plea for water from lake

Representatives of Buffalo Grove are tentatively scheduled to appear before state officials in about two weeks on a village request for Lake Michigan water.

The hearing will be conducted before the Illinois Division of Waterways, which is considering requests from Buffalo Grove as well as many other Chicago-area communities and agencies also seeking to tap on the lake water supply.

Even if the hearing is held in two weeks, Village Mgr. Daniel Larson said Friday that no decision would be given for about 18 months because the state must decide on dozens of other requests before Buffalo Grove's application.

VILLAGE ENGINEER Arnold Seaberg said the state probably will not hear all the requests until near the end of the year.

When a decision is made, Larson said the village will be told how much water can be extracted from the lake for local use.

The state has set limits on the amount of water that can be drawn and will not permit more than 3,200 cubic feet per second to be pumped out.

Buffalo Grove is seeking to use Lake Michigan as a supplemental water source within the next few years, mostly to avoid costly improvements to the village's well system to allow for pumping from greater depths as water tables decrease.

Officials say that without a supplemental supply, Buffalo Grove's five wells would have to be revamped every five years to keep up with dropping water levels, costing $120,000 per well.

Seaberg said it probably will not be necessary for the state to turn down any allocation requests but said waterways officials may, at their own discretion, adjust some of the requests.

LARSON, WHO SAID some Buffalo Grove residents could be drinking lake water by 1977 said the source will be used primarily to serve the Horatio Gardens, Winston Square development near Weiland Road north of Ill. Rte. 83.

The well system would continue as the major water supplier for the rest of the village, Larson said.

While the allocation is being studied, Larson said local officials will be moving toward a decision on which of four systems will be used to bring lake water to the village.

Of the four, Larson said the one most likely to be adopted will be through the Lake County Public Works Department, a plan calling for extending a water main from Highland Park. The system would also bring water to Riverwoods, Lincolnshire, Long Grove and unincorporated areas of Lake County.

Wheeling Twp. faces seperation from Crane's district

by LYNN ASINOFF
U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, will no longer represent Wheeling Township in Washington, D.C. If plans for redistricting the sprawling 10th and 12th Illinois Congressional districts go forward, if the Illinois General Assembly passes a plan submitted Saturday, Crane's district will move east into Des Plaines and Wheeling Township will be in U.S. Rep. Robert McClory's district.

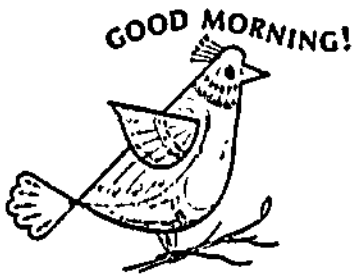

The reapportionment plan would create a new district composed of Wheeling, Northfield and New Trier townships, Morton Grove, Niles and sections of Lake County. This would put McClory, R-13th, in a district composed of parts of the 10th, 12th and 13th districts.

A spokesman for Crane Sunday said the Congressman had not had a chance to study the proposed redistricting map, but would be particularly upset with the loss of Wheeling Township, which he called "the heart" of the 12th District.

"I think any change in the district line is something that he would be very disappointed with, particularly Wheeling Township," the spokesman said, noting that Crane has represented Wheeling Township since first elected.

U.S. REP. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, Sunday charged the redistricting plan was a scheme by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to exert more control over the suburban Democratic Party.

Mikva, who would be mapped into a district now represented by U.S. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-9th, charged that the independent areas were being linked to Chicago-dominated districts. He said marginal areas of the 10th District where Democrats could have been cultivated were being thrown back to the Republican strongholds.

Incumbent Arlene Czajkowski, who has been active in Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 for 11 years, was upset in her bid for reelection to the school board by 35 votes.

Newcomer Sherry Reynolds was the resounding victor in Saturday's contest for two three-year positions, receiving 1,020 votes according to unofficial tallies.

Incumbent Dr. Edgar Feldman won the second seat with 689 votes to Mrs. Czajkowski's 654. Feldman was appointed to the board in October. Mrs. Czajkowski was elected to the board in 1972 and was a board watcher for eight years preceding her election.

ALSO RUNNING for the three-year term was newcomer Michael Madden, 1405 Churchill Rd., Schaumburg, who received 584 votes.

Incumbents Gordon Thoren and Edward Bedard were elected to the two one-year terms defeating newcomer Carol Buckwalter. Bedard, 350 Pierce Rd., Hoffman Estates, received 945 votes and Thoren, 577 Edgefield Ln., Hoffman Es-

BY THE LIGHT of a kerosene lamp many things become clear, including the words of the Bible, the enduring strengths of Latin as a modern language and the 20th-Century art of power mechanics. (Photo by Dave Tonge)

1984? No, 1874

Tom Heckenbach doesn't worry about 'Future Shock' —as long as he can live comfortably 'in the past'

by BOB GALLAS

The ring of the alarm goes unheard. Tom Heckenbach is long out of bed, roused at first light by his rooster crowing in back of his home in Palatine Township.

By the dim, dawn light, Heckenbach's thin, bespectacled figure looks older than his 31 years as he moves about checking a yard full of animals, setting a scene reminiscent of 100 years ago.

Clad in overalls, corncob pipe jutting from his fiery red beard, he is alone in a world tailor-made to suit himself.

Some call his lifestyle eccentric, but he calls it "comfortable."

AND TOM HECKENBACH is very comfortable — in his job as Elk Grove High School Latin teacher mornings, power mechanics instructor afternoons; in his car, a '53 Ford station wagon which runs on a mixture of gasoline and kerosene; on his tractor which saw its best year in 1943; or in hunting with his Civil War muzzle-loading rifle.

And he's comfortable in his home, which would set just about any antique dealer to drooling.

"Some people jog in the morning. I chop wood," said Heckenbach, tuning in a pop radio station on his 1927 console radio set. Wood is needed to stoke the pot-bellied stove in the living room, which provides heat for the house.

HECKENBACH IS A SAVER and recycler, fixing up old things to use again, like the wood burning stove he cooked on. He recently replaced the relic with a newer model — a 1920 gas-burning stove.

"I guess it's just my sense of continuity," said Heckenbach. "I'm really proud of the fact that my family has lived around here for 200 years. I've inherited most of this stuff."

"This stuff" includes an 1860s Bible which he reads nightly, his turn-of-the-century bed in which he's slept since childhood, his antique coffee grinder which provides fresh coffee daily, the chest he bought at a garage sale and later learned dated back to the 1600s, the half dozen kerosene lamps which he uses for light. He has electricity — "for the sump pump."

BUT IT'S NOT WHAT is in his home or around it that sets Tom Heckenbach off from the rest of the parade. It's Tom Heckenbach, the man.

He stands at the front of his Latin classes in boots, beard and jeans. It makes students feel comfortable. And so does his method of teaching.

"I guess I do teach Latin a little differently," said Heckenbach. "I teach it like a modern language."

"The kids write Latin essays on their camping or skiing

Kessell relaxes, O'Brien tries harder day before vote

by PAT GERLACH

Their index fingers are calloused from ringing doorbells and their knuckles are raw from knocking. Their aching feet are clad in worn shoe leather and their voices rasp from weeks of preaching the gospel. And half of them are losers.

Beggars? Missionaries? No, they are the candidates, the 12 political apostles battling it out for six village offices to be filled Tuesday in Schaumburg.

But the long campaign trek has now ended for Ray Kessell, Schaumburg United Party presidential candidate. Kessell will relax tonight at the party's Wise Road headquarters, perhaps making some last minute phone calls to help get the vote out. No personal visits tonight, though, because Kessell believes "If we haven't done it by now, we never will."

On the other side of town at the Schaumburg Citizens for Planned Progress living-room campaign headquarters of Kessell's challenger, Sally O'Brien, it will be a far different scene.

SALLY AND her stalemates will be pounding the pavement until at least 9 p.m. in their effort to wrest control of the village from SUP for the first time in 16 years.

The two parties have used different techniques over the past few weeks, with SUP's smooth organization, efficiently staffed headquarters, all made possible through the efforts of Campaign Mgr. Vince Carsello and an $11,000 "war chest."

"It's been a positive campaign," says Kessell, explaining that most people recognized him when he approached their doors, though their comments varied. "Actually, no village ever has enough of anything, be it services or what-have-you, but I think the voters know we do our best," said Kessell, who after 12 years as a trustee, hopes to wake up Wednesday morning as the third president of Schaumburg.

He and other SUP candidates have campaigned methodically, never grabbing for a door, but waiting for a resident to do the opening. Never using first names, unless they personally know the people.

THROUGHOUT the campaign SUP candidates have not worked shopping centers, preferring the individual approach and attended only one combination coffee-cocktail party and no purely social affairs.

The candidates have been carefully coached by Carsello in their "little things mean a lot" approach. They have "blitzed" neighborhoods on Saturday only, considering Sunday a day of rest when voters shouldn't be disturbed. But each Sunday night, candidates have met with Carsello and other party leaders to discuss problems, assess the campaign and refine techniques.

"Is Bob Atcher going to sell his house and move away?" asks a resident whose property backs up to the retiring village president's five-acre Green Court mini-estate. The woman says she "would hate to see high-rises" go up on the property.

SUP's Nels Hornstrom fields these and other questions even though he's never before run for office.

CANDIDATE for a two-year term, Hornstrom satisfied the resident that, by village standards, the property is "too small" for anything but single-family homes, further assuring them Atcher's "heart" is in the village and it is unlikely he will leave the community permanently.

Across the street, the candidate is greeted by a woman who says she will awake her napping husband "who sure would" like to talk to him. The man wants to discuss several condominium developments recently zoned near his neighborhood. Too many people, too much traffic and not enough police protection, the resident complains.

"I really don't like that guy, he's gotten too much like (Richard) Daley," he says of Atcher and talks of the "one man village and SUP" party control.

The well prepared SUP candidate explains that SUP is run by an executive committee, not Atcher, and each candidate is "his own man," reminding the resident that the village recently turned down another large development proposed nearby "over Atcher's objection."

BUT, BACK to the other side of town. "Hello, I'm Sally O'Brien, I'm running for FULL-TIME village president on the SCOPP ticket. We stand for planned progress. I hope I can count on your support in Tuesday's election. SCOPP needs your straight vote." Sally verbally underscores "full-time" since the village presidency has been reduced to a part-time post beginning May 1.

She points out that SCOPP's total effort is through volunteers and says she is pleased with the enthusiasm the new party seems to enjoy. Mrs. O'Brien and her five running mates have a campaign fund of about $600 which has been collected in nickels, dimes and dollars from supporters. "We don't need a lot of money, we are getting out to the people," party leaders explain.

"Just wait u til you see SCOPP two years from now," says "Just wait until you see SCOPP two years from now," says — win or lose."

SATURDAY, on his final day of campaigning, SUP presidential candidate Ray Kessell "blitzed" south Weathersfield with Dick Nomelin.

SALLY O'BRIEN WILL pound the pavement in Schaumburg until 9 p.m. today in an effort to reach every potential voter in Tuesday's village election. Mrs. O'Brien is running for village president on the Schaumburg Citizens for Planned Progress slate. Polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Chief alleges failure to direct trucks

Fireman quits job; village drops duty neglect charge

Hoffman Estates fireman James Clark resigned from the fire department Saturday after a 3 1/2-hour hearing into charges that he neglected his duty by failing to give directions while enroute to a fire March 27.

In return for Clark's resignation, Fire Chief Carl Selke dropped the charge.

Clark, 21, had been part of the village's fire-fighting force for three years. He was on duty as truck officer and station commander March 27 when, it was charged, his failure to direct the driver of the truck in which he was riding extended what should have been a two-minute response time to eight minutes.

A RESIDENT OF 1939 Governors Ln. in the Barrington Square development called the department to report the odor of smoke. Clark's refusal to direct the fire truck's driver resulted in the vehicle turning left instead of right at the intersection of Governors Lane and Kensington Road, it was charged.

Two other fire trucks also were delayed getting to the address because of the wrong turn, it was alleged.

The fire consisted of a melted wire in a furnace within the townhouse and was not serious.

The village said Clark's refusal to give directions was deliberate and stemmed from a personality conflict between him and the truck driver, fireman Earl Hansen.

Hansen, a third fireman on Clark's truck March 27, and Lt. Donald Selke, who was in one of two other fire engines responding to the alarm, told the village's fire and police commission Saturday that the wrong turn added six minutes to the fire department's response time to a potentially serious fire.

"IT WAS LUCK that saved that family . . . not our fire department," said attorney James A. Calabrese who represented the village in the hearing and who characterized Clark's action as "sabotage."

Hansen said when he asked Clark for directions at the Kensington-Governors intersection Clark told him to "look it up" in the fire department's street guide.

Clark told the commission that he gave Hansen the proper directions and he blamed the error on the driver's incompetence.

When drivers of all three fire trucks became confused while traveling in different directions, Clark said the fire call had been turned into "a big farce." He left the truck, went into the house, turned off the gas and blowers at the furnace and reassured the owner, he said.

He did not radio the fire truck as having arrived at the scene until it was finally positioned in front of the townhouse and this accounted for the appearance of a six-minute delay, he said.

Albrecht, Countryman, Stenstrom in Dist. 211

by KATHERINE BOYCE

Two incumbents and one candidate backed by the teachers' union were elected to the High School Dist. 211 Board of Education Saturday in one of the most heated races in the district's history.

JoAnn Albrecht, 4450 Dawngate Ln., Rolling Meadows, endorsed by Dist. 211 teachers, led the balloting with 1,765 votes. Incumbent Anna Countryman, 233 E. Norman Dr., Palatine, won with 1,620 votes and incumbent William Stenstrom, 128 Maple Ct., Palatine, came in third with 1,468 votes. Each has won a three-year term.

A total of 8,844 votes were cast for seven Dist. 211 candidates Saturday compared with 2,177 cast last year for two candidates in an uncontested race. The voter turnout was one of the highest in Dist. 211 in recent years.

INCUMBENT GLENN Hargrave, 471 Creekwood Dr., Palatine, came in fourth Saturday with 1,344 votes and teacher-backed candidate Dewane Barnes, 41 S. Elm St., Palatine, was in fifth with 1,202. Richard Gillette, 311 W. Daniels Rd., Palatine received 971 and Lewis Davidson, 79 King George Ct., Palatine Township, got 474.

Poll watchers for candidates backed by teachers in both Dist. 211 and Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 were challenged by election judges in four precincts in Schaumburg Township. When the judges refused to admit the watchers, David Tomecheck, local representative for the Illinois Education Assn., phoned officials of the State's Attorney's office and asked them to intervene.

The judges refused to admit poll watchers who were not residents of the district on the advice of attorneys for Dist. 211 and Dist. 54. The attorneys said the Illinois School Code says a poll watcher must be a legal voter where the election takes place.

Assistant State's Atty. Richard Means visited polling places and ruled that the poll watchers must be admitted. He referred to the code of the Illinois Election Code which says a poll watcher need only be a resident of the county.

DIST. 211 Business Mgr. James Slater said the situation was resolved when the candidates replaced challenged poll watchers with poll watchers who live in the district. But Slater said attorneys probably will continue to battle over the legal dispute to avoid a confrontation next year.

Means said his goal Saturday was to see that "all sides are represented in the polling places." The attorneys called "dance on the heads of legal pins later," he said.

This is the first year poll watchers have been used by the teachers' union, Tomecheck said.

MICHAEL ROTHMANN, poll watcher for Dist. 54 candidate Sherry Reynolds, was challenged by judges in Precinct 7 at MacArthur School in Hoffman Estates. "I came out strictly because I believe in fair elections. Any illegal acts in polling places are important to me," said Rothmann, who is also a trustee on the County Board of School Trustees. He did not report any irregularities.

"It seems to me there was unusual harassment" of poll watchers, said Reynolds, who said she was "functioning under the best legal judgment I could get" and had no idea the watchers would be challenged. She said several of her watchers were chosen by the teachers' union officials who wanted to identify which teachers came to the polls.

Mrs. Czajkowski said she does not intend to run in the school board election next year.

REYNOLDS said "the biggest problem the board is going to have to face in this type of election is regrouping and working as a body. I'd say the people are looking for strong leadership." She also thanked the teachers who supported her in Dist. 54.

Feldman, 128 Emerson Dr., Schaumburg, said his priorities over the next few months include "reorganizing the committee structure so there's a greater input to the board of pertinent factual information on which the board can make logical, just decisions."

"I'm looking forward to working with the administration, the community and teachers and I am thrilled in the confidence the community had with me despite the fact that The Herald completely ignored me in their editorial comment," he said.

Thoren has served on the board since 1969. He said he has "experience and knowledge of the inner workings of the board. I certainly feel I can provide a lot of continuity."

Wheeling Twp. faces separation from Crane's district

by LYNN ASINOFF
U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, will no longer represent Wheeling Township in Washington, D.C. if plans for redistricting the sprawling 10th and 12th Illinois Congressional districts go forward. ### Pointing for Tuesday

Candidates get help of sun to campaign

Candidates in Rolling Meadows had their best campaigning weather of the election season during the weekend, and they took advantage of it to run hard.

But the end is in sight Tuesday's balloting is the goal of all the stumping from one door to the next, petting dogs and hoping they won't bite before the pitch is made. Almost to a man, the contestants echoed the phrase, "Win or lose, I'll be glad when it's over."

In four of the eight races, the outcome is a foregone conclusion. Aldermen James A. Huddleston, 4th, and William D. Ahrens, 2nd, Treasurer Robert B. Cole and clerk candidate Elizabeth Brissenden are unopposed. But none of them had the weekend off.

The aldermen were concentrating on the top of their ticket — mayor, clerk and treasurer — in their home wards, and Ahrens was joined by incumbent Mayor Roland J. Meyer in seeking voters of the 2nd Ward.

MEYER FACES a challenge from Independent William J. Misoska in seeking a third mayoral term, and concentrated his campaigning on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd wards.

First Ward voters are the most hotly courted in this year's election, with an incumbent alderman and three challengers vying for votes. Incumbent Ald. Thomas W. Scanlan was carrying a sample ballot along with a party fact sheet to each house to make sure voters understood they could select only one man from the four on the ballot. Challengers Raymond H. Neuckranz, Bernard T. O'Connor and John A. Rolfe, like Scanlan, had covered the ward previously. But each was back during the weekend.

Polls open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Polling places in Tuesday's Rolling Meadows election will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the following locations:

1st Ward, 1st Precinct: Cardinal Drive School, 2300 Cardinal Dr.
1st Ward, 2nd Precinct: Plum Grove School, 2600 Plum Grove.
1st Ward, 3rd Precinct: Plum Grove School.

2nd Ward, 1st Precinct: 2403 Dove St.

High-flying sign that it's spring

FAVORABLE WINDS of April gave a boost to the kite flying contest Saturday at Plum Grove Countryside Park, Rolling Meadows. Scott Dale, 8, and his father, Rick, gave a tug on their kite high in the sky, and Mike Ryan, 6, stretched to reach his Planet of the Apes kite.

Tom Heckenbach doesn't worry about 'Future Shock' — as long as he can live comfortably 'in the past'

by BOB GALLAS

The ring of the alarm goes unheard. Tom Heckenbach is long out of bed, roused at first light by his rooster crowing in back of his home in Palatine Township.

By the dim, dawn light, Heckenbach's thin, bespectacled figure looks older than his 31 years as he moves about checking a yard full of animals, setting a scene reminiscent of 100 years ago.

Clad in overalls, corn-cob pipe jutting from his fiery red beard, he is alone in a world tailor-made to suit himself. Some call his lifestyle eccentric, but he calls it "comfortable."

AND TOM HECKENBACH is very comfortable — in his job as Elk Grove High School Latin teacher mornings, power mechanics instructor afternoons; in his car, a '53 Ford station wagon which runs on a mixture of gasoline and kerosene; on his tractor which saw its best year in 1943; or in hunting with his Civil War muzzle-loading rifle.

And he's comfortable in his home, which would set just about any antique dealer drooling.

"Some people jog in the morning, I chop wood," said Heckenbach, tuning in a pop radio station on his 1927 console radio set. Wood is needed to stoke the pot-bellied stove in the living room, which provides heat for the house.

HECKENBACH IS A SAVER and recycler, fixing up old things to use again, like the wood burning stove he cooked on. He recently replaced the relic with a newer model — a 1920 gas-burning stove.

"I guess it's just my sense of continuity," said Heckenbach. "I'm really proud of the fact that my family has lived around here for 200 years. I've inherited most of this stuff."

"This stuff" includes an 1860s Bible which he reads nightly, his turn-of-the-century bed in which he's slept since childhood, his antique coffee grinder which provides fresh coffee daily, the chest he bought at a garage sale and later learned dated back to the 1600s, the half dozen kerosene lamps which he uses for light. He has electricity — "for the sump pump."

BUT IT'S NOT WHAT is in his home or around it that sets Tom Heckenbach off from the rest of the parade. It's Tom Heckenbach, the man.

He stands at the front of his Latin classes in boots, beard and jeans. It makes students feel comfortable. And so does his method of teaching.

"I guess I do teach Latin a little differently," said Heckenbach. "I teach it like a modern language."

High School Dist. 211

Albrecht, Stenstrom, Countryman win jobs

by KATHERINE BOYCE
Two incumbents and one candidate backed by the teachers' union were elected to the High School Dist. 211 Board of Education Saturday in one of the most heated races in the district's history.

JoAnn Albrecht, 450 Dawngate Ln., Rolling Meadows, endorsed by Dist. 211 teachers, led the balloting with 1,765 votes. Incumbent Anna Countryman, 233 E. Norman Dr., Palatine, won with 1,620 votes and incumbent William Stenstrom, 129 Maple Ct., Palatine, came in third with 1,464 votes. Each has won a three-year term.

A total of 8,844 votes were cast for seven Dist. 211 candidates Saturday compared with 2,177 cast last year for two candidates in an uncontested race. The voter turnout was one of the highest in Dist. 211 in recent years.

INCUMBENT GLENN Hargrave, 471 Creekwood Dr., Palatine, came in fourth Saturday with 1,344 votes and teacher-backed candidate Dewane Barnes, 41 S. Elm St., Palatine, was in fifth with 1,202. Richard Gillette, 311 W. Daniels Rd., Palatine received 971 and Lewis Davidson, 79 King George Ct., Palatine Township, got 471.

Poll watchers for candidates backed by teachers in both Dist. 211 and Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 were challenged by election judges in four precincts in Schaumburg Township. When the judges refused to admit the watchers, David Tomcheck, local representative for the Illinois Education Assn., phoned officials of the State's Attorney's office and asked them to intervene.

The judges refused to admit poll watchers who were not residents of the district on the advice of attorneys for Dist. 211 and Dist. 54. The attorneys said the Illinois School Code says a poll watcher must be a legal voter where the election takes place.

Assistant State's Atty. Richard Means visited polling places and ruled that the poll watchers must be admitted. He referred to the code of the Illinois Election Code which says a poll watcher need only be a resident of the county.

DIST. 211 Business Mgr. James Slater said the situation was resolved when the candidates replaced challenged poll watchers with poll watchers who live in the district. But Slater said attorneys probably will continue to battle over the legal dispute to avoid a confrontation next year.

Means said his goal Saturday was to see that "all sides are represented in the polling places." The attorneys can "dance on the heads of legal pins later," he said.

This is the first year poll watchers have been used by the teachers' union, Tomcheck said.

MICHAEL ROTHMANN, poll watcher for Dist. 54 candidate Sherry Reynolds, was challenged by judges in Precinct 7 at MacArthur School in Hoffman Estates. "I came out strictly because I believe in fair elections. Any illegal acts in polling places are important to me," said Rothmann, who is also a trustee on the County Board of School Trustees. He did not report any irregularities.

"It seems to me there was unusual harassment" of poll watchers, said Reynolds, who said she was "functioning under the best legal judgment I could get" and had no idea the watchers would be challenged. She said several of her watchers were chosen by the teachers' union officials who wanted to identify which teachers came to the polls.

"THE TEACHER vote that we hoped would turn out simply did not materialize," Barnes said after the vote tally. "The teacher organization did a fine job in organizing my campaign. They did the best they could."

"I didn't expect to win," Barnes said, but "we gave them a run for their money." Barnes said teachers have asked him to seek election to the Dist. 211 board again next year.

Hargrave said he was disappointed that he did not win his bid for reelection but he was glad to see the two incumbents were elected. He also threw his support to Mrs. Albrecht. "I think Jody will do a good job," Hargrave said he believes the teachers "created a lot of unnecessary turmoil at the polls today but I guess that's the world we live in."

Stenstrom said he was "elated" at being reelected to a second term but was disappointed Hargrave wasn't seated. He said he was "overcome by the sadness that one of our most dedicated board members won't be on the board."

STENSTROM SAID the teachers' activity in the election this year is "unfortunate" and he restated his platform that "teachers should not be on boards."

In his campaign, Stenstrom said he would vote to close Palatine High School and name the district's new school Palatine High School. He said the old building should be sold to the Village of Palatine for municipal offices and a teen center.

Mrs. Albrecht was out of town and could not be reached for comment. Mrs. Countryman said she had no comment.

WAITING FOR ASSISTANT State's Atty. Richard Means are poll watchers Michael Rothmann, left, and Robert Glorch, right, who were challenged by election judges in Saturday's High School Dist. 211 Board of Education race. The two were representing teacher-backed candidates and were challenged because they are not district residents.

Incumbent Eilering loses

Meyer, Kendall defeat two for seats on school board

by LINDA PUNCH

Incumbent Joel Meyer and newcomer Walter Kendall won over two other candidates, including long-time board member Otto Eilering, in the Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 school board election Saturday.

Eilering trailed the winners by more than 300 votes. Kendall, who was supported by the Dist. 15 teachers' union, said his goal was to unseat one of the incumbents.

Kendall received 1,152 votes; Meyer, 1,091; Eilering, 778, and Wentz, 701.

Kendall said his first reaction to his victory is "we did very well — with the emphasis on the we, I had a lot of support."

"Other than that, I think we can have a new beginning starting Wednesday," he said.

EILERING SAID his "biggest comment" on the election is that "politics got into the school board election and that's too bad." He said he plans to continue to attend board meetings. He has served on the board nine years.

Meyer was unavailable for comment.

Kendall, 33, is a lawyer and assistant to the director of the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid. In his campaign, Kendall said the board needed new members since "it is not now, as presently constituted, representative. It is not deliberately or truly open in its processes and procedures."

Former cop fined for shoplifting

A former Rolling Meadows policeman pleaded guilty to a Mount Prospect shoplifting charge and was fined $90 in the Mount Prospect branch of Circuit Court.

The man, Coe Meyer, 25, of 3707 Bobway Ct., Rolling Meadows, was arrested Feb. 13 and charged with the attempted theft of a $20 shirt from the Different Circle shop at the Maurice Rothschild & Co. store, Randhurst Shopping Center.

Incumbents Artemenko, Aronson win in 214

Incumbents Gene Artemenko and Arthur Aronson breezed to victory in the High School Dist. 214 Board of Education race, overcoming a challenge by Elk Grove Village resident Virginia Tisworth.

Artemenko led all vote getters with 2,474 votes in the low key race that had few issues. Aronson received 2,358 votes compared to Mrs. Tisworth's 1,624.

"I'm pleased and looking forward to another term on the board," said Artemenko, who has served on the board for four years.

"We'll have to pay close attention to the citizens' committee," he said. "The issue won't go away; we'll have to face it."

ARTEMENKO WAS referring to a citizens' committee recommendation calling for about $24 million in improvements and additions to district schools. The board has not made a decision on the proposal which has drawn some heat from critics.

Aronson has been on the board since 1962.

Mrs. Tisworth won none of the district's 22 precincts, but topped Aronson in the Grove Junior High School area of Elk Grove Village and narrowly beat him in her home district of Lovely Junior High School, Elk Grove Village, where she trailed Artemenko of Des Plaines, by 48 votes.

Mrs. Tisworth topped Artemenko in only one precinct, the Jack London Junior High School area in Wheeling.

by LYNN ASINOFF
U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, will no longer represent Wheeling Township in Washington, D.C. If plans for redistricting the sprawling 10th and 12th Illinois Congressional districts go forward, if the Illinois General Assembly passes a plan submitted Saturday, Crane's district will move east into Des Plaines and Wheeling Township will be in U.S. Rep. Robert McClory's district.

The reapportionment plan would create a new district composed of Wheeling, Northfield and New Trier townships, Morton Grove, Niles and sections of Lake County. This would put McClory, R-13th, in a district composed of parts of the 10th, 12th and 13th districts.

A spokesman for Crane Sunday said the Congressman had not had a chance to study the proposed redistricting map, but would be particularly upset with the loss of Wheeling Township, which he called "the heart" of the 12th District.

"I think any change in the district line is something that he would be very disappointed with, particularly Wheeling Township," the spokesman said, noting that Crane has represented Wheeling Township since first elected.

U.S. REP. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, Sunday charged the redistricting plan was a scheme by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to exert more control over the suburban Democratic Party.

Mikva, who would be mapped into a district now represented by U.S. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-9th, charged that the independent areas were being linked to Chicago-dominated districts. He said marginal areas of the 10th District where Democrats could have been cultivated were being thrown back to the Republican strongholds.

The plan, filed Saturday by Senate Pres. Cecil A. Partee, attaches Des Plaines and Park Ridge to Crane's 12th

District. They are now represented by Mikva. Evanston, Mikva's home, is joined with Yates' 9th District to the south in Chicago.

Mikva was once before mapped out of his district when the 1971 reapportionment erased the old 2nd District on the South Side of Chicago.

"THIS ONE IS A CLINKER," Mikva said of the proposed reapportionment plan. "This was thought up in spleen and malice and really doesn't even achieve a partisan purpose."

Mikva said the plan was "a potent and piquish plan to get even" for the fact that he failed to endorse Daley in his bid for reelection.

"I think the legislature, which has done so much of late to create its own independence from city hall domination, will understand what this map is all about," Mikva said. "I think they will bury it."

Candidates get in last-minute words

Bears' stadium becomes an issue

by JOANN VAN WYE

"I don't like the idea of the Bears moving out here. How do you feel about it?"

"I just don't like the idea of 80,000 people tracking through here. It will erode the community and suburban atmosphere," Fred Federighi said when approached by John V. Serio for his vote in Tuesday's Palatine village election.

Frank Caffrey, a neighbor of Federighi, said he also would like to see Palatine do everything it can to keep the Chicago Bears from going ahead with plans to have an 80,000-seat stadium built near the Arlington Park Race Track.

"We already have one white elephant," Caffrey said, pointing to the 14-story Old Madrid apartment building, "we don't need another."

THESE WERE among the concerns that candidates for the village board encountered this weekend as they wound up their campaigns with a door-knocking blitz, flurry of handshaking and last-minute coffees and sign posting.

All six candidates for the village board took advantage of the weekend's sunny skies to get out and ring doorbells looking for potential voters.

The candidates found many residents outside trying to get a jump on the spring yard work and house repairs. Most were happy for a chance to take a rest and were in the mood for listening.

One man, who was trying to get his Volkswagen running, stopped to listen to a candidate's campaign pitch. After hearing it he said, "My wife follows this. Maybe you had better talk to her. I just follow her recommendations."

Campaign literature was stuffed in the mailboxes of those homeowners who weren't at home. The literature outlined the platform of Republicans Bryan P. Coughlin, Serio and Philip E. Stern or one of the Independents, Fred H. Zajonc, Patricia E. Miramonti or Thomas D. LaDore.

ONE WOMAN, when asked if she would support the Republican ticket, said "I don't think so. I am not real happy with the way you have handled the budget or the unanimous way of thinking (on the board)." Others said they always voted Republican and planned to do so again on Tuesday. For each response a plus or minus went down on the poll sheet.

Come election day there will be telephone calls to make sure all the pluses get out and cast their ballot.

Several residents said they hoped the board would continue to take a hard-line approach with developers and one added the previous administration had been much too lax.

But most had no comment beyond a "thank you" or "good luck" as they took the campaign literature.

This mood prompted one candidate to describe the village as "a bed of apathy." Unlike two years ago when there was a heated race between a Village Incumbent Party ticket and Republican slate, there seem to be few issues to rally the people behind.

Only one more grueling day of campaigning and it will be over. Three will be elected and for the others there is always 1977.

SHAKING HANDS and kissing babies is all part of Tuesday's election for the candidates including Fred H. Zajonc, an independent who is seeking a seat on the Palatine village board. Three trustees will be elected.

JOHN SERIO, Republican candidate for the Palatine Village Board, pounds the pavement in last-minute efforts to round up votes for Tuesday's election.

lates. "I came out strictly because I believe in fair elections. Any illegal acts in polling places are important to me," said Rothmann, who is also a trustee on the County Board of School Trustees. He did not report any irregularities.

"It seems to me there was unusual harassment" of poll watchers, said Reynolds, who said she was "functioning under the best legal judgment I could get" and had no idea the watchers would be challenged. She said several of her watchers were chosen by the teachers' union officials who wanted to identify which teachers came to the polls.

"THE TEACHER vote that we hoped would turn out simply did not materialize," Barnes said after the vote tally. "The teacher organization did a fine job in organizing my campaign. They did the best they could."

"I didn't expect to win," Barnes said, but "we gave them a run for their money." Barnes said teachers have asked him to seek election to the Dist. 211 board again next year.

Hargrave said he was disappointed that he did not win his bid for reelection but he was glad to see the two incumbents were elected. He also threw his support to Mrs. Albrecht. "I think Jody will do a good job," Hargrave said he believes the teachers "created a lot of unnecessary turmoil at the polls today but I guess that's the world we live in."

Stenstrom said he was "elated" at being reelected to a second term but was disappointed Hargrave wasn't seated. He said he was "overcome by the sadness that one of our most dedicated board members won't be on the board."

STENSTROM SAID the teachers' activity in the election this year is "unfortunate" and he restated his platform that "teachers should not be on boards."

ELECT THOMAS LADORE INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE FOR VILLAGE TRUSTEE

On April 15th

MY GOALS ARE AS FOLLOWS

1. To work to bring an end to partisan politics in the Village and to encourage participation in local government by members of homeowners' associations and civic groups.
2. To use "more common sense" on the Village Board in the approach of enacting new ordinances, and to react as a servant of the people.
3. To eliminate unnecessary spending without reducing the level of village services.
4. To repeal the section of the conflict of interest ordinance which holds an employing broker responsible for the actions of his employee elected or appointed to a village government position. (Note: ordinance has been amended but has not been signed or published as of 4-8-75.)
5. To work to achieve more equalized representation on the Village Board from the village's 29 precincts. (Currently, two elected village officials live south of the railroad tracks and five live on the north side of the tracks.)
6. To reinstate and complete the once approved Colfax Street project, which, despite expenditure of nearly $100,000 in engineering and legal fees, was abandoned by the board in August. (Note: President Jones had voted for this project prior to his election and never cast a dissenting vote.)
7. To work to continue to lessen flooding and supporting the Upper Salt Creek Watershed Program 100%.
8. To initiate an ordinance requiring a "Public" referendum before any general obligation bonds or revenue bonds can be issued by the village.
9. To work to achieve the appointment and election of qualified professionals in land use operations on the Village Board and commissions. (There should be Realtors, Engineers, Attorneys, Building Contractors — "People who know something about land use." This would eliminate unnecessary spending in hiring outside consulting firms.)

'Patterns in Spring' fashion show slated

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15

The second annual Lake Louise PTA "Patterns in Spring" home-sewn fashion show will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the school, 500 N. Jonathan, Palatine.

A variety of outfits from pajamas to pantsuits, sportswear to evening gowns will be shown and children and mothers will model the handmade garments. The fifth- and sixth-grade chorus will present music and there will be a door prize and refreshments. This will be the final association meeting this school year.

A rematch volleyball game between parents and teachers at Jane Adams School, 1020 Sayles Dr., Palatine, will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. The game is sponsored by the PTA. Refreshments will be served.

The PTA is also sponsoring a family night April 29 at 7:30 p.m. The program will include a judo demonstration and parent and student exercise program.

Arlington Heights Dist. 25

What is the school district doing for your child? That will be the topic of a panel discussion at the dads' early bird coffee, presented by the PTA of Kensington School, 201 S. Evanston, Arlington Heights, at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

"Help-Don't Push the Panic Button," a program that will deal with first aid and survival emergencies will be presented by the PTA of Ivy Hill School Tuesday. Speakers will be Lt. Bob Beatty from Glenview Naval Air Station and Lonny Jackson from the Mount Prospect Fire Dept.

The school is at 2211 N. Burke Dr., Arlington Heights.

Eleven Dist. 25 schools have been honored by the Chicago Motor Club for their record of no accidents during the last school year at intersections patrolled by members of the school safety patrol.

The schools honored and the number of successive years without an accident are: Berkley, 4; Dryden, 23; Ivy Hill, 7; Kensington, 13; North, 29; Olive, 7; Park 24; Poe, 4; Ridge, 21; Wilson, 25; Windsor, 16.

River Trails Dist. 26

Harry Volkman will present a meteorological talk to third, fourth, fifth and sixth graders at Parkway School, 603 Burning Bush Ln., Mount Prospect, at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Student projects will be on display at a social studies fair at Michael Collins School, 407 S. Summit Dr., Schaumburg. The fair is being held in conjunction with the PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the multi-purpose room of the school.

Mount Prospect Dist. 57

Artist Cheryl Quick, of Lisle, will demonstrate mono-printing and other types of printing from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at Fairview School, 300 N. Fairview Ave., Mount Prospect.

A fashion show and luncheon also will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the school. Tickets are $2.50 and can be purchased by calling Noreen Sebastian at 253-0383.

A night for fathers to meet with Principal Cyril Kozel also is Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school library.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Parents and students are invited to attend an open meeting at Holmes Junior High School, 1900 W. Lonnquist Blvd., Elk Grove Village, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

"Vandalism, the Cost, Seriousness and Consequences" will be the topic of the program with guest panelist Richard Jenness, principal of Holmes Junior High School; Jack Martin, principal of Forest View High School; Adolph Danta, director of buildings and grounds for School Dist. 59, and Ken Zsacch, Mount Prospect Police Dept.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 96

Students may order school sweatshirts this week at Twin Groves and Willow Grove schools. The sweatshirts are navy blue and will be imprinted with the school name in gold. Children's sizes are $3.50 and adult sizes are $4. Order forms and money must be returned to the schools by Friday. For further information call, 541-1271.

YOUR VILLAGE... YOUR CHOICE!

Bryan Coughlin... "On taxes and planning"

"I reject the call for higher real estate taxes to produce artificially high surpluses... unnecessary surplus funds should be in the homeowner's pockets rather than the village coffers. We should continue a tough bargaining position with real estate developers and place the rights of current homeowners above any special interests."

John Serio... "On flooding and public safety"

"Banning building in the flood plain should be just the first of many local solutions to the flood problem... we can and should do more."

"Let's install an early warning Flood Alarm System in the creeks."

"The adoption of '911' as a new emergency phone number of Police, Fire and paramedics should be considered."

Philip Stern... "On responsive and open government"

"It's wrong for any official to provide financial benefits for his employer through village action."

"Let's work with homeowner associations to put up stop-signs where they are needed and reduce residential street speed limits to 25 mph."

Wheeling Tw p. faces seperation from Crane's district

by LYNN ASINOFF
U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, will no longer represent Wheeling Township in Washington, D.C. If plans for redistricting the sprawling 10th and 12th Illinois Congressional districts go forward, Crane's district will move east into Des Plaines and Wheeling Township will be in U.S. Rep. Robert McClory's district.

The reapportionment plan would create a new district composed of Wheeling, Northfield and New Trier townships, Morton Grove, Niles and sections of Lake County. This would put McClory, R-13th, in a district composed of parts of the 10th, 12th and 13th districts.

A spokesman for Crane Sunday said the Congressman had not had a chance to study the proposed redistricting map, but would be particularly upset with the loss of Wheeling Township, which he called "the heart" of the 12th District.

"I think any change in the district line is something that he would be very disappointed with, particularly Wheeling Township," the spokesman said, noting that Crane has represented Wheeling Township since first elected.

U.S. REP. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, Sunday charged the redistricting plan was a scheme by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to exert more control over the suburban Democratic Party.

Mikva, who would be mapped into a district now represented by U.S. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-9th, charged that the independent areas were being linked to Chicago-dominated districts. He said marginal areas of the 10th District where Democrats could have been cultivated were being thrown back to the Republican strongholds.

The plan, filed Saturday by Senate Pres. Cecil A. Parlee, attaches Des Plaines and Park Ridge to Crane's 12th District. They are now represented by Mikva. Evanston, Mikva's home, is joined with Yates' 9th District to the south in Chicago.

Mikva was once before mapped out of his district when the 1971 reapportionment erased the old 2nd District on the South Side of Chicago.

"THIS ONE IS A clunker," Mikva said of the proposed reapportionment plan. "This was thought up in spleen and malice and really doesn't even achieve a partisan purpose."

Mikva said the plan was "a petulant and piquish plan to get even" for the fact that he failed to endorse Daley in his bid for reelection.

"I think the legislature, which has done so much of late to create its own independence from city hall domination, will understand what this map is all about," Mikva said. "I think they will bury it."

William Donovan

David Grobe

Donovan, Grobe win seats on Dist. 57 board

William Donovan and David Grobe won election to the Mount Prospect Dist. 57 Board of Education Saturday.

Donovan, 9 N. Owen St., topped the field of four with 432 votes. Grobe, 603 W. Henry St., received 332. Dolores Corr, 215 N. Main St., got 297 votes and Sharon Stobe, 16 N. Lancaster, 160. Vote totals are unofficial until canvassed.

Both Donovan and Grobe said they would spend the first few months on the board learning as much as possible.

Donovan said, "This really feels great. I owe it to a lot of people who worked very hard for me — my family, friends and neighbors. I intend to be an excellent board member."

"One thing I want to be able to do is keep as much communication as possible between board members, administration and the general public," he said.

Grobe said he hadn't done much campaigning for the post but did distribute fliers at the train station, bank and library before the election.

Donovan is a former board member in Jefferson Township Dist. 86 and ran on a platform of open communications. Board members should go to the public and inform residents about the district and get feedback about the board's actions, he said.

Grobe, an industrial arts teacher at Maine West High School, said during campaigning that the Dist. 57 educational program is excellent. He said the board should establish a priority system that would cut what least affects the quality of education if budget cuts are necessary.

Barbara Somogyi

3 winners in Dist. 59 schools race

Lynne Helvie and Barbara Somogyi won three-year terms on the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education Saturday, unseating an incumbent, in extremely light voter turnout.

Only 752 persons voted in the election, which also saw incumbent Board Pres. Gerald Smiley win reelection to a one-year term. Smiley was unopposed.

In the race for the three-year term, Mrs. Helvie, 1150 Leicester Rd., Elk Grove Village, was the top vote getter with an unofficial total of 477. Mrs. Somogyi, 310 Dorchester Ln., Elk Grove Village, received 392 votes.

Failing to retain her seat was Jean Cashman, who received 277 votes. Mrs. Cashman, 956 Brantwood, Elk Grove Village, was named to the board in January to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Charles Knaup.

Also defeated was Curtis McKim, 159 W. Brantwood, who received 258 votes.

Mrs. Helvie, director of the Elk Grove Village Youth Employment Service, said she had no specific plans for her role as a board member. "I think things are pretty well planned out what we have to do," she said referring to the selection of a new superintendent and further investigation of a fall tax referendum.

"I'm ready to start learning," said Mrs. Somogyi, president of the Byrd School PTO. "There's a job to be done. I'm sure I'll have lots of homework to do to be a capable, active and helpful board member."

YOU COULDN'T tell by the expression on her face, but Lynne Helvie won a three-year term on the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education in Saturday's election. Mrs. Helvie led votegetters with 477 in a light turnout. Also elected were Barbara Somogyi and Gerald Smiley.

Tom Heckenbach doesn't worry about 'Future Shock' — as long as he can live comfortably 'in the past'

by BOB GALLAS

The ring of the alarm goes unheard. Tom Heckenbach is long out of bed, roused at first light by his rooster crowing in back of his home in Palatine Township.

By the dim, dawn light, Heckenbach's thin, bespectacled figure looks older than his 31 years as he moves about checking a yard full of animals, setting a scene reminiscent of 100 years ago.

Clad in overalls, corn-cob pipe jutting from his fiery red beard, he is alone in a world tailor-made to suit himself.

Some call his lifestyle eccentric, but he calls it "comfortable."

AND TOM HECKENBACH is very comfortable — in his job as Elk Grove High School Latin teacher mornings, power mechanics instructor afternoons; in his car, a '53 Ford station wagon which runs on a mixture of gasoline and kerosene; on his tractor which saw its best year in 1943; or in hunting with his Civil War muzzle-loading rifle.

And he's comfortable in his home, which would set just about any antique dealer drooling.

"Some people jog in the morning. I chop wood," said Heckenbach, tuning in a pop radio station on his 1927 console radio set. Wood is needed to stoke the pot-bellied stove in the living room, which provides heat for the house.

HECKENBACH IS A SAVER and recycler, fixing up old things to use again, like the wood burning stove he cooked on. He recently replaced the relic with a newer model — a 1920 gas-burning stove.

"I guess it's just my sense of continuity," said Heckenbach. "I'm really proud of the fact that my family has lived around here for 200 years. I've inherited most of this stuff."

"This stuff" includes an 1860s Bible which he reads nightly, his turn-of-the-century bed in which he's slept since childhood, his antique coffee grinder which provides fresh coffee daily, the chest he bought at a garage sale and later learned dated back to the 1600s, the half dozen kerosene lamps which he uses for light. He has electricity — "for the sump pump."

BUT IT'S NOT WHAT is in his home or around it that sets Tom Heckenbach off from the rest of the parade. It's Tom Heckenbach, the man.

He stands at the front of his Latin classes in boots, beard and jeans. It makes students feel comfortable. And so does his method of teaching.

"I guess I do teach Latin a little differently," said Heckenbach. "I teach it like a modern language."

"The kids write Latin essays on their camping or skiing

Incumbents win in High School Dist. 214

Incumbents Gene Artemenko and Arthur Aronson breezed to victory in the High School Dist. 214 Board of Education race, overcoming a challenge by Elk Grove Village resident Virginia Titworth.

Artemenko led all vote getters with 2,474 votes in the low key race that had few issues. Aronson received 2,338 votes compared to Mrs. Titworth's 1,621.

"I'm pleased and looking forward to another term on the board," said Artemenko, who has served on the board for four years.

"We'll have to pay close attention to the citizens' committee," he said. "The issue won't go away; we'll have to face it."

ARTEMENKO WAS referring to a citizens' committee recommendation calling for about $21 million in improvements and additions to district schools. The board has not made a decision on the proposal which has drawn some heat from critics.

Aronson has been on the board since 1962.

Mrs. Titworth won none of the district's 22 precincts, but topped Aronson in the Grove Junior High School area of Elk Grove Village and narrowly beat him in her home district of Lovely Junior High School, Elk Grove Village, where she trailed Artemenko of Des Plaines, by 48 votes.

Mrs. Titworth topped Artemenko in only one precinct, the Jack London Junior High School area in Wheeling.

Stiller, Rose win in Dist. 21

Incumbents Lillian Stiller and Susan Rose were elected Saturday to three-year terms on the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 Board of Education.

Mrs. Stiller and Mrs. Rose were challenged by James DeNoma and Allan Blattner.

According to unofficial tallies, Mrs. Stiller received 391 votes; Mrs. Rose, 370; DeNoma, 297, and Blattner, 135.

MRS. STILLER, 683 S. Wayne Pl., Wheeling, said the low voter turnout "is a vote of confidence for the whole district. Maybe a low turnout shows people are satisfied with the district." Mrs. Rose, 174 Timber Hill Rd., Buffalo Grove, also said the voter turnout showed people do not have complaints with the way the district is running.

About 1,100 votes were cast this year as compared with 1,521 last year when there also were four candidates running for two three-year posts.

Mrs. Stiller said she looks forward to her fourth term on the board and will be following the budget and curriculum plans in the district. She said she plans to use the district's more secure financial base to work on curriculum improvements. The district this year had a surplus for the first time.

MRS. ROSE, who was appointed to the board in August, said she is "very happy and was proud of the candidates we had. I feel we had very qualified candidates."

She said she is interested in looking at the reading and math programs in the district and through her campaign has found interest in a hot lunch program and foreign language in the elementary schools.

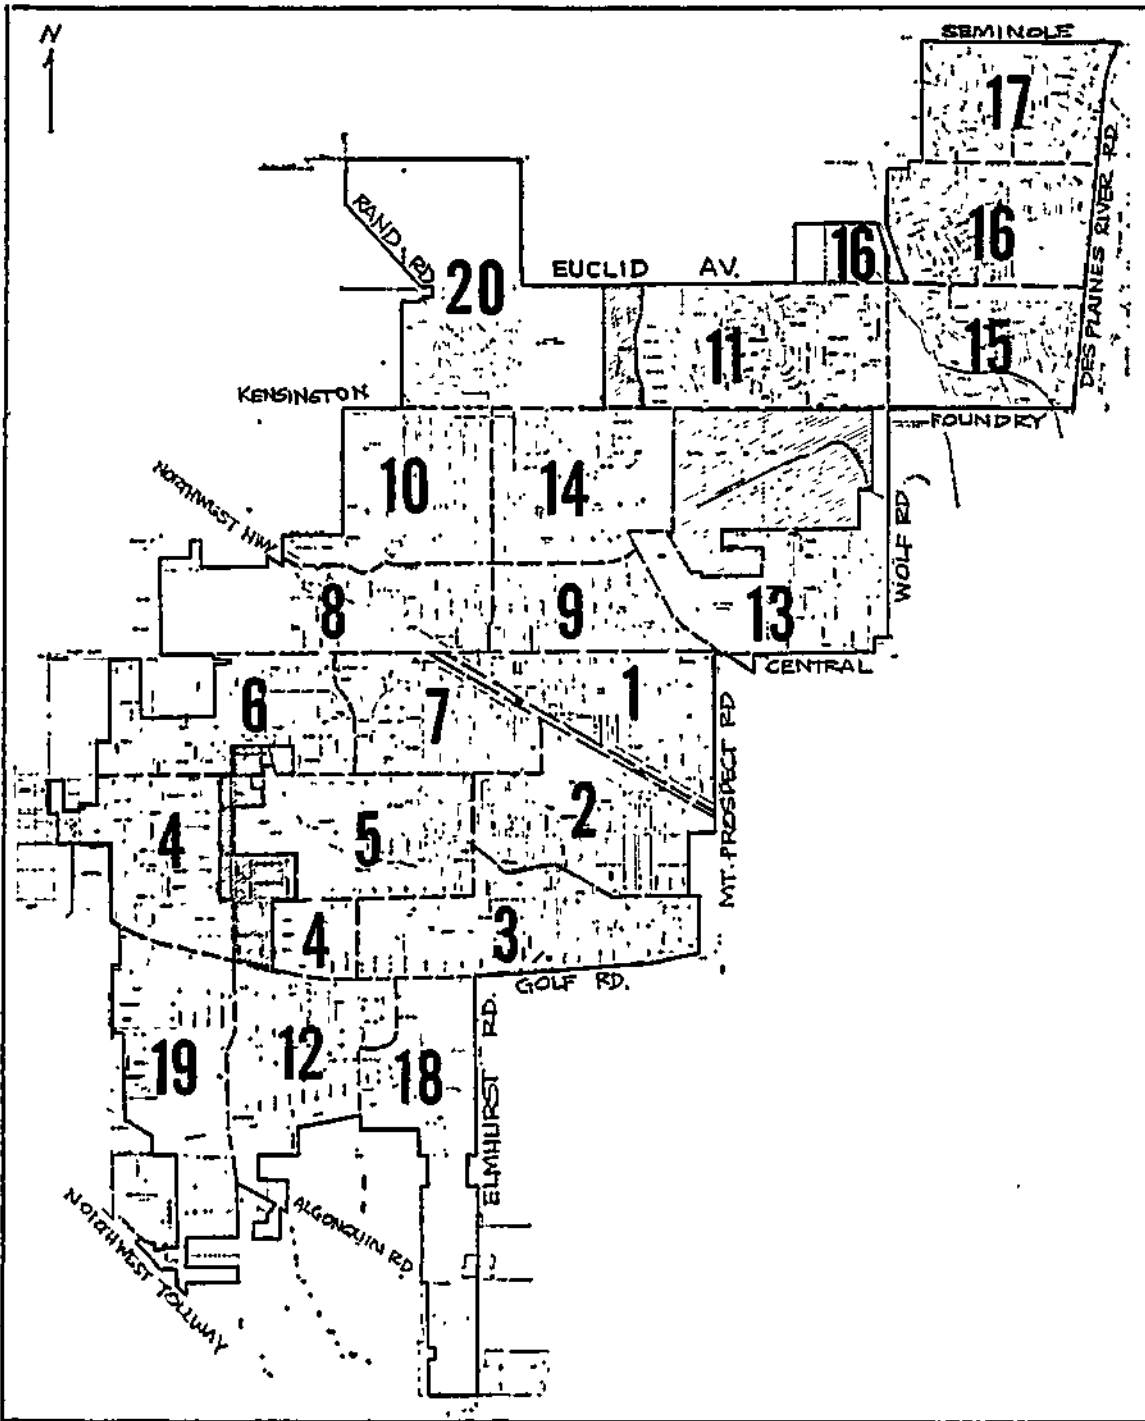

Mrs. Rose said she also wants to inform citizens about legislation that will affect the schools so that they can write supporting letters.

Worker arrested on forgery count

Rex Allen Austin, 20, an employee of FWJ Co., Des Plaines, was arrested Friday by Mount Prospect Police for forgery.

Police said Austin tried to cash a stolen payroll check from E. I. DuPont Co. for more than $700. A cashier at a currency exchange in the Mount Prospect Plaza called police when Austin attempted to cash the check, reports said.

An original $10,000 bond was reduced to $2,500 for Austin. His court appearance is scheduled for May 16.

Campaign winds down

'Unresponsiveness' called key issue by independents

Independents have labeled the "unresponsiveness" of the current village board the major issue in Tuesday's election which will determine five seats on the Mount Prospect Village Board.

Six independents are challenging the five members of the incumbent United Citizens Party, hoping to win a majority on the board and thus change the philosophy of village government.

The three-month campaign got off to a slow start because candidates on the United Citizens Party declined to debate the issue of their responsiveness. The United Citizens group drew up a platform that is an extension of existing village policies and programs, and is running on the record of the present board.

THE UNITED Citizens ticket includes incumbents George B. Anderson, Marie L. Caylor, and O.T. Gustus, zoning board chairman Carolyn H. Krause and newcomer Edward G. Wells. Five seats are up in this election, rather than the usual three, because both Mrs. Caylor and Gustus were appointed to the board. Both are seeking two-year terms.

Independents have been focusing on two issues which they say illustrate the present board's lack of responsiveness. First is the approval of a $3.2 million public library financed by bonds issued under the village's home-rule powers rather than through a referendum.

Although several of the independents have said there is a need for a new public library, all have attacked the board's action without a vote by the people.

The second issue is the board's near approval of a 2,350-unit apartment project on the Rob Roy golf course. Noting residents' intense opposition to the project, several independents have charged that none of the board members should have voted for it.

THE INDEPENDENTS seeking four-year terms include former mayoral candidate Michael H. Minton, incumbent Richard N. Hendricks and Theodore Wattenberg, member of the River Trails Dist. 26 Board of Education. Seeking two-year terms are unsuccessful 1973 candidate Leo Floros, Edward B. Rhea Jr. and Norma Muraskis, head of the village blood program.

Most current village board members maintain that they are elected by the people to exercise their own judgment on controversial issues, despite popular opinion. Most independents maintain that their own views should take a back seat to the opinions of the majority of village residents.

The independents also have advocated reducing or halting apartment development in the village, and have criticized the current board for "irresponsible development." The United Citizens candidates maintain the development has benefited the village tax base.

Parks to meet tonight

The Mount Prospect Park District will meet at 8 p.m. today at the Administrative Center, 411 S. Maple.

Voters to cast ballots Tuesday

11 seeking 5 trustee positions

Mount Prospect voters Tuesday will elect 5 of a field of 11 candidates for trustee.

Candidates running under the United Citizens Party for four-year terms are Carolyn H. Krause, Edward G. Wells and George B. Anderson. Joining them on the slate for two-year terms are Marie L. Caylor and O. T. Gustus.

Challenging the party candidates are independents Theodore Wattenberg, Richard N. Hendricks and Michael H. Minton who are waging their campaigns for four-year terms.

Independents seeking two-year terms are Leo Floros, Edward B. Rhea and Norma Muraskis.

There are three four-year and two two-year terms to be filled in this election.

Polling places will open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the following locations:

Precinct 1 at the Village Hall, 112 E. Northwest Hwy.; Precinct 2, Lions Park School, 300 E. Council Tr.; Precinct 3, Sunset Park School, 601 W. Lannquist Blvd.; Precinct 4, Forest View School, 1901 Estates Dr.; and Precinct 5, Mount Prospect Country Club, 600 S. See-Gwan.

Due to space limitations, L.L. Floros' column will appear Tuesday.

Precinct 6, Westbrook School, 105 S. Busse Rd.; Precinct 7, Lincoln School, 700 W. Lincoln St.; Precinct 8, Friedrichs Funeral Home, 3 N. Ridge St.; Precinct 9, William Busse School, 101 N. Owen St.; and Precinct 10, Fairview School, 300 N. Fairview.

'Patterns in Spring' fashion show slated

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15

The second annual Lake Louise PTA "Patterns in Spring" home-sown fashion show will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the school, 500 N. Jonathan, Palatine.

A variety of outfits from pajamas to pantsuits, sportswear to evening gowns will be shown and children and mothers will model the handmade garments. The fifth- and sixth-grade chorus will present music and there will be a door prize and refreshments. This will be the final association meeting this school year.

A rematch volleyball game between parents and teachers at Jane Addams School, 1030 Sayles Dr., Palatine, will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. The game is sponsored by the PTA. Refreshments will be served.

The PTA is also sponsoring a family night April 20 at 7:30 p.m. The program will include a judo demonstration and parent and student exercise program.

Arlington Heights Dist. 25

What is the school district doing for your child? That will be the topic of a panel discussion at the dad's early bird coffee, presented by the PTA of Kensington School, 201 S. Evanston, Arlington Heights, at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

"Help-Don't Push the Panic Button," a program that will deal with first aid and survival emergencies will be presented by the PTA of Ivy Hill School Tuesday. Speakers will be Lt. Bob Beatty from Glenview Naval Air Station and Lonny Jackson from the Mount Prospect Fire Dept.

The school is at 2211 N. Burke Dr., Arlington Heights.

Eleven Dist. 25 schools have been honored by the Chicago Motor Club for their record of no accidents during the last school year at intersections patrolled by members of the school safety patrol.

The schools honored and the number of successive years without an accident are: Berkley, 4; Dryden, 23; Ivy Hill, 7; Kensington, 13; North, 29; Olive, 7; Park, 24; Poe, 4; Ridge, 21; Wilson, 25; Windsor, 16.

River Trails Dist. 26

Harry Volkman will present a meteorological talk to third, fourth, fifth and sixth graders at Parkview School, 805 Burning Bush Ln., Mount Prospect, at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Student projects will be on display at a social studies fair at Michael Collins School, 407 S. Summit Dr., Schaumburg. The fair is being held in conjunction with the PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the multi-purpose room of the school.

Mount Prospect Dist. 57

Artist Cheryl Quick, of Lisle, will demonstrate mono-printing and other types of printing from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at Fairview School, 300 N. Fairview Ave., Mount Prospect.

A fashion show and luncheon also will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the school. Tickets are $2.50 and can be purchased by calling Noreen Sebastian at 253-0383.

A night for fathers to meet with Principal Cyril Kozol also is Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school library.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Parents and students are invited to attend an open meeting at Holmes Junior High School, 1900 W. Lonnquist Blvd., Elk Grove Village, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

"Vandalism, the Cost, Seriousness and Consequences" will be the topic of the program with guest panelist Richard Jenness, principal of Holmes Junior High School; Jack Martin, principal of Forest View High School; Adolph Danta, director of buildings and grounds for School Dist. 59, and Ken Zszech, Mount Prospect Police Dept.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 96

Students may order school sweatshirts this week at Twin Groves and Willow Grove schools. The sweatshirts are navy blue and will be imprinted with the school name in gold. Children's sizes are $3.50 and adult sizes are $4. Order forms and money must be returned to the schools by Friday. For further information call, 541-1271.

- Maintain a balanced budget and existing Village AA credit rating. Continued monitoring of Village expenditures.
- Provide a positive housing program to help our senior citizens remain in Mt. Prospect.
- Retain the present form of government with trustees elected at large.
- Maintain our present professional police department.
- Support completion of the flood control program.
- Continue Village cooperation with residents toward purchase, control and maintenance of existing private utilities.
- Support the use of the present public library building, when available, as a senior citizens recreational center and cultural facility.
- Expand the Village beautification program, placing emphasis on tree plantings in cooperation with civic organizations.
- Revise the Village Ordinances dealing with multi-family dwellings, including the reduction of presently permitted density.
- Support the revitalization of the downtown area.
- Improve communications with residents through a newsletter.
- Continue active cooperation with the Northwest Municipal Conference in areas of mutual concern, i.e., adequate water resources, flood control, computer services, RTA, solid waste disposal, major traffic improvements, et cetera. The complete solution of these problems depend largely upon intergovernmental cooperation.

Wheeling Twp. faces separation from Crane's district

by LYNN ASINOFF
U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, will no longer represent Wheeling Township in Washington, D.C. if plans for redistricting the sprawling 10th and 12th Illinois Congressional districts go forward. If the Illinois General Assembly passes a plan submitted Saturday, Crane's district will move east into Des Plaines and Wheeling Township will be in U.S. Rep. Robert McClory's district.

The reapportionment plan would create a new district composed of Wheeling, Northfield and New Trier townships, Morton Grove, Niles and sections of Lake County. This would put McClory, R-13th, in a district composed of parts of the 10th, 12th and 13th districts.

A spokesman for Crane Sunday said the Congressman had not had a chance to study the proposed redistricting map, but would be particularly upset with the loss of Wheeling Township, which he called "the heart" of the 12th District.

"I think any change in the district line is something that he would be very disappointed with, particularly Wheeling Township," the spokesman said, noting that Crane has represented Wheeling Township since first elected.

U.S. REP. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, Sunday charged the redistricting plan was a scheme by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to exert more control over the suburban Democratic Party.

Mikva, who would be mapped into a district now represented by U.S. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-9th, charged that the independent areas were being linked to Chicago-dominated districts. He said marginal areas of the 10th District where Democrats could have been cultivated were being thrown back to the Republican strongholds.

The plan, filed Saturday by Senate Pres. Cecil A. Partee, attaches Des Plaines and Park Ridge to Crane's 12th District. They are now represented by Mikva. Evanston, Mikva's home, is joined with Yates' 9th District to the south in Chicago.

Mikva was once before mapped out of his district when the 1971 reapportionment erased the old 2nd District on the South Side of Chicago.

"THIS ONE IS A clunker," Mikva said of the proposed reapportionment plan. "This was thought up in spleen and malice and really doesn't even achieve a partisan purpose."

Mikva said the plan was "a petulant and piquish plan to get even" for the fact that he failed to endorse Daley in his bid for reelection.

"I think the legislature, which has done so much of late to create its own independence from city hall domination, will understand what this map is all about," Mikva said. "I think they will bury it."

Gibbins defeats Vincenzo in Dist. 25 race

The perfect record of the Arlington Heights caucus remained intact as Donald Gibbins edged out Barbara Vincenzo by 31 votes in the Arlington Heights Dist. 25 Board of Education race for a one-year term Saturday.

The caucus backed Gibbins. Mrs. Vincenzo was only the fifth person in 20 years to run against a caucus-backed opponent, caucus choices have never lost to independent opposition.

Strong support in his home precinct in the South Junior High School area gave Gibbins the votes he needed to beat Mrs. Vincenzo, 410 to 379 in light voter turnout.

ELECTED TO three-year terms were unopposed incumbents, Nicholas Ralno and Bruce Chelberg. Richard Soby was also unopposed in the race for a two-year term.

Mrs. Vincenzo said she didn't know if she would ask for a recount.

Gibbins learned the news of his election after his return from his daughter's birthday dinner and promptly started another celebration.

"I'm looking forward to contributing as best I can to Dist. 25," said Gibbins, 207 W. Cedar. Gibbins said his immediate interest was the board's in-

3 winners in Dist. 59 schools race

Lynne Helvie and Barbara Somogyi won three-year terms on the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education Saturday, unseating an incumbent, in extremely light voter turnout.

Only 752 persons voted in the election, which also saw incumbent Board Pres. Gerald Smiley win reelection to a one-year term. Smiley was unopposed.

In the race for the three-year term, Mrs. Helvie, 1150 Leicester Rd., Elk Grove Village, was the top vote getter with an unofficial total of 477. Mrs. Somogyi, 310 Dorchester Ln., Elk Grove Village, received 392 votes.

Falling to retain her seat was Jean Cashman, who received 277 votes. Mrs. Cashman, 956 Brantwood, Elk Grove Village, was named to the board in January to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Charles Knaup.

Also defeated was Curtis McKim, 159 W. Brantwood, who received 258 votes.

Mrs. Helvie, director of the Elk Grove Village Youth Employment Service, said she had no specific plans for her role as a board member. "I think things are pretty well planned out what we have to do," she said referring to the selection of a new superintendent and further investigation of a fall tax referendum.

"I'm ready to start learning," said Mrs. Somogyi, president of the Byrd School PTO. "There's a job to be done. I'm sure I'll have lots of homework to do to be a capable, active and helpful board member."

YOU COULDN'T tell by the expression on her face, but Lynne Helvie won a three-year term on the Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 Board of Education in Saturday's election. Mrs. Helvie led votegetters with 477 in a light turnout. Also elected were Barbara Somogyi and Gerald Smiley.

Tom Heckenbach doesn't worry about 'Future Shock' — as long as he can live comfortably 'in the past'

by BOB GALLAS

The ring of the alarm goes unheard. Tom Heckenbach is long out of bed, roused at first light by his rooster crowing in back of his home in Palatine Township.

By the dim, dawn light, Heckenbach's thin, bespectacled figure looks older than his 31 years as he moves about checking a yard full of animals, setting a scene reminiscent of 100 years ago.

Clad in overalls, corncob pipe jutting from his fiery red beard, he is alone in a world tailor-made to suit himself.

Some call his lifestyle eccentric, but he calls it "comfortable."

AND TOM HECKENBACH is very comfortable — in his job as Elk Grove High School Latin teacher mornings, power mechanics instructor afternoons; in his car, a '53 Ford station wagon which runs on a mixture of gasoline and kerosene; on his tractor which saw its best year in 1943; or in hunting with his Civil War muzzle-loading rifle.

And he's comfortable in his home, which would set just about any antique dealer to drooling.

"Some people jog in the morning. I chop wood," said Heckenbach, tuning in a pop radio station on his 1927 console radio set. Wood is needed to stoke the pot-bellied stove in the living room, which provides heat for the house.

HECKENBACH IS A SAVER and recycler, fixing up old things to use again, like the wood burning stove he cooked on. He recently replaced the relic with a newer model — a 1920 gas-burning stove.

"I guess it's just my sense of continuity," said Heckenbach. "I'm really proud of the fact that my family has lived around here for 200 years. I've inherited most of this stuff."

"This stuff" includes an 1860s Bible which he reads nightly, his turn-of-the-century bed in which he's slept since childhood, his antique coffee grinder which provides fresh coffee daily, the chest he bought at a garage sale and later learned dated back to the 1800s, the half dozen kerosene lamps which he uses for light. He has electricity — "for the sump pump."

BUT IT'S NOT WHAT is in his home or around it that sets Tom Heckenbach off from the rest of the parade. It's Tom Heckenbach, the man.

He stands at the front of his Latin classes in boots, beard and jeans. It makes students feel comfortable. And so does his method of teaching.

"I guess I do teach Latin a little differently," said Heckenbach. "I teach it like a modern language."

Inflation, pay raises cause problems

Parks plan to upgrade maintenance, recreation

The Arlington Heights Park District will reinstate maintenance projects and work to upgrade its recreation programs while operating at a deficit this year until funds from last month's referendum are received.

It will be the first time the park district will have a deficit. The anticipated $43,000 deficit is being caused by the inflationary cost of utilities and oil-based materials, and a proposed 5 per cent merit increase in nonadministrative personnel salaries, said Thomas Thornton, park district director.

Thornton has suggested, in the park district's 1975-76 proposed budget, that half of the newly increased corporate and recreation taxes, that will be coming in early in 1976, be used to pay for the deficit.

VOTERS APPROVED a 5-cent per $100 assessed valuation increase in the corporate rate and a 4 1/2-cent per $100 assessed valuation increase in the recreation rate in a March 1 referendum.

"The increased tax money will start coming in half way through our new fiscal year early in 1976. The tax money comes in earlier than it used to, so the district can use these additional funds to cover the deficit without having to borrow money," Thornton said.

The proposed 1975-76 budget is about $100,000 more than the park district's

Historical park topic of meeting Wednesday

Members of the Arlington Heights Park Board, the village plan commission and the Prairie Farm and Garden Park Committee will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday to discuss the development of the proposed historical park. The meeting will be at the village hall, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Representatives of the Preservation/Urban Design Inc., the project planning firm, will be present to discuss the development concept of the park, land usage, traffic approaches, parking, location of facilities, drainage and research of the structures.

The 10-acre park, on the east side of Belmont Avenue between Golf Road and Haven Street, will include a farmhouse and barn to house livestock. The living, historical farm will be a replica of the early family farms in the Arlington Heights area during the late 1800s.

Preliminary grading of the property is expected this summer, although the complete development is not expected for several years.

The farm will be open for the public to experience the actual farm processes and chores that went on during the late 1800s. Residents will also be allowed to plant gardens and crops in the garden plots adjacent to the farm buildings.

The project is being funded with an aquarium and museum tax levied last year and which costs the average homeowner $1 each year.

Park district officials are asking residents to help with the development of the park and to attend Wednesday's meeting.

1974-75 $1 million budget. The proposed budget, including only the corporate and recreation funds, is about $1,114,913.

The proposed budget is more than last year's budget because of the proposed 5 per cent merit increase, the inflationary cost of materials, the hiring of an additional part-time custodian, and the purchase of maintenance equipment. The new equipment allocations include $10,000 to replace a boiler at Recreation Park, $10,000 to purchase two new maintenance vehicles that will replace two 15-year-old vehicles, $8,000 to purchase various maintenance equipment for the fieldhouses and $15,000 to reinstate several after-school and summer playground "no fee" programs.

MOST OF the maintenance equipment are items the park district could not afford to purchase last year because of its poor financial situation, Thornton said.

The proposed budget has been approved by the park district's finance committee and will be considered by the entire park board April 28. However, the finance committee was unable to agree on recommending the proposed 5 per cent merit increase for non-administrative personnel.

One finance committee member believes the merit increase is not enough. Katherine Muller, finance committee member and vice president of the park board, said the board should wait to decide in November on whether the merit increases "are justified."

"In November, we will already be half way through our new fiscal year. We will better be able to judge whether the personnel has worked to upgrade the quality of the park programs and care of the interior of the facilities, and whether they have an increase coming," she said.

THERE ARE NO cost-of-living increases for personnel in the budget, although the park district has attempted in the past to equal the wage increases and cost-of-living increases the village has provided to its employees.

"We just can't do it this year because we don't have enough money. The village is giving its personnel an 8 per cent salary increase across the board, plus a 5 per cent merit increase this year. We just can't afford to do the same," Mrs. Muller said.

Not all park personnel will receive a merit increase if it is approved by the park board. Some personnel may receive only a 2 per cent salary increase and some personnel will receive no increases, she said.

The finance committee has instructed the park board to spend the new tax funds that will begin to come in early next year which will total about $100,000, only on upgrading the quality of present recreation programs and on improving the maintenance of the park facilities, Mrs. Muller said.

"There is only one part-time custodian proposed in the budget and no other new personnel. This is because we are trying to concentrate on the maintenance aspect of the park district and upgrading what we have now instead of adding new programs and new facilities, she said.

THE FINANCE committee made minimal changes in the budget as it was proposed by Thornton. Those changes included a $1,000 reduction in travel expenses for park administrators.

"The proposed budget is basically the same as last year's except for the purchase of several maintenance items, the proposed merit increase and the increased cost of materials that the park district must have. Any other changes that will take place in the park district this year will be paid for with funds that were appropriated in the referendum for specific projects," Mrs. Muller said.

A $337,000 maintenance bond issue, part of the March 1 referendum, will provide for exterior maintenance projects and repairs at most of the park district's major facilities and parks.

Incumbents win in High School Dist. 214

Incumbents Gene Artemenko and Arthur Aronson breezed to victory in the High School Dist. 214 Board of Education race, overcoming a challenge by Elk Grove Village resident Virginia Tiltworth.

Artemenko led all vote getters with 2,474 votes in the low key race that had few issues. Aronson received 2,358 votes compared to Mrs. Tiltworth's 1,624.

"I'm pleased and looking forward to another term on the board," said Artemenko, who has served on the board for four years.

"We'll have to pay close attention to the citizens' committee," he said. "The issue won't go away; we'll have to face it."

ARTEMENKO WAS referring to a citizens' committee recommendation calling for about $21 million in improvements and additions to district schools. The board has not made a decision on the proposal which has drawn some heat from critics.

Aronson has been on the board since 1962.

Mrs. Tiltworth won none of the district's 22 precincts, but topped Aronson in the Grove Junior High School area of Elk Grove Village and narrowly beat him in her home district of Lovely Junior High School, Elk Grove Village, where she trailed Artemenko of Des Plaines, by 48 votes.

Mrs. Tiltworth topped Artemenko in only one precinct, the Jack London Junior High School area in Wheeling.

Only 53 trek to polls for Dist. 23 'race

Only 53 voters turned out Saturday for the uncontested school board election in Prospect Heights Dist. 23.

Elected to the board were incumbents Deanna Wells, Carl Poch and Ronald Sowatzko. All are from Prospect Heights.

Supt. Edward Grodsky said he was "very disappointed" in the turnout.

"I see a lot more of this happening unless we have a contested election," he said.

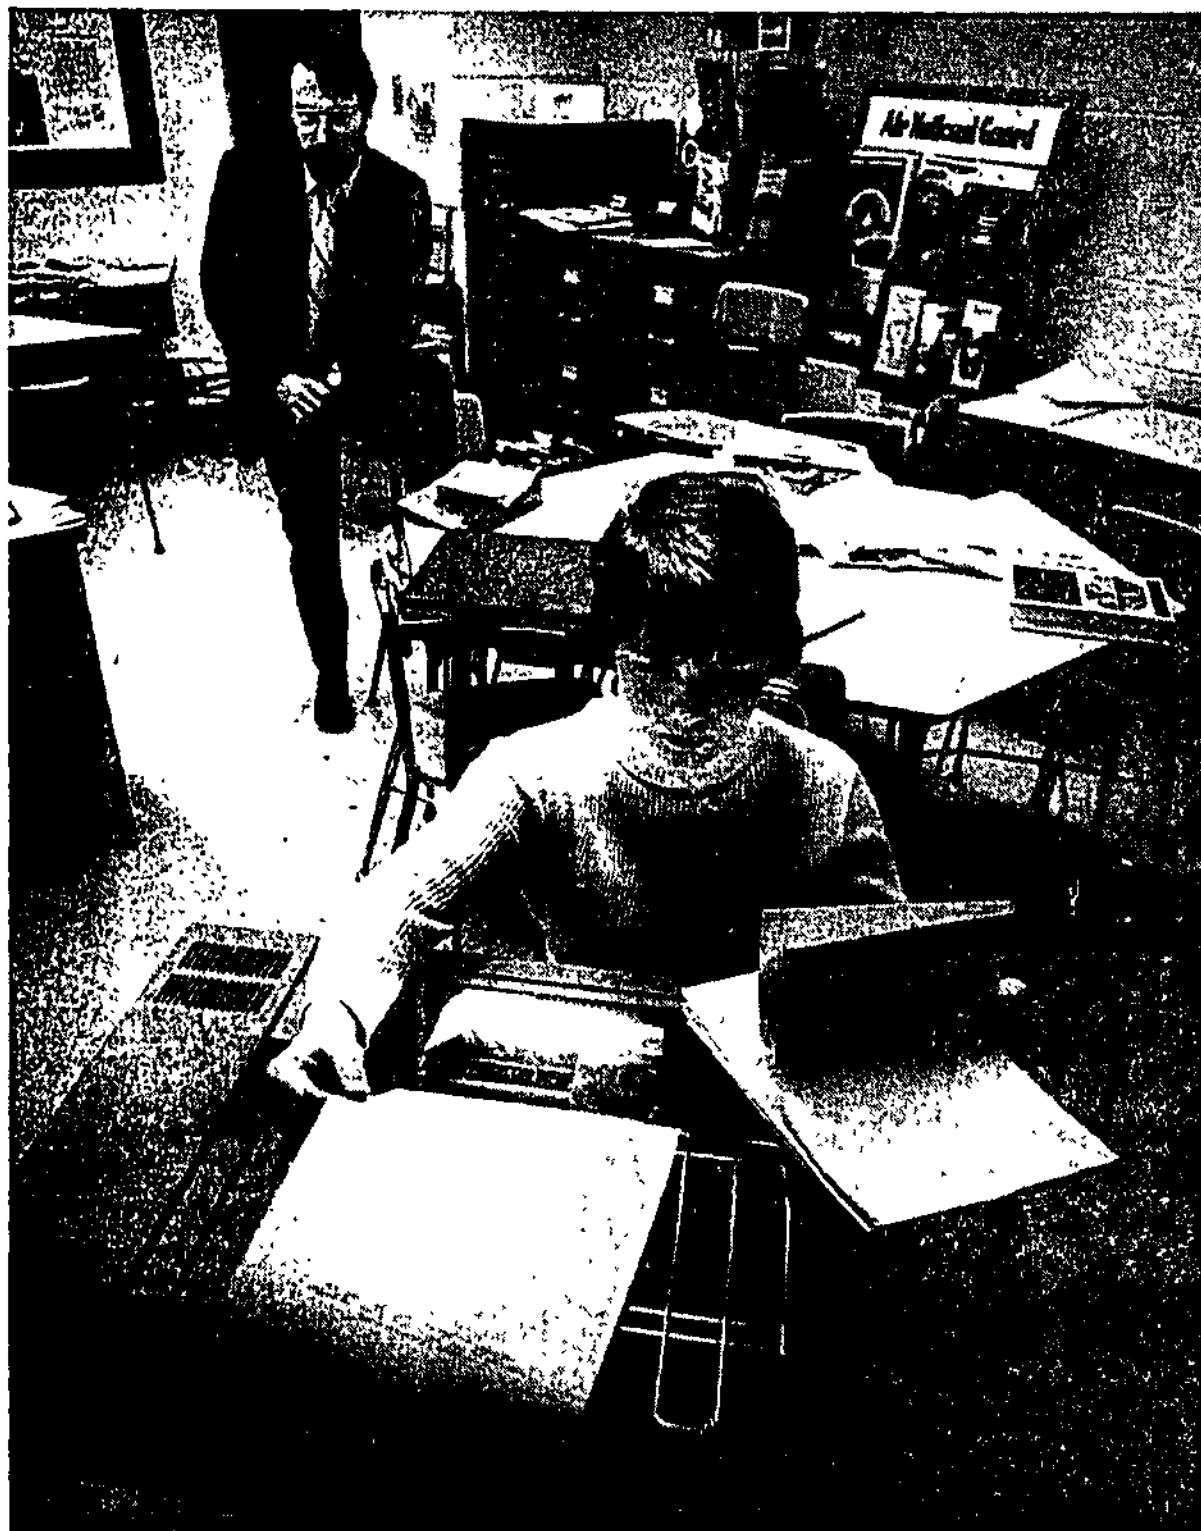

Grodsky estimates the district spent between $300 and $500 on the election, including $35 each for five election judges.

Poch, 36, of 206 N. Parkway, will begin his second term on the board. He is the Dist. 23 representative to the Northwest Educational Cooperative. The father of four children, Poch is president of CNP enterprises.

Mrs. Wells, 34, of 300 N. Elm St., was appointed to the board last fall. A resident of the district for six years, she has two children. She has served on the Eisenhower School PTA board and is secretary for the Dun-Lake Council of PTAs.

Sowatzko, 44, of 201 E. Willow Rd., is a manufacturing manager for Rex-Nord Corp. In his first term on the board, he served as chairman of the finance committee. He is a five-year area resident and has three children in Dist. 23 schools.

Sowatzko received 48 votes; Poch, 48 and Wells, 44. There were two write-in votes and three spoiled ballots.

STUDENTS DECIDING on a career in High School Dist. 214 don't always page through catalogs anymore. Those have been replaced by a computer terminal that lists career, college and scholarship information. Freshman Chris Edstrom at Elk Grove High School gets a "read out" of career interests as guidance counselor William Jackson looks on. The program also is starting at two other district schools.

'Computerized' future set for high school students

by BOB GALLAS

The futures of many High School Dist. 214 students are "computerized" now, thanks to a new program aimed at helping students choose a career based on their interests and abilities.

The program allows students to "talk" to a computer in addition to a counselor, to get information on careers and colleges to prepare for a career.

The system has been in operation since last January at Elk Grove High School and is in the process of being installed at Hersey and Arlington high schools. Though it's operating only on an experimental basis, Elk Grove High School officials report tremendous interest.

"IN FEBRUARY, 400 students used the computer here," said William Jackson, career guidance consultant at Elk Grove. "In March, 800 students used it. The computer now runs constantly."

Students with a career interest can get information ranging from salary to job requirements. Those who haven't chosen a field start by taking a series of tests to determine their interests and abilities.

The computer also is programmed to list schools that offer courses necessary for a particular career and gives scholarship information. Jackson said the computer also can give jobs suitable for physically handicapped students. The information is fed into the computer which then comes out with the suggestions.

"It allows counseling at a much higher level," Jackson said. The students get more data than ever before and when they do come in to see their counselor, the session is more beneficial," he added.

JACKSON ESTIMATED that the computer career program, if approved by the board of education when evaluated in May, would probably cost about $4,000 a year per school. "That may sound like a lot, but it works out to be about $1.25 per student," Jackson said. "It's expensive, but you can better service the students."

The schools are tied by phone line into the computer bank which is now at a Niles high school. Data is fed into the computer and returned to the school by a teletype terminal which the students operate.

"The kids use computers in many classes and are used to them, so the operation of the computer hasn't been a problem," Jackson said.

Jackson's initial fear that the system, which is available for use by any district student, would go unnoticed, was quickly eased when the rush of students started as soon as the computer was installed and word got around.

"It (the computer) sells itself," he said. "I sure haven't had to advertise."

Stiller, Rose winners in Dist. 21

Incumbents Lillian Stiller and Susan Rose were elected Saturday to three-year terms on the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 Board of Education.

Mrs. Stiller and Mrs. Rose were challenged by James DeNoma and Allan Blattner.

According to unofficial tallies, Mrs. Stiller received 391 votes; Mrs. Rose, 370; DeNoma, 207, and Blattner, 135.

MRS. STILLER, 605 S. Wayne Pl., Wheeling, said the low voter turnout "is a vote of confidence for the whole district. Maybe a low turnout shows people are satisfied with the district." Mrs. Rose, 174 Timber Hill Rd., Buffalo Grove, also said the voter turnout showed people do not have complaints with the way the district is running.

About 1,103 votes were cast this year as compared with 1,521 last year when there also were four candidates running for two three-year posts.

Mrs. Stiller said she looks forward to her fourth term on the board and will be following the budget and curriculum plans in the district. She said she plans to use the district's more secure financial base to work on curriculum improvements. The district this year had a surplus for the first time.

MRS. ROSE, who was appointed to the board in August, said she is "very happy and was proud of the candidates we had. I feel we had very qualified candidates."

She said she is interested in looking at the reading and math programs in the district and through her campaign has found interest in a hot lunch program and foreign language in the elementary schools.

Mrs. Rose said she also wants to inform citizens about legislation that will affect the schools so that they can write supporting letters.

vestigation into long-range planning. GIBBINS WAS elected on a platform of his knowledge and interest in long-range planning, which he believes is critical to the district in the wake of rapidly declining enrollments.

A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Gibbins has been a resident of the village for two years. He is employed by the First National Bank of Chicago.

The four district precincts were divided over the two candidates. Gibbins won two, Thomas and South Junior High schools, while Mrs. Vincenzo won the precincts of Miner and Rand junior high schools.
